Washington, Aug. 2 .-- Advices received by Surgeon General Wyman to night from Hampton show that the only change in the yellow fever situation is the addition of four suspected cases to those already in existence, These have been sent from the camp to the hospital. This information and the additional statement that there has not been a death since 7 o'clock last night and that everything with reference to the disease is more than favorable was received from Governor Woodin, of the Soldiers' home, also wired that he is quite gure the pestilence will be stamped out.

From Dr. White, who has general charge of affairs at Hampton but who remains away from the institution word came that the situation is unchanged. Governor Woodfin has prepared a list of all members of the home who have been furloughed since July 22, at the same time giving their destination. This will be telegraphed to Surgeon General Wyman and will be spread broadcast through the press, thus enabling municipalities where the inmates may now be detained for a reasonable length of time,

The removal of troops from Fort Monroe and the officers and their families, it is expected, will begin tomorrow when a passenger steamer is scheduled to leave at 2 o'clock for Cape Charles. A barge with cars is expected to go to the reservation tomorrow to take the baggage and equipment of troops over to Cape Charles. Just before the close of the war department today a final decision was reached to send the troops from Fort Monroe to Battery Point, Delaware. locating the troops so far south, but General Merritt held that it would be fatal in case any of the men were infected to take them north.

Secretary Root today found that the care of the old soldiers at the Hampton home was entirely within the power of the national board of Soldiers' homes and informed the board that the war department would do anything possible to assist it in combatting the fever. From 4 o'clock when the welcoming committee crowded into his private MILES FAVORS THE car upon its arrival at Toledo until 9 o'clock, when the general ceased grasping outstretched hands, the scene was a constant and spontaneous ovation: Smiles and tears repeatedly struggled for the mastery over the secretary's bronzed countenance, as he gazed into the eager faces of the multitudes who loudly and convincingly insisted that "Alger's all right," and no dissentent voice was heard.

Darkness fell during the speeche from the reviewing stand in front of the city hall, giving opportunity for throwing a searchlight upon the features of General Alger, drawn in crayon on a canvas 16 feet square, hung from the city hall front and surrounded by patriotic decorations. A great crush at the indoor reception was the final feature.

While Racing with the Defender She Snaps Her New Steel Mast, Which Threw Overboard the Yacht's Entire Suit of Sails-Another Entry in Her Chapter of Ill Luck.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 2.—The Columbla and the Defender started in a smooth sea before an eight knot breeze at 11.16.09 and 11.16.49 respectively today in a race to a mark boat off Block Island and return, a distance of twenty-six miles. At 12.04, at which time the Columbia was far ahead of the Defender, the new steel mast on the 'olumbia broke and the race was abandoned. No one was hurt by the falling rigging. The mast broke about forty feet from the deck and the yacht's entire suit of sails, main sail, restay sail, jib, jib top sail and club top sail went overboard to leeward.

The Defender came rapidly up to the assistance of the new boat, while a number of tugs also made for the Columbia at full speed. The accident look place when the Columbia was about five miles south of Point Judith and the wind at the time was not blowing over eight knots an hour. It took nearly an hour to clear away enough of the wreck of the Columbia so that she could be towed to Newport. She was then towed to her moorings inside Fort Adams by the Associated Press

The Columbia suffered little injury her hull. It is expected that she will be towed to Bristol, where the pine mast which the steel one replaced is stored. It will take two days and perhays longer to fix the rigging and It is considered unlikely that the two boats will meet again until the New York Yacht club's cruise next week.
