John J. Timlin Sent to the County Jail—They Changed the Suit. Recital Last Evening.

John J. Timlin was sent to the county jail in default of $200 bail by Alderman Myers last night. He was arrested on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. The rare he induced Mrs. Mary Durkin to insure her crippled husband in the Old Wayne Insurance company for $1,000. He received $6 for the policy and was to pay the remaining $1,000. As Mrs. Durkin received the policy, she swore out a warrant for his arrest last month. Timlin was arrested and entered bail, but the bail-price was dated four days earlier than that in which the warrant was issued. As he knew his bail was of no account, he has since been in hiding, but was found last night and sent to jail to insure his appearance in court.

THEY THREW HIM OUT. Soon after receiving his pay, Anthony Winkie went to a second-hand clothing store on Penn avenue kept by S. Epstein and purchased a suit of clothes. He chose a suit that fit him, but before they were handed to him they were taken into a back room to be wrapped up. While they were being wrapped, it is claimed that another suit was substituted for the one purchased. PITTSSTON NEWS. A Gloomy Prospect in Duryea—A Disturbance at the "Bum" Shaft. Accidents and Incidents. Duryea is in statu quo, and a visit in that locality yesterday could not have anything but one opinion, and that is that the town is in a very demoralizing condition. Nothing but idleness and poverty to be seen in every block. Big strong, sturdy men were loafing around in groups, looking disconcerted, and anything but ill at ease, while scores of children, were running around only half clad, and evidently strangers to the bath room. Several movings were seen and the main portion of the furniture consisted of wooden benches which took the place of chairs and boards which when put together made beds instead of beds. Around the Babylon colliery everything looked deserted, and in trouble of any kind is anticipated. There are nightly meetings among the men, and it was anticipated last night that they would return to work next week under the same conditions that the Exeter men did yesterday. This afternoon and evening Gentry's dog and pony show will give exhibitions on a large vacant lot on the West Side, and the novel performance is worthy of patronage. There will be a parade this morning. The newest industry in town is a corn beer factory and the brewing process is done in a vacant lot. The location of the newest innovation is on the rear of South Main street and the brewers' kegs are utilized in distributing the product. Oliver Burke and family returned from Atlantic City last evening. The pugnacious element at the "Bum" colliery, who are out on strike, tried to make a serious disturbance at the works yesterday morning when a few of the employees made an attempt to go down the slope to perform some necessary work. Knives and dangerous looking weapons were drawn and for a time it was thought it would be necessary to notify the sheriff. Last night they met again in the hall of the Corn Exchange block, but, like on the previous evening, they would not divulge any of the proceedings and no one appeared very anxious to know.

The public schools of the West Side will be opened on Wednesday, Aug. 31. James O'Donnell, formerly of Scranton, and an uncle of Mrs. Thomas Mangin and Mrs. W. M. The Erie and Wyoming Valley Railroad company paid their employees along the line from here to Dunmore yesterday. The Lehigh Valley will do the same on Tuesday, the next and the Pennsylvania Coal company will do likewise on next Thursday and Friday.

The excursion to Mauch Chunk and Glen Onoko tomorrow morning over the Central Railroad of New Jersey will carry a large number from this city. The train from Cork Lane station will leave at 8 o'clock. The viaduct being built in the old basin is nearing completion, and in a short time Tompkins street will be extended from Oregon to Water street. It is estimated that two thousand excursionists will go with the Henry Grattan society to Lake Ariel on the 24th inst. Main street, between Parsonage and drawn and for a time it was thought it would be necessary to notify the sheriff. Last night they met again in the hall of the Corn Exchange block, but, like on the previous evening, they would not divulge any of the proceedings and no one appeared very anxious to know.
