TOOK OUT PERMITS—H. R. Hurlbut, one of the contractors who was arrested and fined for erecting buildings without getting a permit yesterday secured five permits from Building Inspector Jackson and paid $1.50 for them. The money was paid under protest and will be refunded if it is decided in the case now pending that the city has no right to issue permits or charge for them. The North End Lumber company has also taken out permits under protest. Within the last few years a large number of buildings were constructed for which permits were not granted and the city will be kept on the new buildings erected hereafter and with this end in view the police have been requested to report whenever the work of erecting a building on any of the streets of their beats is begun.

Tidal Wave Burs.

Valparaiso, Chile, Aug. 9.—A tidal wave burst into the bay yesterday evening, tearing down the embankment and sweeping off a number of cars, locomotives and tons of merchandise. The loss is estimated at a million dollars.

CONTRACTORS ARE ANXIOUS ABOUT PAY

WANT TO KNOW WHERE THE MONEY IS COMING FROM.

Attorney I. H. Burns, representing Contractor O'Hara who is constructing Section C of the Fifth District Sewer Wasted Upon the City Controller and City Solicitor Yesterday—Nothing to Do But Sue and Get Judgment Against City, Other City Hall Matters.

Attorney I. H. Burns, who represents Vincent O'Hara who has the contract for the construction of Section C of the Fifth district sewer, waited upon Deputy City Controller Hartley yesterday to ascertain if any provision have been made or if steps are contemplated by the city that will provide the money to pay the city's share for the construction of that sewer.

Mr. Hartley told Mr. Burns that so far as he knew there is not a dollar in sight for to pay the $1,870 that is assessed against the city for that work. The city controller cannot draw a warrant until money is provided by councils and none has been appropriated up to date. The worst feature of the matter is that there is absolutely no money in sight for this purpose.

Mr. Burns had a consultation afterwards with City Solicitor Vossburg, but the latter could suggest no remedy for the difficulty. As he views the situation the only thing for the contractor to do, after he finishes the work, is to sue the city and get judgment, and then proceed to negotiate the judgment to the best possible advantage. It is likely such a course will be pursued. There was some talk of asking court for a mandamus to compel the city controller to draw a warrant, but it is not likely that such action will be taken.

There are two other sewers in the city on which work is now in progress and in each the conditions are identical with those in Contractor O'Hara's case. The city's share of the cost of the Philo street sewer which is being constructed by Donohue & O'Boyle is $17,290 and for the South Side sewer which Contractor O'Connell has under way is $2,900. When these sewer contracts are completed about $22,000 in judgments will be entered up against the city and will draw 6 per cent. interest until paid.

Practical Suggestions.

The growth of the city and the opening of new streets renders necessary a numbering of all the houses and signs which are erected at different street intersections which are already named, and with that idea in mind, Postmaster Ripple has sent a communication to Mayor Blair, calling attention to the matter. The postmaster desires to secure a larger mail-carrying force for the city but is handicapped because streets are not properly designated and houses properly numbered.

At tonight's meeting of council, the mayor will submit a communication embodying Colonel Ripple's letter, and ask that some action be taken at once in the matter. He will also suggest that the members of the police force be used to take notes of the streets unnumbered and houses unnumbered.

Postmaster Ripple says he cannot, with success, urge the government to extend the free delivery system and add additional carriers until the posting of street names and numbering of houses becomes more general.

Question of Ownership.

City Solicitor Vossburg will today institute equity proceedings against Edward and Charles duPont West, to determine the question of ownership in a strip of land located between Breck and Forest courts and Muller and Linden streets.

The land in question was owned by the Breck estate and has been publicly used for many years as an alley, but recently the heirs fenced in the plot. Mr. Vossburg claims that the land belongs to the city by virtue of its having been used more than twenty-one years as a public thoroughfare.

The strip of land is about thirty feet wide and between 90 and 100 feet deep.

The Plumbing Inspector.

A delegation from the Plumbers' union waited on Mayor Blair yesterday to inquire into the rumors about regarding the removal of Plumbing Inspector O'Malley. Mayor Blair said he had no intention of removing the inspector.

Regarding the story that politics was behind the matter, the mayor said he did not even know Mr. O'Malley's politics until the rumor was started. "He has been a very efficient official," the mayor said, "independent upon his merits, and as the office is virtually a civil service one, I see no reason why I should interfere with it."

That Bond Ordinance.

It is very probable that the ordinance providing for issuing bonds to the amount of $50,000 for the improvement of New Ave park will be reported favorably at tonight's meeting of select council. The ordinance has been in the hands of the finance committee, of which T. Melvin is chairman, for several weeks. It was thought that a portion of the money could be diverted to pay some of the city's debts, but it is learned that such action cannot be taken as bonds can only be issued for permanent improvements.

GOSSIP OF MONTROSE.

Becoming Popular as a Summer Resort—Stockholders of Montrose and Lackawanna Hopeful.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Montrose, Aug. 9.—As a summer resort Montrose has been unusually lively this season and many have enjoyed the pure air and delightful scenery of Susquehanna's capital for the first time during the past few weeks that have preceded the midsummer month which is generally the gayest in a social way. For many years prominent New Yorkers and Philadelphians have made Montrose their Mecca as a summer resting place and have returned with the regularity of the migratory birds each season. The well known artist, James B. Smillie, after a tour of the world left a beautiful home on the Hudson and selected a plot on a hillside in the western suburb of Montrose as the ideal location for a summer residence, and when not in Europe may always be found ready to welcome friend or acquaintance with characteristic cordiality at his beautiful villa on the hills during the heated term. The Reed family, Mr. and Mrs. Crisman, Mrs. Butler, Hon. Alex. McCulloch and others from Philadelphia, have in the past enjoyed the delights of this most charming of country towns and have never become weary in praise of the scenes that inspire the landscape artist at every hand. Yet with few exceptions the inhabitants of the town seem to have been blind to its attractions as a summer resort. In the attempt to make the village a business center they have lost sight of the elements which would bring success financially if properly fostered.

As a business town Montrose ceased to exist many years ago. With the building of the narrow gauge branch of the Lehigh Valley railroad a blow was administered from which the business enterprises of the town never recovered. The village which had formerly been enjoyed by merchants of the town drifted in the direction of the main line of the Valley road never to return. With the construction of the Montrose branch to the Lackawanna the finishing stroke was given and business was drawn away from another direction.

As a summer resting place however, the railroads which have so disastrously to business interests generally, have done a benefit in connecting the village with the outside world. Many of the inhabitants have already recognized this and have made efforts to attract the summer boarder, who seldom fails to return the next season after a few weeks of rest amid these peaceful surroundings and many new visitors have been attracted. While many of the sojourners prefer to pass the greater portion of the time in dreamy contemplation of the beauties of nature there is ample amusement for those who desire recreation and exercise. Golf, tennis, boating parties, picnics and card parties are among the features of entertainment that make the town and its people popular with the young summer boarders.

RAILROAD STOCKHOLDERS.

A recent event of interest was the visit of President Truesdale of the Lackawanna. During his brief visit President Truesdale, in company with some of the most prominent and successful business men of the town and vicinity, the road has been in successful operation now for nearly ten years, and the holders of the script are very naturally beginning to wonder if they are ever to see a dividend. They read occasionally in the newspapers the ten-mile feeder of the Lackawanna is one of the best paying lines in the country, etc., but that is all the comfort that they have thus far been enabled to obtain. When the road was built Mr. W. D. Lusk, of Montrose, was elected president of the company, an annual report was made and the road gave promise of beneficial results all around at a near date in the future. At the next annual meeting Mr. P. H. Hallett, the general manager of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, was elected president of the corporation, and from that date the Montrose stockholders have been unable to learn anything definite regarding the road. I am informed by stockholders that they have never received reports of any kind concerning the condition of the road, and that no meetings of stockholders have been called. The stockholders are at present in hopes that the control of the road will fall into the hands of those who will soon let them know whether there are prospects of future value for their holdings.

The postoffice case continues to be one of the main topics of conversation. This puzzling affair has been one of the most expediting in the history of postal robberies and the culprit whoever he may be, is certainly deserving of the full penalties. The money taken was in most instances from poor people who could not afford to lose even the small amounts rifled. In this affair no doubt the fear of being dragged about the state as witnesses in a United States court has afforded much valuable testimony that could have been obtained otherwise. Many have preferred to lose the amounts in silence rather than be called as witnesses. In view of all circumstances, however, it is the general sentiment that the culprit should be punished if there is a possibility of fastening the crime at the proper source. E. T. S.

A DELEGATION FROM WILKES-BARRE

ENTERTAINED LAST EVENING BY CAMP 242, P. O. S. OF A.

Over One Hundred Visiting Members of the Order Came from Down the Valley and Were Right Royally Entertained—Addresses Delivered by State President Colborn and a Number of Others—Arrangements for the State Convention in Wilkes-Barre Are Now Complete.

A large delegation from the various camps of the Patriotic Order Sons of America from Wilkes-Barre and other towns down the valley journeyed to this city last evening and were entertained by Camp No. 242 in Odd Fellows' hall, Wyoming avenue.

The drum corps from Camp No. 430, South Scranton, met the delegation, which numbered about one hundred, at the Jersey Central station. The party marched to the hall, headed by the drum corps. All the members wore badges, and presented a very neat appearance.

The camps represented were as follows: Nos. 118, 287, 488 and 408, of Wilkes-Barre; No. 245, of Ashley; No. 623, of Parsons, and No. 271, of Nanticoke.

Upon their arrival at the hall a general informal meeting was held, at which State President A. J. Colborn, of this city, presided. He was in a particularly jovial humor and introduced the various speakers in his usual inimitable manner. He first delivered a brief address, in which he expressed the hope that a feeling of friendliness would be engendered between the brothers which would be everlasting.

PLEASANTIES INDULGED IN.

The old Scranton-Wilkes-Barre feud was not in evidence during the meeting and a large number of pleasantries along that line were indulged in. Mr. Colborn had spoken of Parsons as being the only city represented.

FOR NATIONAL PRESIDENT.

Frequent references were made to the effort being made by Mr. Colborn's friends to have him elected national president. Mention was also made of the coming state convention to be held in Wilkes-Barre, and a member of the committee of arrangements present said that everything was prepared, and that the convention would be the most successful in the history of the order.

THEY WERE CLOSE TO DEATH.

Narrow Escape of a Wedding Party Near Pittston.

The occupants of a three-seated rig, who were being driven to a wedding in Pittston on Tuesday evening, had a miraculous escape from instant death or at least severe injury, at the Smithville crossing of the Lehigh Valley railroad.

There were ten persons in the vehicle, comprising Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Josephs, of Dupont, and children.

and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Josephs and children, of Newark, N. J.

They had just reached the crossing when the gravel train came down the track at a great rate of speed. Before it was noticed by the driver the horses were on the track. They were struck by the engine and instantly killed. One was cut completely in half and the neck of the other was broken. The driver was thrown from his seat and barely escaped being thrown under the wheels.

Several of those in the carriage were also thrown to the ground, though no serious injury was sustained by anyone. Had the train struck the carriage it would in all probability have been killed. The team near carriage belonged to Peter Lacupe, of Dupont.

THIS TIME IT IS WADE FINN.

He Has Offered Himself as Exhibit No. 2.

Richard Little and Michael O'Toole, the editors of the Scrantonian, were brought before Alderman Kasson for the second time in a week yesterday morning on the charge of criminal libel preferred by Colonel Ezra H. Ripple.
