COMMITTEE GIVES GROUNDS FOR ACTION

CHARGES AGAINST PROFESSORS PHILLIPS AND LOOMIS.

High and Training School Committee of the Board of Control Through Chairman Jayne Makes Public Report of Superintendent Howell Embodying the Complaints Against Principal Phillips and Professor Loomis—Flagrant Insubordination and Lack of Discipline Alleged.

Appended is a communication from B. T. Jayne, chairman of the high and training school committee, transmitting to the public the report of Superintendent Howell, embodying the charges of complaint against Principal Phillips and Professor Loomis.

Editor of The Tribune.

Dear Sir: In order to relieve the public mind and grant the request of interested parties, we deem it wise to get before the public at an early date as possible all the facts in controversy regarding Professor Phillips' case now before the board. Superintendent Howell has presented his report to the high and training committee and we submit his report to you for publication at once.

B. T. Jayne,
Chairman, High and Training School Committee.

Scranton, Pa., June 1899.

The High and Training Committee, Scranton Board of Control.

Gentlemen: Complying with a recent resolution adopted by the board, I send you the following report, hoping that it may guide you in making your appointments and assist you in formulating rules and regulations for the coming year.

I made the following recommendation to the High and Training committee, June 23rd, according to the present programme the time given to actual class work by the principal will not average an hour and a half per day. If the duties of the High school requires three hours' attention per day, I recommend that a subordinate teacher be designated by the board to do clerical work, or that the principal at least three hours for class instruction and a half for supervision.

The High and Training committee accepted my recommendation and adopted the following rule: "The principal of the High school shall designate one of the subordinate teachers to do the clerical work of the High school, and thus relieved shall give three hours' class instruction each day."

DID NOT COMPLY.

Professor Phillips has failed to comply with this resolution adopted by the board. He has insisted on doing the clerical work instead of appointing a subordinate teacher to do the same as directed by the board. To pay two hundred and fifty dollars per month for clerical work that can be done well for fifty dollars by a subordinate teacher is a waste of money and a detriment to the discipline and supervision of the High school. Clerical work is necessary, but it should be done by a subordinate teacher, and it is of more important, and should command all of the principal's time and attention. We can not afford to give the high school to Professor Phillips' experience give him time and energy to work that can be done by an ordinary clerk. I have repeatedly urged upon the board to have a subordinate teacher to do the clerical work, but three years since I have never seen Professor Phillips in a classroom giving instructions or doing method work. On my visitations to the High school, always find him at the desk doing clerical work.

Again, if Professor Phillips, our head teacher, is allowed to openly violate the resolution of the board, and for punishment and penalties that are severe enough to prevent the constant repetition of same offense, I can not commend the discipline of the Scranton High school, it is too hollower in my judgment to elevate and refine subordinate positions.

In awarding the commencement honors for the class of 1899, Professor Phillips shut out the English and the commercial courses of the meeting of the board of control for May 23, 1898, contain the following rule: "That the highest honors, namely, the gold and silver medals, be awarded to the students of the High school covering a period of four years. Hereafter each of the courses in the High school a commencement honor shall be awarded according to class standing."

INTERPRETATION GIVEN.

I gave Professor Phillips my interpretation of the above rule in his office and also in the auditorium, the day before he awarded the honors, and asked him to give an honor to each course, but for some reason unknown to me he did not do so.

English or the commercial courses, I referred the case immediately to the High and Training committee and on June 17 the committee instructed the secretary to send the following letter to Professor Phillips: "That the secretary be directed to notify the principal of the High school to observe the rules adopted by the board last year with reference to the awarding of the honors in the High school."

If teachers are allowed to interpret rules according to their own fancy and ignore the interpretation of the superintendent, the High school system can uphold the unity of the school system or award honors to those who are entitled to them. The awarding of the commencement honors is a matter of choice or discretion with the principal, the method of awarding the honors is prescribed by the board, and in justice to the pupils the board and in justice to the principal, the board must be obeyed. The blunder made at the last commencement is not excusable. I was not present and did not protest, too I pleaded ignorance of this law of the board is no excuse, for the resolution was discussed and formulated in operation in the work of the High school teachers. Independent work in any school will not secure the desired results, there must be co-operation and equal pay to pupils for equal work. Mr. A's boy has just as good a right to pass his examination as Mr. B's boy, providing he does equal work.

On September 8, 1898, I received the following letter from the state department of public instruction: "Dear Sir:

The law expressly provides that no person can teach other branches than those named on his certificate. A college diploma is no proof of a legal credential qualifying the holder to teach in the public schools."

Previous to 1898 I accepted a college diploma as sufficient evidence of scholarship, but on receiving the correct interpretation of the law from Harrisburg in order to secure our state appropriation, I went to the High school and asked all the teachers to take the examination in order to secure our state appropriation, and the all complied with my request excepting Professor Phillips and Professor Loomis. They refused to present themselves for examination. To not our state appropriation I was compelled to send the examination questions through Captain Miller to allow him to conduct the examination.

A controversy at this time with Professor Phillips and Professor Loomis to grant to each of them a like privilege five months, if not a year, kept our teachers waiting that length of time their pay and in all probability we should have lost the appropriation.

If Professor Phillips and Professor Loomis conduct their own examinations, other applicants will likewise and each member of the board can become a self-constituted superintendent with full authority to make our state appropriation questions. In all my experience as teacher and superintendent this is the most corrupt and unfilled act that has been used to good effect in Pennsylvania.

My visitations to the High school during the last year revealed the fact that the main entrance doors on Vine street, formerly the main entrance, are both the regular session and intermission. I asked Professor Phillips alone in a private conversation to open the doors for me to see the condition of the building. He refused every request. I then reported the case to the High and Training committee and asked them to visit the High school. They did so twice and on each occasion they found the main entrance doors locked. It is necessary for me to keep those doors locked, but should any one fail to get out of the building during a time of fire or other emergency, the principal and the superintendent and the principal for criminal negligence for all times to come.

SPECIAL STUDENTS.

Again, we have two classes of special students in the Scranton High school, those who have graduated and those who have not. Those who have graduated are allowed to attend any branch in the curriculum, and those who are taking a special course, owing to the illness of a parent, are not allowed to take any branch they desire in the curriculum. The latter must confine their work to the prescribed course. Those who are taking a special course who have failed for the want of capacity or even illness the right to drop the studies of that year and jump into the studies of the next year is not allowed on the freshman class, an injustice to the boy himself, favoritism of the worst kind. We must follow for the interests of the school and to take up the study of trigonometry without a knowledge of geometry, or geometry without a knowledge of algebra is wrong and the course can not be justified. I have protested against this irregular work for two years, but it still goes on, and I ask you for the benefit of the school, to take steps for the best interests of higher education, to have it stopped.

The cost per pupil in the Scranton High school is nearly ten dollars per year, almost twice the cost of the Wilkes-Barre school, exclusive of interest on the building, and if Professor Phillips is allowed to give the second class of special students the right to take advanced work when they are not prepared for it, it will only be a short time before it will cost more per pupil for public instruction than for private instruction.

The board of 1897 passed the following resolution: "The general discipline of the Scranton High school must be improved. The discipline was bad then and it is bad today, too. An efficient work and the development of strong character. I do not ask for military discipline, but I do ask for discipline and penalties that are severe enough to prevent the constant repetition of same offense. I can not commend the discipline of the Scranton High school, it is too hollower in my judgment to elevate and refine subordinate positions.

George Howell.

Firecrackers to Be Distributed Free from 7 to 9 a. m. on Independence Day.

Lewis, Rilly & Davies, 114 and 116 Wyoming avenue, will, as has been their custom for the past ten years, give to the boys and girls on July 4, between 7 and 9 o'clock in the morning, at the store, packages of firecrackers. Free. The store will be closed all day, excepting the hours above mentioned, and during those hours no goods will be sold. Ample arrangements are perfected so that every boy and girl who calls at the store will be provided with a package of firecrackers. No matter how large the crowd every one will be supplied, as the stock of firecrackers is so large that there can be no disappointment.

A Daring Man.

It is hazardous enough for a man to make a balloon ascension and subsequently drop to the earth in safety with a parachute, but when the ascension is made with the aid of a cannon it certainly seems hazardous in the extreme. Yet that is what Professor A. S. Glasco, of Cincinnati, Ohio, proposes to do at Lake Ariel on July 4. This feature alone should warrant an unlimited attendance, but there are other daring feats that are being performed. One of these is the feat of a well-known trick bicyclist, who will give an exhibition of his skill and those who have witnessed his marvelous feats on the silent steed are not reluctant to give him the praise he merits. Coupled with the balloon ascension, these two attractions should crowd the pleasure resort on July 4, but the committee in charge have not been idle. They have many other features that will provide entertainment for their guests. Lawn tennis has been provided and will give a concert and provide dance music. Refreshments of all kinds will be served and this means much to the people of Scranton and vicinity. Thousands will attend, and the committee have therefore provided for the thousands. Think of it! Professor Glasco will ascend 2,000 feet hidden in a monster cannon and the next instant he appears in view and drops to the earth. It is a rare attraction, one which you do not care to miss. One who you should not miss. On July 4 trains will leave Scranton for the lake every hour.

E. E. ROBATHAN'S ARTICLE IN THE POSTAL RECORD.

He Tells the Letter Carriers of the Country What They Can Expect When They Come to This City in September—Messrs. Conrad and Neuls and the New No. 3 School Building—Father Wood of Savannah, Ga., Is Visiting Edward Horan, of Dunmore.

E. E. Robathan, secretary of the citizens' committee that is assisting the letter carriers in arranging for the national convention of letter carriers to be held in this city in September, has an interesting article in the current number of "The Postal Record" on "Scranton, the Electric City." The Record is the official organ of the letter carriers of the country, and the article was written with a view to giving the carriers an idea of what they may expect when they come here to attend the convention.

Mr. Robathan winds a facile pen, but he has used to good effect in embellishing his article in the Record. As secretary of the citizens' committee, Mr. Robathan has done great work and will have the satisfaction of knowing that he will have a right to share in the praise that will be freely accorded to those who made the preparations for the coming annual gathering of postmen. All of the present indications point to the fact that this will be the greatest convention in the history of the Letter Carriers' association.

In closing his article in the Record, Mr. Robathan says:

"In conclusion, let me say that the committee that has charge of this city for its size and population has some of the finest and most imposing buildings, both business and private; that is as well lighted by electricity, and that has the finest public school buildings in the United States.

"Come with the assurance of meeting with as generous, good-natured, big-hearted class of people as you have met in any of our convention cities, and with a postmaster that we think is the par excellence of any in the Union."

Charles J. Conrad, the ex-school controller of the Eleventh ward, and Peter Neuls, who is so acceptably filling that office at present, take a reasonable pride in new No. 3 school building, which was recently erected on Pittton avenue in that ward. During Mr. Conrad's term of office the erection of a new building to replace No. 3 was the improvement nearest and dearest to Mr. Conrad and before he retired from office he had the satisfaction of seeing the preliminary steps looking toward the construction of a new building taken.

When Mr. Neuls succeeded Mr. Conrad he took up with great zeal the project of securing a new and modern school building for his ward and to him has been accorded the privilege of seeing his labors crowned by success. The building is now completed and is a notable addition to the many handsome school buildings of this city. When the next term opens it will be ready to receive pupils. Controller Neuls is a very quiet young man, who is not given to making a fuss about things, but he is very attentive to duty and carefully watches the interests of his constituents.

Rev. Father Wood, of Savannah, Ga., is one of the notables now in this vicinity. He is the guest of Edward Horan at the latter's home in Dunmore. Father Wood was known during the war as the "soldier priest" and the "soldiers' friend." Many troops were sent from Savannah and many arrived there and Father Wood made it his special duty to look after the comfort and welfare of these warriors of Uncle Sam. Members of the Thirtieth regiment who were transferred to the engineer corps and sent to Cuba were stalled in Savannah for several days and speak in high praise of the treatment they received at his hands. A letter written by Sergeant Archie Corwin describing their Savannah experience was printed in The Tribune at the time.
