Second Attempt Is Made to Wreck a Car.

TROOPS ON THE SCENE

They Are Bombarded with Giant Firecrackers-800 Men Now Under Arms-Mayor Determined to Suppress the Strikers-Another Car Blown Up-Filled with Passengers from the Suburbs-Two Women and a Child Injured-Police Ignorant for Hours of the Outrage-City Quiet This Morning.

Cieveland, July 24.-Rioting broke out afresh here tonight, and a second attempt to wreck a car was made. A Pearl street car, speeding south near Hollenden avenue, carrying beside the motorman and conductor a guard, successfully ran a gauntlet of missiles thrown from the roofs of houses only to run into a can of nitro-glycerine which exploded with terrific force. The rear platfrm was torn off and the flooring wrenched from its fastenings. The crew was not injured, but omerged from the shattered ruln with their pistois drawn and began firing at what they thought was a couple of men crouching as if to hide themselves behind a small billboard. The explosion was the signal for renewing the attack from the house-tops and alleys, The troops hurrying on horseback to the scene were bombarded with giant firecrackers. One of these exploded with such force that the mount of one of the troopers was knocked over: In his fall carring with him two other horses and the riders. Several arrests were made. Pistol shots were frequently heard.

Strikers and their friends held a mass-meeting in Newburg, a suburb the men were urged to persevere in their fight against the Big Consoli-

Another Car Wrecked.

A repetition of the wrecking of an Euclid avenue car was this evening attempted by strikers or these sympathizers in Brooklyn, a suburb of Cleve-

An explosion took place under the car, but failed to injure it materially. There were no passengers aboard and the conductor and motorman escaped unharmed.

Small riots occurred during the day. but with one exception they were without serious results. In the death of Henry Cornzweit, slain by the bullet fired by Ralph P. Hawley, a conductor on the Broadway line, is recorded the first fatality of the strike.

Shortly after noon Hawley's car approached Orange street and was beset by a crowd of men and boys. Cornzweit, the 19-year-old son of a butcher. was astride a horse and rode to the side of the car, keeping pace with it Friday. for some distance.

Various stories are told as to what passed between the conductor and the boy, but the mob was suddenly called to its senses by the sight of Hawley. who jumped to the street and started in pursuit of Cornzwelt.

The latter, closely followed by the pursuer, turned up Perry street. At Woodland avenue the latter pulled his revolver and fired. His victim fell. fatally wounded with a ghastly wound in the left temple and died soon after being removed to the hospital.

crowd which before the incident had been demonstrative was awed by the seriousness of the affair and per mitted the conductor to walk back to his car. He was arrested and taken to the station, where a charge of murder was entered against him. When the car returned in charge of another man and laden with police thousands people were crowded around the fatal stop. The track was blockaded and the stalled cars bombarded with stones, pieces of brick and sticks of wood. The police managed by dint of using their clubs to clear the way after a delay of about half an hour.

More Troops Asked For.

After a conference lasting almost all night the city authorities asked for more troops and as a consequence all the available military force in Cleveland is under arms, including battery A of the first Ohio artillery, and three companies of the Tenth Ohio infantry and L'Overture Rifles.

With the addition of the organizations called out today the military force to cope with the street car strike now numbers 800 men, which in the opinion of local military men will be sufficient to cope with the strike successfully, but if there are not the governor will be asked for more troops without delay.

About a o'clock last night a suburban car was blown up between Wick-He and Willoughby, about fifteen miles east of Cleveland. The outrage was not reported to the Cleveland police till this morning. The car was No. 34 on the Plainsville line and was westbound. It was well filled with passengers, the majority of whom were persons from the city who had been spending the day with friends in the suburbs. A large number of the passengers were women. The explosion was accompanied by a deafening report. The front end of the heavy motor was raised several inches from the track and instant later fell with a heavy thud. The headlight was blown volunteer army, off the car. One of the axles was badly bent and several windows were broken by the explosion. The passengers were shaken up severely, and made a rush for the doors of the car. Among the passengers was Mrs. R. A. Herbert, of 7 Hagward street, this city, and her nine-year-old daughter Dorothy. The latter had one of her hands cut badly by flying glass. A young woman, whose name could not be ascertained, and who was carrying an infant in her arms, was injured in a similar manner.

After the car had been examined by the crew it was found that it had not been damaged sufficietaly to prevent its being run at a very slow speed, and it was brought through to East Cleveland.

the purport of the article. We May Use the Dum Dum.

Washington, July 24.-The United States will not be bound by the reported decision of The Hague conference to prohibit the use of dum-dum bullets in warfare. So far we have not been obliged to resort to the use of this bullet, but the ordnance officers have been making experiments to secure an increased "stopping" effect for the small calibre ball used in the Krag-Jorgenson and these experiments have proceeded somewhat on the lines of the dum-dum bullet. The specific reason why Captain Crozier and the remainder of the American delegates voted against the proposal to prohibit the use of the dum-dum was because their general instructions forbade them to pledge this government to any line of action that would retard the de velopment of inventive genius in warfare. Adhesion to the protocols is voluntary. Great Britain, it is understodd, also refused to prohibit the use of the dum-dum bullet.
