WAS LOOKING FOR HIS WITE.

But Some People Thought That He Was Insane.

Mr. Taylor, railroader, created a great deal of excitement and nearly frightened a lady to death yesterday morning on North Washington avenue, all because he wanted his wife. It appears that his wife left him and went to Philadelphia. He followed her there to patch up things, but could not and her. He returned home and poured his troubles into the car of Chief Robling. At Monday night's meeting of the board the vote in favor of the text book report was sixteen to four. The four were Messrs, Davis, Leonard, Roche and Zeidler. Mr. Gibbons, who voted with the majority, announced that he did so solely for the purpose of being in a position to make a motion to reconsider. Mr. Langan was absent from that meeting. The four who underwent a change of opinion in the interim were Messrs, Shires, Phillips, Neuls and Schwass. It was announced at the meeting that the agent for Tarbell's revised grammars would not accept the contract under the conditions prescribed by the board, namely, that all of the original edition, used and unused, now on hand should be replaced with the revised edition at no expense to the district. No action was taken in the matter. An incident that caused "breathless excitement" occurred at the opening of the meeting, during the discussion of the question of providing for the children of the Twelfth ward while the construction of new No. 2 building was under way.

and O'Brien and Kelly. The suit is entitled Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex. rel. John R. Jones district attorney, against Andrew Kennedy, burgess of Old Forge, and its purpose is to secure a mandamus to the collection of taxes. An appeal from the order incorporating the borough is pending and the anti-boroughites, of whom the burgess himself appeared to be one, are doing all that they can to prevent the munleapility from exercising any of its functions until the appeal is finally adjudicated, so as to lesson the entanglements and complications that would ensue were the borough knocked sut One of the things they are set upon doing is to prevent the collection of taxes. May 31, H. M. Harding was duly appointed tax collector for the borough. A levy was made, the duplicate issued and the burgess requested to issue his warrant for the collection of the taxes as the general borough law of 1851 directs. The burgess, however, refused to issue the warrant and the borough in consequence finds itself proceeding without revenue or any hope of receiving revenue Those who favor the borough form of government are up in arms against this alleged arbitrary action on the part of the burgess and have gone into court to have the matter straightened out. Judge Edwards, before whom the motion was made, directed that an al-

CASEY'S POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. Gibbons was making a speech favoring a change of site, when Mr. Casey interrupted him with a "point of order," to the effect that he was not talking on the question. "Please don't interrupt me," said Mr. Gibbons. "You're not talking on the motion."

said Mr. Casey. "Confine yourself to the motion. "Sit down and mind your own business," angrily retorted Mr. Gibbons. "I am minding my business. I insist on my point of order," quoth Mr. Casey. "You are out of order. Please take your seat,' said President Davis, Mr. Gibbons was boiling over at this juncture and, turning to Mr. Casey, he "If you have been drinking whiskey this afternon, I haven't. I always come here sol +, and I don't want to be insulted by a man who comes here loaded with whiskey." "I accept the ignorance of the gentle man from the Twentieth." said Mr.

Casey, making a how to the reporters. "I don't want to be snubbed." Mr. Gibbons continued, "by a man who doesn't know what he is talking about half the time." "I accept the gnorance of the gen-deman from the "Twentleth," reiterated Mr. Casey with a complacent smile. Mr. Gibbons then proceeded with his peech on the change of site for No. 2 building and succeeded in having his proposition referred to committee. At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Casey accosted Mr. Gibbons with the interrogation: "Do you think I am any drunker than you are?"

CALLED HIM A CALE. "You are a big overgrown calf," was Mr. Gibbons' rejoinder.

He waited a moment and then said to Mr. Casey, "Why don't you hit me?" "Oh. I wouldn't hit you. You're an old man," said Mr. Casey.

"Well, just believe for instance that I am not a day older than you are," replied Mr. Gibbons, and handing his
