The annual reunion of the survivors of the Schooley battery was held in Nay Aug park Saturday afternoon. Twenty-six members answered the roll call, as follows: Charles Sanders, Avoca; J. T. Teuch, West Pittston; James Orr, E. J. Evans, Daniel Howell, S. T. Davis, William Gee, Joseph Embleton, B. J. Evans, all of Pittston; John Stone, Dunmore; L. H. Wint, Scranton; J. M. Alexander, Carbondale; C. H. Bryant, New York; Charles Blackwell, Moosic; William Sanders, Avoca; David Smith, Clark's Green; Samuel S. Wint, Scranton; Merritt Tompkins, Clark's Summit; Charles Vandenberg, Wilkes-Barre; C. S. Pate, Lake View; W. Spangenberg, Dunmore; and B. J. Quick and George Smithing, of Scranton.
An address was delivered by Commander Joseph M. Alexander, late Republican candidate for mayor of Scranton, who in his address, rendered an original poem dealing with the happenings of the battery since organized.

A business session followed, at which the following officers were elected: President, L. H. Wint, Scranton; vice-president, John T. Teuch; secretary, S. S. Wint, Scranton; treasurer, John Barnes, Pittston; advisory board, J. M. Alexander, Carbondale; B. J. Evans, Pittston.
The selection of the next place of meeting was left to the advisory board and they will undoubtedly choose this city again.
The battery was organized in 1862 by Captain David Schooley, of Pittston, who was unable to be present on Saturday. They were mustered in on Aug. 12 of that year and were made a part of the One Hundred and Twelfth Pennsylvania Infantry in 1864.

ELOPERS ARRESTED ABROAD.

Taken Into Custody as They Stepped from the Steamer.

A cablegram was received on Saturday afternoon by Chief of Police King, of Wilkes-Barre, telling of the arrest of Mrs. John A. Jones and John Stevenson, alias Saunders, as they were leaving the steamer at Liverpool, Eng. The prisoners will be held there until sufficient proof of the forgery, with which they are charged, is furnished to warrant their detention for trial. The prosecutor in the case is John Jones, the husband of the fleeing woman.
It appears that the couple secured by false representations a mortgage for $500 on Wilkes-Barre property, by extracting their obligations. They then departed for the old country with the thought that they could enjoy their ill-gotten gains without fear of molestation. Stevenson was a boarder in the Jones' home.

WILL GO BEFORE THE CONVENTION

JUDGE ARCHBALD TO BE PLACED IN NOMINATION.

It Was Decided at Saturday's Meeting of the Committee That the Contest Will Be Fought Out to a Finish—Archbald's Headquarters Will Be Opened Tomorrow at the Lochiel in Harrisburg—Those Who Expect to Be Present—Fleitz Will Nominate Archbald.

There was a meeting on Saturday afternoon of the general committee that has charge of the campaign of J. M. Archbald for the Republican nomination for justice of the supreme court. Hon. William Connell presided over the meeting.

It was decided that Judge Archbald's name will go before the convention no matter what the conditions are in Harrisburg when the convention opens. It was reported that assurances of support have been received from the delegates of all the counties of this part of the state, with the exception of Luzerne county, where Hon. H. W. Palmer is a candidate. There is no desire on the part of Judge Archbald's friends to interfere in any way with Mr. Palmer's campaign.

The headquarters of Archbald will be opened Tuesday in the Lochiel. The following will be present. It is expected, when the headquarters are formally opened: Hon. William Connell, Hon. E. N. Willard, Hon. L. A. Waters, Hon. John R. Parr, Deputy Attorney General F. W. Fleitz, Major T. E. Pennam, Hon. J. C. Vaughan, Hon. John P. Reynolds, Hon. S. S. Jones, Hon. John Schenck and Mayor James Molr.
These will go to Harrisburg today and early on Tuesday another large party will leave. Some of the members of it will be F. Jones, of Archbald; R. D. Stuart, of Carbondale; M. W. Lovry, George M. Watson, R. A. Zimmerman, Colonel E. H. Ripple, W. K. Beck, R. H. Hoigate, Byron Akery, Major W. S. Miller, A. J. Colborn, Reese G. Brooks, T. H. Dale and Emil Bonh.

There will be an absence of brass band and red fire in the Archbald campaign. It is being conducted on a dignified plan worthy of such an exalted judicial position. Judge Archbald will have a party of sincere, earnest friends on the ground who will try their utmost to advance the interests of their favorite. In speaking about Judge Archbald's chances Mr. Fleitz said yesterday:
"It is settled that Judge Archbald's name will go before the convention and while there is a good deal of talk about J. Hay Brown, Judge Archbald and his friends have assurances of support from all sections of the state during the past week. Largely because of these assurances he and his friends have decided that no matter how much opposition they may meet they will stand firm for Archbald's name and the contest be fought out to a finish."
"I have seen and talked with many of the leaders throughout the state during the past week and am satisfied there is a stronger sentiment for Archbald than for any man mentioned for the place."

He was well known in Luzerne and Columbia counties. Forty-five years ago he ran a merchant's boat between Pittston and Havre de Grace, Baltimore, Philadelphia and other points, and at one time hauled boatloads of coal to tide water for the late John Jacob Astor. While en route to this city he brought loads of merchandise as freight.

Patrolman Day Rescued a Drunken Man on Saturday Night.

Patrick O'Reilly was strolling along Lackawanna avenue Saturday evening in a state of intoxication. When he reached the corner of Franklin avenue he deliberately swung in front of a trolley car just rounding the corner. He would have undoubtedly been struck and perhaps run over had not Patrolman Lona Day, who was standing nearby, dashed forward and whirled him out of the way.
This enraged O'Reilly, who became abusive, and he was taken into custody. At the Centre street station house he made the night hideous with his yells. He was given fifteen days in police court yesterday morning.

MEETING OF MINERS.

Conference Committee Reported That It Secured Concessions from the Lackawanna Company.

Twenty-six out of thirty delegates representing the miners employed by the Lackawanna company responded to the call issued by D. J. Davis, chairman of the grievance committee for a meeting in Co-operative hall Saturday evening. D. J. Davis was chosen chairman of the meeting.
The committee reported that they had called upon Mr. Loomis and he had granted them the concessions as follows: They will be permitted to take their smelting where they please; they will be allowed to work on the basis of allowing the company to take the keg of powder, and that all steel bottom cars be used in one mine and they will be given a reasonable rate for the filling of the same.
After hearing the report the committee was given a vote of thanks. D. J. Davis, W. T. Williams, Patrick Lynch, J. S. Stevens, M. Lavelle were appointed a committee to wait upon Mr. Loomis on Monday to secure his signature to a type-written copy of the concessions.

WATER NOT DEEP ENOUGH.

Serious Mistake Made by Christopher Harris, of Olyphant.

Christopher Harris, of Olyphant, was received at the Lackawanna hospital yesterday afternoon suffering from the effects of a foolhardy dive which he attempted at Olyphant on Saturday afternoon.
It appears that he was starting to bathe in a mine reservoir at that place and, thinking the water to be deep, dove from the surrounding wall. The water, however, was only three feet deep and the young man struck on the back of his head and spine.
He was first attended by Dr. Price, but as the case required hospital care, he was removed to the Lackawanna. He is completely paralyzed from the breast down and is in a very serious condition.

ENCOURAGING NEWS FROM THE NORTH

EVERY REASON TO BELIEVE THAT VETTER IS ALIVE.

Telegram Received Saturday Night and Another Yesterday Announce the Glad Tidings That He Was Rescued from Schooner and, Although Ill, Was Alive on June 6. A Letter Is on Its Way from Seattle Which Will Give All the Necessary Particulars.

The following telegram was received by Mrs. Phillip J. Vetter on Saturday evening:
Seattle, Wash., Aug. 19, 1899.
Mr. Vetter at Cape Home, is recovering. More later.
C. W. Frankland.
Another telegram was received by Attorney George M. Watson yesterday morning as follows:
Seattle, Wash., Aug. 20, 1899.
Vetter wintered on schooner. Rescued May 12 by Ingham. Heroic trip. Dolm well June 6. Now at home. Letter explains.
H. E. Holmes.

The above dispatches, which practically confirm the news of Mr. Vetter's rescue, received last week, tended in no small degree to brighten the sorrow-stricken home and to lighten the burdens and cheer the hopes of the wife and children of the supposedly lost man.
ASKED FOR INFORMATION.
When Mr. Watson was in the west a few weeks ago he authorized several parties in Port Townsend and Seattle to communicate with Mrs. Vetter by wire in case anything should transpire. Both of the gentlemen who have sent the telegrams were well known to Mr. Watson and he is confident that they would not send anything which they did not get on good authority.
Nothing definite in regard to the details of the rescue of information can, of course, be known until the letter mentioned arrives, which will probably be either tomorrow or Wednesday. Taking into consideration the fact that both men wired independently, and that their information tallies, it is very likely that the news that Mr. Vetter is alive is true.
The home referred to is probably one of the numerous mission houses of the various denominations scattered along the coast in the vicinity of St. Michael. When any cases of distress are reported to these institutions it is customary for them to send out rescuing parties and to call them after the name of the leader. The Ingham referred to is supposed to be the leader of one of these parties. If the message is true, Mr. Vetter is undoubtedly convalescing at the mission or home from which the rescuing party was sent.
PECULIAR CIRCUMSTANCES.
The only peculiar circumstance surrounding the information is that no word has been received from Mr. Vetter since June 6, when, according to the telegram, he was doing well. Mr. Watson is of the opinion that if he had sent word of his safety that it should have arrived before this time, as nearly two months and a half have elapsed.
On the whole, however, both Mr. Watson and Mrs. Vetter are inclined to place a great deal of reliance on the information and they are anxiously awaiting the arrival of the letter giving the details of the affair.
