Monahan saw the wires connected, but didn't know who connected them. He left before the "shiners" made an appearance. Thomas Walsh was then called. He is the one who the boys referred to as the person who fastened the wires. He admitted he fastened the wires, but disconnected them again. He saw Brady connect it to the fence afterwards. His brother was called and gave similar evidence. Burgess Powell then read the riot act to the boys, told his intentions and what the outcome might have been but for the step taken to prevent further injury to anyone. For years people residing in the vicinity of Scranton street have been lamoring for a sewer. After much trouble the councils took up their cause and an ordinance was passed and the contract let.

When the contract reached the city ontroller's hands he refused to affix his signature owing to the fact that here were no funds in the treasury to ect the city's share of the expense, which amounts to $700. Mr. Franklin Howells, a resident of Scranton street and one of the most interested in securing a sewer, has made an offer to he city which may, be accepted,

Mr. Howells will advance the city's hare of the money, providing they vill commence work at once. He in return wants the city to give him a note for the same, not bearing interest, payable upon their own time.

A FEMALE JEFFRIES.

John Gohogan, of Pleasant street, nd Mrs. Flaherty, of West Linden street, had a quarrel on Wednesday over each other's children, which resuited in a family fight.

It seems that Gohogan met one of the young Flaherty children on the street one day and gave it a severe whipping, because it had dealt out the me dose to one of his flock. This did not suit. Mrs. Flaherty went out for revenge and waited for Gohogan to pass her coal shanty.

DIPHTHERIA EPIDEMIC.

Several cases of diphtheria have been covered on Everett and Filmore ave nues, most of which are in a serious condition, and had it not been for the severe storm of Monday evening the number would have been increased somewhat.

The citizens residing in the above locality have called the attention of the board of health to a small stream that runs between the above mentioned avenues. This stream, they claim, emits an offensive odor which is detrimental to good health and the cause of so much diphtheria in the locality. People whose lots adjoin the small reek, which starts above Price street and runs to Luzerne street, between Everett and Filmore avenues, use it as repository for all refuse matter. Before Monday's storm the stench arising was unbearable, but the downpour of rain washed the refuse away.

The existing state of affairs cannot e very well obviated until the sewer built. This is the cause of all the trouble, there being no way to carry off the drainage.
