CALEDONIAN GAMES AT ATHLETIC PARK

Scranton Athletic Club Wins Tag-of-War from Members of Police Force—Peter Curley, of Avoca, Distinguishes Himself in the Athletic Events—Broad-sword Contest on Horse Back—Clever Dancing by the Visitors—List of Events and Prize Winners.

The thirty-second annual games of the Scranton Caledonian club were held at Athletic park yesterday afternoon, and were attended by about 1,500 persons. The games were conducted with the usual accompaniment of pipes and with the exception of four events the entire programme was carried out. The particular star of the athletic events was Peter Curley, of Avoca, who won the 100, 250, half and one mile races, and took second in the hurdle, shot-putting and three-mile events.

Curley showed wonderful form and easily defeated Peter Hegelman, the long distance champion, of New York, and Leonard Hams, of Philadelphia, a notable all-around athlete in the Quaker City.

The pipers and fencers were all professional men, including Frank Wilson, of Buffalo; Fred Riddle and William Johnson, of Montreal; James Lamb, of Brooklyn; William Cameron and W. C. Sealey, of New York, and Mr. Nicholson, of Elizabeth, N. J.

Police Force—Robert Dieter, captain; Conrad Mayhew, David Barry, James Hart, John McMillan, James Quinlan, Charles Neale, Peter Haggerty, William Thompson, John Saltry.

The prize was $20 and the side bet was supposed to be $100 a side, but was not put up by either side. The judges were Robert Hoops, Robert Baird and Alexander Thompson.

Professor De Omer and Mile, La Verde gave exhibitions of broadsword fencing on horseback and also performed with the foils on the platform. The event was very tame, and did not excite much admiration from the spectators. During the afternoon the Citizens' band of West Scranton, discoursed music.

STATE OF THE COAL TRADE.

An Opinion from the Black Diamond Concerning It.

The fact that the Morgan, Vanderbilt and other closely allied interests of New York and Philadelphia now practically control the stock of the carrying and producing anthracite coal companies, together with the further fact that many large individual operators have consolidated their concerns, is a prospect positive that unity of action will prevail to a greater extent than ever known before. So that in all speculation as to the future of the anthracite coal trade, due account and credit must be taken of the foregoing, and buyers and dealers of high and low degree would do well to govern themselves accordingly.

Anthracite coal advances today, July 1, 25 cents per ton on all sizes, so that the new circular is $5 broken and $5.25 for the smaller sizes. This confirms the prediction made in these columns for several weeks, and affects all points East as well as West. The anticipated advance has undoubtedly stimulated business and more coal has been sold during June than for the corresponding month last year, though that is not saying much as June is always very quiet. The trade tributary to Buffalo has bought more freely than that part of the West which draws its supplies from Chicago.

Still there has been a very fair volume of small orders placed during the past ten days and the tonnage is fully as much as shippers cared to look and all points in the West and the fact that shipments have been restricted have given it additional strength locally. Considerable uneasiness is manifested among those shippers who are opposed to the practice as to what may be the general result on the market of making contracts for the season for winter deliveries to a certain class of trade, including schools, churches and flat buildings. It is the idea of those who favor this practice to thus protect anthracite tonnage against soft coal.

Those who do not look with favor upon these contracts fear that if they are made so generally, and that the term "flat-buildings" is being interpreted so broadly, that the effect upon retail prices for the year cannot be other than demoralizing.—Black Diamond.

MONSTER COAL BREAKER.

Lehigh Valley Coal Company Now Has it in Operation.

Extensive improvements and new machinery are being added to the Prospect breaker of the Lehigh Valley Coal company at Middletown, which is said to be the largest in the anthracite coal fields. Its capacity is 1,000 cars of coal a day, or in round numbers 3,000 tons. A production test was made five days ago and in the space of one hour 175 cars of coal—465 tons—were run through the breaker, cleaned and ready for market. This record is phenomenal and is never known to have been equaled in coal mining.

The Prospect is supplied with coal from six openings—four shafts and two stope—namely: The Henry, three-quarters of a mile up the river road; old Port Bowley shaft, one-quarter of a mile north from Prospect; the Oakwood shaft, 500 yards to the left of the breaker; Prospect Hillman slope; Midvale Hillman slope, and Prospect shaft, on the immediate premises of the company's works. The coal from the Henry, Port Bowley and Prospect Hillman slope is hauled on what was formerly the old canal bed through a tunnel 400 feet long to the Midvale Hillman slope and from there conducted to the breaker through a conveyor line. Six cars, or eighteen tons, a minute, are handled with ease by this particular system.

A large force of workmen is now working day and night driving a 400 foot shaft down to the red ash vein, which has not yet been tapped at the Prospect. When completed this will greatly facilitate the producing of coal, minimize the cost and shorten the distance.

Among the important improvements under way is the construction of an immense electric light plant to furnish light for the offices, breaker, shafts and important workings in the mines. The plant will not be completed for eight or ten weeks. New and larger engines and a new engine house and machine shops will also be added to the main plant, while an immense fan is being constructed at the Midvale Abbott slope. The capacity is also to be increased by the addition of sixteen extra "gigs" or coal cleaners.

ARE USING GAS AS FUEL.

New Departure at the Ore Roasters at Lancaster.

Gas generated on the premises will hereafter be the fuel used in the new ore roasters at the North Lebanon furnace of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company at Lebanon. There are thirty-two roasters, as against the nineteen old ones, of less capacity and soon to be removed. The roasters, instead of presenting a row of upright ovals, are combined in one brick building 120x40 feet in length and width by eighty feet in height. The roasters have been used for nearly a week, and have proved a thorough success. A furnace is being erected in connection with them. The completed furnace may be in full operation in two months, although much of the minor work remains to be done. The structural iron companies have nearly all completed their work, but minor buildings must be erected before all departments are finished. The capacity of the old furnace is from 850 to 1,000 tons of iron a week, and employing normally forty-five or fifty men. At present over one hundred and twenty furnacemen and constructors are employed at the plant, and normally the number of employes at both furnaces will approach one hundred. The amount of iron to be produced by the new furnace is 1,500 tons a week.

The appliances used in the new plant represent the most modern and complete ideas in mechanical science.
