

It's a Waste of Time To try to tell you in this space what is. Call at our store and hear this wonderful instrument played. Anyone can play the best music ever written, the latest two-step or popular song at sight.

THE ANGELUS

Perry Brothers

205 Wyoming Ave.

AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHY

Depends largely upon the supplies. The right kind at

KEMP'S, 103 Wyoming Avenue

DR. H. B. WARE, SPECIALIST

Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat

Office Hours—9 a. m. to 12:30 p. m.; 2 to 4 p. m. Williams Building, Opp. Postoffice

CITY NOTES

ALDERMAN MILLAR OFFICIATED

Andrew Flight and Miss Hattie Coffman, of Hattlesboro, Pa., were married yesterday morning by Alderman Millar.

AN ENGINE BROKE

The South mill was shut down yesterday owing to a break in one of the engines. Operations will be resumed again on Sunday evening.

SIGNED ASPHALT ORDINANCE

Mayor Moir yesterday signed the ordinance for extending the Clay avenue asphalt pavement along the 700 and 800 blocks.

TWO VAGRANTS DISCHARGED

James Walker and James Duffy, who were arrested yesterday morning for vagrancy, were discharged in police court yesterday morning by Mayor Moir.

HOME DONATIONS

The Friends acknowledge with thanks cash donations as follows: A friend, $5; Mrs. Sidney Hayes, $2; Edgar Troutfield, $1; Ira Trippe estate, $5; Mrs. Charles Rosh, $10; Hospital Workers, $5.

FRESH AIR CHILDREN

A car load of children from New York who have been spending several weeks on the farms in the districts of Susquehanna county, passed through the city yesterday afternoon on the return trip to the metropolis.

REPRODUCTION OF FIGHT

The realistic reproduction of the Fitzsimmons-Jeffries fight at the Lyceum last night, attracted several well pleased audiences. The picture will be shown this afternoon and evening. The entertainment is suitable for ladies and children to see.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

The residence of Mr. Browning on Crown avenue, was struck by lightning on Thursday afternoon, demolishing the chimney. At the same time the back porch of Frederick Hoffman's house, two doors away, was also struck. It followed a wire clothes line to the chicken coop, where it ended the lives of two ducks. Mrs. Hoffman and her children were nearby at the time.

ST. LUKE'S SUMMER HOME

A large number of women and children were sent to the home on Tuesday last and now all the rooms are filled with happy ones. Necessary cases are increasing in number, and it is hoped to give them all the benefit of a stay there if the friends of the cause will insure it by their donations. The week has been barren in respect of gifts, and the treasurer of the Guild hopes they may come in, in ample number during the coming week. Send checks to Samuel Hill, treasurer.

SHOT A BALD HEADED EAGLE

Ex-Sheriff Robinson demonstrated His Skill as a Marksman.

Ex-Sheriff Charles Robinson yesterday shot a fine specimen of the American bald-headed eagle at his country home at Lake Henry, Maplewood. The eagle was shot in the left wing and will probably recover. It will receive every attention and if the injury does not cause the eagle's death it will be placed in the "Zoo" at Nay Aug park. Last year two eagles were frequently seen in the vicinity of Lake Henry and this year they have appeared at less frequent intervals. Yesterday morning while Mr. Robinson and children and a few guests were on the dock in front of the cottage fishing they saw the eagle circling overhead.

In a short time it alighted on the top of a dead tree about 200 feet from the cottage. Mr. Robinson was in the cottage at the time and he was apprised of the fact that a "large bird" was roosting nearby. He took up his gun and went out and quietly approached the tree. When he was within easy range he took aim and neatly winged the bird without killing it.

The eagle dropped to the ground as soon as shot, and, although wounded, put up a desperate battle before it was subdued and tied by Mr. Robinson and his two boys. The eagle is an unusually fine specimen of his class. It was brought to this city last night and attracted much attention at the Scranton House, where it was on exhibition.

THEY ARE STILL BEHIND.

General Committee Arranging for the Firemen's State Convention

Makes But Little Progress.

The general committee arranging for the firemen's state convention held a meeting last night in the common council chamber and gave a repetition of the performance enacted at the executive committee meeting the previous Friday night, when two hours was devoted to senseless bickering and about twenty minutes to catching up to the business already two months behind.

The question as to who is the proper representative of the Century Hose company was settled by making Secretary Tanner clerk to the committee instead of its secretary and accepting the credentials of ex-Chief Hickey and Stephen Spruhs. A donation of $25 was voted the clerk for his services for the time intervening between the close of the fair, when he was under salary, and the first of August, when he is to go under salary again at the rate of $25 a month.

It was decided to buy 850 delegate badges and 150 souvenir badges, at thirty cents apiece, from Braxmore & Co. The picnic arranged to take place at Central Park garden was ordered transferred to Wahler's grove, because the regulations of the former place permit the sale of M. Robinson beer only.

The transportation committee was discharged because of its neglect of duty, and Messrs. Grier, Hickey and Conello appointed as a new committee.

Eleven different committees at eleven different periods of the meeting, when a momentary lull made it possible for a good, robust voice to be heard made earnest, eloquent and lengthy appeals for harmony and united action, but in every instance the talk-right-out-in-meeting idea would get the best of the speaker and he would say something that would bring on another whirlwind of acrimonious debate.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

For instance, Ex-chief Hickey, upon the settlement of the Century middle made an almost tearful appeal for the setting aside of all petty jealousies, the cessation of fruitless bickerings and a shoulder-to-shoulder renewal of effort for the advancement of the convention arrangements, but before he took his seat he pitched into Clerk Tanner for giving away secrets of the executive committee and lapped him roundly for talking too much on the street. It only required about thirty-five minutes to quell the consequent tumult.

TWO DECISIONS IN LACKAWANNA CASES

SUPERIOR COURT REVERSES ONE, AFFIRMS THE OTHER.

In the Celebrated Hammer Insurance Case, the Defendant Is Ordered Discharged, Presumably on the Ground That an Adjuster Is Not an Agent—Giles Stanton's Verdict of $887.90 Against the Scranton Traction Company Is Affirmed, Case with Interesting Features.

In Philadelphia yesterday the superior court, through President Judge Rice, handed down two decisions in two interesting and important Lackawanna cases, the Hammer insurance case and the Stanton-Traction company trespass suit. Judgment was reversed in the former and affirmed in the latter.

The Hammer case attracted widespread attention throughout the state and particularly at Harrisburg, because of the fact that it was the first time the insurance law of 1833 was brought before an appellate court.

The case brought to the reading of the word "agent" as used in the act, F. L. Hammer, a lawyer, of Van Wert, Ohio, came here to adjust claims of the famous Old Wayne Mutual Life association of Indiana.

A number of people who had dealings with Hammer in the case, through District Attorney Jones, brought the matter to the attention of the insurance department at Harrisburg.

The offers in themselves while they might not be all that the Good Book would require, were in no wise a violation of the law of the land, but as the Old Wayne company had never secured the authorization of the insurance commissioner to do business in Pennsylvania, the case was held to be acting illegally and upon trial at the October sessions was fined $250 by Judge Gunster.

There was no dispute about the facts in the case. The defense, represented by Vosburg & Dawson, contented itself with an effort to reverse the prosecution with the contention that "agent," as intended by the act, meant a solicitor or like representative, and that an adjuster engaged as was their client Hammer, to act as an arbitrator between the company and its patrons, could not be included within the meaning of the word in question.

A bond was given for the amount of the fine and an appeal taken to the Superior court. It was argued at the January sessions in this city by District Attorney Jones on the one side and Messrs. Vosburg and Dawson on the other. The interest which the state authorities manifested in the case, evidenced by the fact that Attorney General John P. Elkin and Deputy F. W. Fleitz joined with Mr. Jones in the preparation of the paper book.

The decision is a notable victory from the fact that the theory of the defense had scarcely any adherents at the local bar outside of the defendant's attorneys.

The order of the court in the case does not indicate on what grounds the decision was reached, but it is assumed that it was on a reading of the word "agent," different to that of Judge Gunster. The language of the order is simply: "Judgment reversed and defendant ordered discharged without day."

In the other case, the plaintiff, Giles Stanton, an Abington farmer, sued for damages for injuries to his back sustained by falling on a snow mound on Capous avenue thrown up by the traction company's sweeper. The city was originally a co-defendant, being charged with partial liability for having contributed to the size of the mound through property holders at the time the mound was shoveled snow from the sidewalk into the street, but the case as far as it concerned the city was quashed on a technicality.

In attempting to cross the tracks with a bob-sled loaded with hay, Stanton experienced an upset and while engaged in righting his sled slipped on the snow mound and falling heavily hurt his back.

Just one week previous the same Stanton with the same bob-sled with the same kind of a load attempted to cross the tracks at the same identical spot and he had an upset, his sled defense hypothesized contributory negligence and took its principal stand thereon. Another line of defense was that the company had a right to run its snow sweeper along its tracks and that if a big mound of snow was piled up it was the fault of the elements and not of the trolley company.

The court and jury, however, would not see it this way and on Feb. 13, 1897, Stanton was awarded a verdict of $887.90. The appeal was argued at the January session.

Executions Against Bloeser. Charles Robinson yesterday caused an execution to be issued against Rudolph Bloeser and placed in the hands of Sheriff Pryor. The execution is based on a judgment for $5,000 held

From Mrs. Vaughn to Mrs. Pinkham.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 64,957]

"DEAR FRIEND—Two years ago I had child-birth fever and womb trouble in its worst form. For eight months after birth of babe I was not able to sit up. Doctors treated me, but with no help. I had bearing-down pains, burning in stomach, kidney and bladder trouble and my back was so stiff and sore, the right ovary was badly affected and everything I ate distressed me, and there was a bad discharge.

I was confined to my bed when I wrote to you for advice and followed your directions faithfully, taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Liver Pills and using the Wash and am now able to do the most of my household work. I believe I should have died if it had not been for your Compound. I hope this letter may be the result of benefitting some other suffering woman. I recommend your Compound to every one."—MRS. MARY VAUGHN, TRIMBLE, PULASKI CO., KY.

Many of these sick women whose letters we print were utterly discouraged and life was a burden to them when they wrote to Lynn, Mass., to Mrs. Pinkham, and without charge of any kind received advice that made them strong, useful women again.

by Mr. Robinson. On this a levy was made on Mr. Bloeser's property.

August Robinson, a brother of Charles Robinson, has a judgment of $4,500 against Bloeser and on the strength of it he had an attachment execution issued attaching the goods, money etc., due Bloeser and George Kinback, now in the hands of Harry S. Foust, who a month ago succeeded Mr. Bloeser as proprietor of the Hotel Rudolph at Penn avenue and Spruce street. Deputy Sheriff Ferber levied on the interest the defendants have in everything at the Hotel Rudolph.

The Langstaff Contest. In the arbitration room yesterday the following witnesses were examined in the Langstaff election contest: Nineteenth ward—John Kramer, Fred Meek.

Tenth ward—Jacob Freas, Rudolph Warnke, Herman F. Stender, Ed C. L. Mayer, George Farber, Armand Locher, W. H. Kaufman, C. H. Van Buskirk, Charles Harshb, Peter Coss, Jacob Zoner, E. H. Corey, William Amend, Louis Apple, J. E. Masters, John Mitchell, William Schultz, Albert Van Housen, Louis Wolf, John Christ, E. F. Farnes, George E. Dwyer, E. Stittlieb, Fred Forbaugh, Rudolph Preim, Jacob Walz, William Stark, Samuel Kizer.

Eighth Ward Contest. There was another hearing in the eighth ward contest yesterday before Commissioner E. W. Thayer at which the following witnesses were examined: Philip Zander, S. B. Dawson, Jenkin Harris, Joseph Clements and David Harris. The next hearing will be held on August 15.

Court House News Notes. A marriage license was granted yesterday by Clerk of the Courts Daniels to Andrew Flight, of Spring Brook and Mary Zander, of Dunmore.

James Lewis was committed to jail on charges of malicious mischief and assault and battery preferred by George Chestnut. His bondsman is John J. Lewis.

H. G. Smith's bond as tax collector of Benton township was approved by Judge Edwards yesterday.

The fixtures and effects of W. B. Henry, who has been conducting the Terrace hotel for some time, were sold yesterday by Sheriff Pryor. They brought $1,050. The greater part of the goods were purchased by E. C. Newcomb as attorney.

The bond of Thomas P. Cosgrove, tax collector of the Old Forge school district, in the sum of $25,000, was filed with Probationary Comptroller yesterday. It has for sureties Daniel Dougherty, William J. Fallon, John J. Mangan, Patrick J. Fallon, James Manion, Michael Connor, James T. Foley and J. George Keck.

CANDIDATE FOR AUDITOR. William E. John Yesterday Registered with Mr. Watkins.

William E. Johns, of 157 South Main avenue, this city, yesterday registered with James E. Watkins, secretary of the Republican county committee as a candidate for the nomination for county auditor. The other candidates for auditor are A. E. Kiefer and F. L. Ward.

The candidates for commissioner up to date are Giles Roberts, Dalton W. D. Spencer, Waverly, and S. W. Roberts, J. C. Morris, William Frantz, John Penman, William Evans and W. J. Thomas.

THE INQUEST POSTPONED. Mrs. M. Girton Was Not Well Enough to Attend.

The coroner's inquest in the case of the Otin boy who was killed by the Black Diamond express, his shroud suspended until the mother, Mrs. M. Girton, is able to testify. She is being treated in the Pittston hospital.

The jury appointed is composed of Rev. Thomas de Gruchy, William Penn Moran, E. H. Griggs, Eugene Fern, David Owens and T. A. Eynon. The testimony of several witnesses was heard yesterday, but no action was taken.

FATAL MINE ACCIDENT. Patrick Cafferty Terribly Crushed in the Barnum Shaft.

Patrick Cafferty, a single man, 27 years of age, living on Park street, Pittston, and employed as a miner in the Barnum shaft, was caught by a fall of rock while at work yesterday.

He was so badly injured that he died about an hour after being taken to the hospital. His face was terribly crushed.

Smoke the Hotel Jermyn Cigar. 10c.

A Card. We, the undersigned, do hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cough or cold. We also guarantee a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory if you return it to G. S. Dunmore & Son, Dunmore, Pa.; John P. Donahue, Scranton, Pa.

HOSPITAL FOR PRIVATE PATIENTS

TO BE CONNECTED WITH THE LACKAWANNA.

Not So Far as Location Is Concerned but It Will Be the Means for Providing Revenue to Carry On the Noble Work the Lackawanna Hospital Has for Years Been Doing. Matter Will Be Considered at a Meeting of the Directors Today.

The close of the Moses Taylor hospital against paid patients promises to be less of a calamity to the public than was at first feared. If a project now under consideration is carried out as it is reasonably sure to be, the temporary cloud will have not a silver but a golden lining as the deprivation to sufferers who are able to pay for service will result in a more satisfactory place for treatment, but will also be of material benefit to a needy institution namely, the Lackawanna hospital.

It is proposed by a large number of the leading physicians of the city to open at the home of the Lackawanna hospital for private patients. It is not intended that this innovation shall be connected with the hospital as far as location is concerned, but that the new institution will go toward the support of the old one. It will be entirely separate and possible on some such plot as the home of the Providence hospital on Adams avenue and will be open to the practice of all reputable physicians of the city thus avoiding the jealousy and bickering which is the customary accompaniment of a private hospital.

The advantages of having it removed from the immediate vicinity of a charity hospital are obvious. One of the disadvantages of the Moses Taylor has been that patients in a critical nervous condition after operations have been tortured in sensibility and irritation when poor fellows crushed or maimed from the mines have been brought in to groan in agony night after night. It is also a disturbing element on the other hand when the charity patients fancy they receive less attention than those who pay.

The promoters of the new enterprise believe that a hospital managed on broad guarded principles and conducted for the benefit of such a noble and deserving institution as the Lackawanna hospital, will receive hearty support from the Scranton public. It is estimated that with ten patients a week the pay hospital will be able to place not less than $200 a month into the treasury of the parent institution and when it is remembered that any physician in good standing can take his patients into this quiet retreat the proportion cannot but be considered favorably.

If the plans now under advisement are concluded it is proposed to equip the hospital with handsome, comfortable rooms ranging from $10 to $25 per week, which will bring it within the means of a multitude who feel unable to pay $20 per week for a trained nurse in their households. These rates will be most reasonable indeed for service, board, room and nursing, and the public in general will hail with rejoicing the opening of such an institution.

This morning a meeting of the directors of the Lackawanna hospital will be held to discuss the new project and decide whether or not the management will accept the aid thus proffered. Several of the directors are out of the city but it is understood that the majority will be in favor of the innovation.

RICHMOND ECHO MEETING. Held in Penn Avenue Baptist Church Last Evening.

The delegates from the Abington Baptist association, who attended the Baptist Young People's Union convention at Richmond, Va., held an "echo meeting" in Penn Avenue Baptist church last evening.

A large attendance was present and

Glassware

We carry a large line of inexpensive Glassware that has merit. Perfectly plain crystal. Not the common, dull clouded kind, which looks as though it were dirty and breaks if you wash it.

- 4 piece Tea Sets—sugar, cream, spoon and butter. 50c
4 inch Berry Dishes, per dozen. 65c
7 inch Berry Dishes. 25c each
8 inch Berry Dishes. 25c each
8 inch Footed Fruit Dish. 40c
Water Pitchers, Tumblers, Goblets, Etc.
Come and see us often, you are always welcome.