Reading, July 14.—The locals defeated the Wilkes-Barre club today in a fourteen inning game. With two men out and two on bases Cockman hit a single over second, scoring the winning run. Jimeson was very wild and was taken out of the box in the third inning, after he had given seven bases on balls and had been hit safely five times. Goodwin was substituted and kept the hits well scattered. Score:

Sunday Games at Freeland.

Hazleton, July 14.—Arrangements were completed here today between the directors of the Wilkes-Barre baseball club and the owners of the Freeland park for playing Atlantic league games at Freeland every Sunday for the remainder of the season. The first game is booked for Sunday, July 23.

DIAMOND PICK UPS.

Peter Eagan, who was playing left field for Scranton until recently, when that club gave up the ghost, arrived in town about 7 o'clock last evening and a half hour later had affixed his signature to a contract which made him a member of the Utica team. Eagan needs no introduction to the base ball enthusiasts of this vicinity. He played here a portion of last season and by his great work, both with the stick and on the field, soon sprang into popularity among the local followers of the game. He was the second heaviest hitter in the league last season, having the magnificent average of .368. He was also second among the league's left fielders. He is an experienced ball player, having made his first appearance in Troy in 1890. His ability was soon recognized and the next year Eagan was in the Eastern league, where he has passed the greater part of the time since. His services were secured by Owner Brown with a view to strengthening Utica's team at the bat.—Utica Press.

AMATEUR BASE BALL NOTES.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

By Associated Press.

New York, July 14.—There was a short period of strength in some stocks this morning, but it was sufficient to overcome the sagging tendency of the general market. The weakness of Brooklyn Transit coming on the dull market emphasized the reactionary tendency. The main cause of the general weakness was the increasing fear that money difficulties abroad would cause future trouble for the New York money market and would take out gold as soon as the local rate for money fell to a point where the London rate would prove attractive.

Rumors were abroad all day that a shipment of gold was contemplated for tomorrow's steamer, but up to the close none had been announced. Money worked easier here, call loans ranging from 3 to 5 per cent. The call rate in London went to 3½ per cent. and discount held the Bank of England's minimum rate at 3½ per cent. London sold moderately in New York but gave good support to a few favorites in the American department of its own market. Ther was no quotable change in sterling exchange rates but sight bills showed a hardening tendency, while 60 day bills were easy. Not so much confidence is felt in a favorable bank statement for tomorrow. The amount of the loan contraction is an unknown quantity upon which depends the state of the surplus reserve. The banks have lost nearly $2,500,000 to the sub-treasury, largely on account of heavy customs payments. They have gained a small amount on the regular currency movement with the interior but the large sums of money known to have been sent here early in the week from other eastern financial centers may have gone to other institutions than the banks and would thus not figure in the returns. These considerations prompted a pause in the buying movements in the stocks and the early strength in the southwestern group, the trunk lines and Northern Pacific gave way in the afternoon to decidedly lower prices.

The talk of crop damage in the northwest affected the grangers unfavorably in the late trading. Losses from the top point in many active railroad stocks ranged from 1 to 2 points. Northern Pacific was marked up above last night's level in the final dealings, though it was little affected during the day by the report of an amicable agreemnt with the Great Northern interests. Chicago terminal transfer was strong on the reported sale to the Alton syndicate. Brooklyn Transit was weak throughout on the prospects of a strike and closed at the lowest, 2¼ below last night. The early strength in sugar gave way to weakness and rubber dropped 2¼ with a subsequent partial recovery. Manhattan was marked up to 120 at one time on the theory that a surface railroad strike would add to its business. Covering by shorts was an element of its strength. Missouri Pacific reacted sharply and closed a point lower on the day. A number of specialties showed some strength during the day on individual causes. Cotton oil, national biscuit preferred, tin plate, anaconda and steel and wire were among these. New York air-brake gained 8½ points. Total sales 341,068 shares.

The bond market was dull and prices yielded with the weakness in stocks. Total sales par value $3,510,000.

U. S. 3s advanced ⅛ in the bid price.

By Carrington & Cusack.

New York, July 14.—The market opened strong and has been higher with the exception of the luocal traction stocks, which were lower on renewed strike rumors.

During the first hour there was more or less general buying of stocks, with profit taking on rumors of Gould shipments which were conspicuous throughout the list and caused some hesitation. Northern Pacific led in activity and strength. While there is no probability of gold shipments this week there is a possibility of some of the metal going out next week on account of the high rate exchange.

The ease in money here at once advanced the sterling rate, which indicates pretty clearly that with anything like easy money we shall have a continuance of the exportation of gold.

If this is so, it will serve to check to a certain extent an upward movement and cause a decline in prices. For this reason, we are not believers in buying discriminately on the advance, but do believe on all weak spots the market is a purchase.

The bank statement tomorrow promises to be a favorable one and we think there is no question but that for the time being, at least, we shall have increasing averages.

The close was rather unsettled, due to the weakness in the local traction stocks.
