EVENTS OF DAY IN WEST SCRANTON

REV. E. R. LEWIS RESIGNS HIS CHARGE AT SHAWNEE, O.

Has Returned to His Home Here, Where He Will Spend the Summer. Presented with a Cane—Clarke Brothers' Milliners Enjoy an Outing—Woman Jumped from Street Car and Sustains Injury—Funerals Yesterday—Shorter Paragraphs of General Interest and Personal.

Rev. E. R. Lewis, of 1227 Academy street, who has been filling the pulpit of the Congregational church at Shawnee, O., has returned to this city. The last issue of the Shawnee Journal says of him:

"Rev. E. R. Lewis, the faithful pastor of the Congregational church, preached his farewell sermon last Sunday evening to a large audience and left for his home in Shawnee, Pa., to spend his summer vacation. His departure is sincerely regretted by his church and the neighborhood for he has, during the time he has spent here, proven himself to be a true and capable Christian minister, and has endeared himself to the people as a preacher, as well as a teacher and adviser. He has filled his place here in an eminently satisfactory manner. His character as a man, his ability as a preacher of the gospel, his zeal and labors for the church have been appreciated by all. The members of the congregation unite in wishing him a pleasant and profitable vacation and an early return."

The same issue also contained the following:

"At the close of his sermon at the Congregational church, last Sabbath evening, Rev. E. R. Lewis announced to the audience that he intended to return to Pennsylvania to enjoy his vacation. He said: 'It is with great pleasure I state to you that my relations with the members and officers of this church, have been of the most cordial and pleasant character. No discord has existed; peace and harmony have prevailed and we have truly experienced the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love. My labors among you, though far less efficient than I would have had them, have, I trust, done some good, and I hope they may be to a large degree as bread cast upon the waters. I have been with you in your afflictions and sorrows, have stood with you by open graves, and I have tried to stimulate your hope of a blessed reunion over here. I thank you all from the bottom of my heart for your kindness to me. All the members of the church and congregation have been very kind.'

"W. W. Davis followed and said many pleasant things in referring to Mr. Lewis' pastorate; of the good he has accomplished and their sincere sorrow that he is leaving, for a time at least, and that he, in behalf of the Davis family had the pleasure of presenting Mr. Lewis a cane, which he hoped the brother would accept as a token of their sincere and hearty affection for him. Mrs. Charles accepted the cane and made a few appropriate remarks."

A HOT TIME IN ALDERMAN RUDDY'S COURT.

The Friends of Martin Coyne endeavored to take the Alderman's Office by Storm Last Night at His Hearing—Alderman Threw One Out the Window and Sent Another Up for Ten Days, Restoring Tranquility—Philbin Who Was Sent Up Resisted, but Was Overpowered.

Alderman Ruddy, the plucky little Alderman of the Twentieth ward, last night had an exciting few hours.

It all happened over alleged charges and counter charges of neighbors. The Coyne and the Barretts of that romantic community known as "Carr's Patch," do not live in accordance with the suggestions contained in the Good Book. That tranquility that should pervade their associations is sadly lacking.

On Monday Thomas Barrett attended a base ball game at Minooka. His neighbor, Martin Coyne, was also a spectator and stood near Barrett. At the conclusion of the game, when Barrett placed his hand in his pocket for his watch he found it was missing.

Barrett appeared before Alderman Ruddy yesterday and had a warrant issued for Coyne on the charge of robbery and assault and battery.

The news of Coyne's arrest spread rapidly, and at the hour set for the hearing the court room was thronged with all classes of people.

The testimony of the prosecutor was heard and he gave utterance to statements that aroused the ire of the defendant and his friends.

A general row commenced and the excitement was intense. The court room was in an uproar, everyone talking for recognition from his honor, who by this time abandoned his seat on the bench, and took a hand in the affair.

He caught Michael Sullivan, who was the leader in the oratorical contest, by the trousers, and threw him through an open window. This had the desired effect on the crowd, and order was again restored.

On resuming his seat the Alderman issued a manifesto stating that any one speaking aloud without his consent would do so under penalty of contempt of court.

Martin Philbin, a witness, arose and prayed for permission to address the court and, it being granted, said:

"Things aren't on the square here and we want a show for our money."

"You'll get it," said the Alderman: "for that statement you are fined $2 or ten days in jail." "Give me the ten days," said Philbin, and he got them.

Mrs. Barrett then went along smoothly. The evidence adduced did not in the mind of the Alderman warrant Coyne being held on the charge of robbery, and he was discharged. He was held in $500 bail on the assault and battery charges.

Mrs. Barrett then had her inning with Coyne. She had a warrant issued charging him with assault and battery and threatening to kill. When giving her testimony Mrs. Barrett displeased the Alderman so much that he called her from the stand and dismissed the charges.

The much accused Coyne, to even matters, at the conclusion of the hearing gave information for the arrest of Mrs. Mary Barrett, mother of his prosecutor, charging her with selling liquor with a license, selling to minors and selling on Sunday. She will be arraigned for a hearing tonight.

The concluding case of last night's calendar in Ruddy's court was brought by James Shorten. He had Mrs. Margaret Butler, a neighbor, arrested for assaulting his two sons of a tender age. She is accused of horse-whipping the boys in a cruel manner. $200 bail was required and was furnished.

PHILBIN ON THE RAMPAGE.

Martin Philbin, of Minooka, who was sentenced to ten days in jail by Alderman Ruddy for disorderly conduct in his office, created a great amount of excitement while en route to the county jail.

After passing the Neptune Engine house and turning into Birch street, where it is dark, Philbin "gave the foot" to Special Officer Ruddy, who had him in custody. The officer fell, but brought his prisoner, who is a big, powerful fellow of six feet, with him.

The men fought hard for a time and regained their feet. Ruddy, who is a much smaller and lighter man, landed with great force quickly repeated blows on Philbin's wind and dodged the blows from his opponent.

He gave him a swinging blow that sent the prisoner to the ground, but fought in vain to hold him while he handcuffed him. Permanent Man Henry Henn, of the hose company, responded to the call for aid from the hundreds who stood by. Philbin was subdued and when in prison he went along quietly, followed by the mob. Officer Ruddy's clothes were badly torn, but he escaped injury.
