Professor Phillips is a graduate of the classical department of a representative American college, has had fifteen years of experience in High school work and as a mark of esteem for his scholarship, he was recently honored by the University of Bucknell with the degree of Doc-tor of Philosophy and also elected a mem-ber of the board of trustees of the Albright Memorial library.

AT THE TABLES,

After the adoption of the above reso lution, those present repaired to the dining room. The tables were arranged in the form of a hollow square, with a table for the toastmaster and officers at one end. The menu was excellent. The "discussion" of this excellent repast consumed about an hour and at its conclusion the post-prandial orators were heard. Hon, John P. Kelly, In the evening Roderick Davis, of the president, made a brief address and introduced the toastmaster of the evening, Mr. John M. Harris.

Mr. Harris spoke briefly and urged the younger classes to take an earnest interest in the association, which he said should wield a mighty power for good in the cause of education. The first toast, "The Graduate and the Lawyer," was wittily responded to by C. E. Daniels, esq., '90. After prefacing his remarks with several witty sallies, the speaker drew a very apt analogy regarding the members. He told of the new solar theory to the effect that our planetary system was once all one body and that the present planets were thrown off by the rapidly revolving mass. He likened the graduates to the fragments thrown off from the present mass, the High school, and each shining and doing his or her best in the broad firmament of humanity, He wittily defined the duties of a lawyer and stated that the path from the High school to the bar was hard and rough. His remarks were roundly applauded. Mr. Moser, who was to deliver the ext toast, was unable to be present. Miss Leila Porter, '98, was unable, on account of short notice, to deliver her ast on "The Graduate in the Trainin School," but she favored those present with two charming recitations, which were very well received.

THE HIGH SCHOOL. Prof. George W. Phillips next spoke upon "The High School, the University of the People." Prof. Phillips dwelt at me length upon the points in common between the curriculum of the High school in the old days and at the present time. He said that there was very little difference and that the standard years ago was almost as high as at the present time. He stated that the growth of popular education was slow, but that it is now so firmly rooted in the minds of our people that the winds of adversity could never stir it. He urged the new graduates to have high ideals and to live in the "eternal pres-ent." Prof. Phillips was greeted with deafening applause when he resumed

W. J. Welsh, jr., '99, next spoke on the "Class of '99." He spoke briefly, and thanked the association for their kindness in inviting the members of the class, in extending an invitation to them, and said that they would endeavor to follow in the footsteps of their predecessors.

Thomas Donahoe, '99, next responded wittily to the toast, "Fee Simple and the Simple Fee, and all the Fees En-tail are Naught When Compared with Thee, Thou Best of all Fees, Female. Mr. Donahoe's remarks were inter-spersed with a number of humorous stories, which were heartily enjoyed. He paid a noble tribute to motherhood, and told of the achievements of women in all the active fields of endeavor. Mr. Donahoe's effort was very well re-
