WILLIAM S. LANGSTAFF RE-TIRES ON FRIDAY.

He Will Be Succeeded as Foreman at the Diamond Mine by William Penn Morgan-Hallstead 1s Excited Over a Report That New Divisions Are to Be Established-Car Shops Will Probably Be Lighted by Electricity-D. & H. Officials in the City.

William S. Langstaff will on Friday relinquish his position as foreman of the Diamond mine of the Delaware Lackawanna and Western company and he succeeded by William Penn one of the best known resi-Morgan. dents of West Scranton.

Ever since the retirement of B. S. Green from the position of foreman of the Bellevue mine there have been rumors and rumors to the effect that Mr. Langstaff was slated for removal and the announcement that the axe has fallen will cause no astonishment Superintendent Loomis said yesterday that Mr. Langstaff's relations with the company will cease September 1, when Mr. Morgan will succeed him The Diamond is a very important colliecy and in years gone by it was considered the best berth connected with the col-Heries of the Delawary, Lackawanna and Western company.

Mr. Langstaff has been in the em ploy of the company for about thirty years. He began work as a slatepleker in the Oxford breaker, but for many years was assistant foreman at the Diamond under his father. When the latter retired from active life about fifteen years ago he was succeeded by his son, who has filled the office of foreman since that time. Mr. Langstaff is now in Ohio, where it is said proposes to go into business. He has been very active in politics and several times sought the Republican nomination for county treasurer. He was nominated in 1897, but was defeated at the polls and soon afterwards began the election contest which is still pending.

He served several terms as a mem ber of the board of school control and is at present a member of the poor board, although he does not wield the influence in that body he did up to a year ago.

William Penn Morgan is a man who has filled many important positions. about the mines. He is a brother-inlaw of Reese G. Brooks and a few years ngo succeeded that gentleman as superintendent of the mines of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company. When the mines of that company were purchased by the Scranton Coal company six months ago. Mr. Morgan retired. His appointment will be hailed with satisfaction by his friends. Other as-ply it would be no more than natural they should be 'laid off' or dismissed Re-elected and Resolutions Adoptfrom the service altogether,-Binghamed-Next Reunion at Fern Brook.

New Passenger Agent.

The thirty-third annual reunion of Fred P. Fox has again been pronoted by the Lackawanna managehe One Hundred and Forty-third ment, having been appointed division passenger agent of the road, with headregiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer asociation, was held at Nay Aug park vesterday afternoon. Stev-Colonel Fox will also be agent for the ons and others, and the present officers tributary Lackawanna lines between Binghamton and Buffalo inclusive, and were re-elecetd. The assembly occurred in the mornbesides will be passenger agent for the Lackawanna between Buffalo and Deng at 421 Lackawanna avenue, and the troit, to succeed Phil Hitchcock, who veterans proceeded to the park in special cars, where dinner was served by has accepted a position with the Wathe members of Ladies' circle, Post 319, bash. Colonel Fox will have a force of as-G. A. R. On the grounds were members sistants at his office in Buffalo, which will be located at No. 289 Main street. The new duties of Colonel Fox are very agreeable to him and carry with hem a substantial increase in salary. Although Elmirans generally dislike to lose Mr. Fox as a resident, they are pleased with his advancement.-Elnira Advertiser.

About Annual Passes.

In view of the fact that the Lackawanna employes are asking for annual passes the following is of interest: "An innovation in railroad manage ment, made by the general manager of the Baltimore and Ohio, is the issuance of annual passes to all engineers and conductors who have served the road in such capacities for a year

"The passes are also made to include the wives and minor children of the men to whom they are issued, and are good for use over all the lines of the company east and west of the Ohio There are about 3,000 engineers and conductors in the employ of the ompany who will be benefitted by the order. The families average four persons, making an aggregate number of about 12,000 who will hereafter enjoy free transportation facilities.

"In justification of the consideration shown, it is said by the officials that the duties of engineers and conductors are important and responsible. By care and faithfulness they can reduce accidents to a minimum, run trains on or near schedule time, and thereby facilitate and encourage business.

"It is claimed, therefore, that they tre entitled to this additional considration. It will also be an incentive to firemen, baggagemen and brakemen to give the best service in order to earn and gain promotion."-Exchange.

Miners' Committee Meeting.

The general committee of miners from the various Delaware, Lackawanna and Western collieries in Luzerne and Lackawanna counties met in Co-operative hall last evening, but refused to give out any information whatever for publication. The purpose of the meeting could not se learned, and as the propositions and were heartily enjoyed by the solmade by Superintendent Loomis have diers and ladies. been accepted, the supposition is that Dr. Heath, of West Scranton, a vetthe committee simply ratified the three eran of the Mexican war, also spoke oncessions made. gether shortly after 2 o'clock, and ninety members responded to roll call. Several members have passed away since the last reunion. The Sons of Veterans drum corps were present and gave several selections.

ANNUAL REUNION

ADDRESSES OF WELCOME.

The address of welcome was delivred by Mayor Moir, who spoke in a very pleasing manner. The response was made by Vice-President O. Vaughn, of Moscow, Rev. Mr. Howell, of West Scranton, offered prayer. The Mitchell quartette, composed of Ira Mitchell, W. S. Bartlett, Fred Petery and E. E. Hollister, sang several numbers C. H. Chamberlain, of the Wilkes-Barre Leader, read an original poem dedicated to the association, and was elected an honorary member and decorated with a badge of the regiment by Major M. L. Blair. The principal oldress of the day was to have been delivered by District Attorney John R. Jones, but he was unable to be present.

wing to sickness. Edward L. Haas, an honorary mem ber of the One Hundred and Fortythird, made a short address, and was followed by A. B. Stevens, commander of Post 139, of this city, who impressed upon the veterans the importance of uniting with the Grand Army of the Republic and the teaching of patriotism to the children. Mr. Stevens said that the One Hundred and Forty-third regiment represented the greatest military conflict in the history of the world, and also the well-known comradeship of the Grand Army. His remarks were patriotic and inspiring and well received by the as-speaker, and his remarks, while in the extreme were humorous, were also punctured with pathos and sentiment,

Hallstead Is Excited.

Again sensational rumors are affoat concerning changes to be made in the working force of the Delaware Lackawanna and Western and the local employes of that road are wondering what is going to happen next. This latest story is to the effect that changes in the divisioning of the system are un der way which will necessitate a whole. sale removal of train crews from this city to other points on the road.

At Hallstead, so it is said, quite : number of freight conductors have been notified to hold themselves in readiness for orders calling for a change of residence. The story goes that these conductors have been given to understand that they must be prepareds to be reduced to brakemen on the train crews and that in case they refuse to be reduced they will be dismissed from the service. Such changes are claimed to effect some of the oldest men in the road's employ.

A Herald man had interesting talks with certain of the railroad employes this morning on the subject. While the men could none of them state positively the change was being contemplated, yet, in view of circumstances, they pinned much faith to the rumors about it. One man said: "The so-called change of divisions has neve taken place in reality. It is now talked that the road will be divided into three divisions, as follows: New York to Scranton, Scranton to Elmira and Elmira to Buffalo. Should such a thing happen the crews living here and at Hallstead would naturally be ordered to remove their homes either to Elmira or to Scranton, and in case the men so ordered were unable to com-what will be done relative to the powder question.

This and That. Charles Miller, general manager of the Portland and Bangor railroad, was n the city for a few hours yesterday. Major Montrose Barnard, superintendent of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western miner down the valley, was in the city yesterday. H. G. Young, of Albany, second vice-resident of the Delaware and Hudson ompany, arrived in the city yesterday in his special car. He was accompanled by C. R. Manville, division superintendent of the road. Mr. Young remained but a short while, leaving on the Lackawanna 3.33 o'clock train for New York city.

During August of last year but two ars were remodelled at the car shops of the Lackawanna company, This August will see seventeen parlor cars and passenger coaches turned out. Work on the remaining seven is being pushed rapidly, that the road will have its full complement of coaches to handle the heavy traffic incident to the mail carriers' convention next week. The sleeper "Lyndhurst" that has been remodelled will be put into service today. Master Car Builder Canfield, of the Lackawanna company, is strongly considering having the several shops under him lighted with electricity, in order that during the winter months the ten hour a day shift can be continue l. The returning to the eight hour day owing to darkness will be a serious setback, from the fact that the shops are loaded with work that must be done as edily as possible. Mr. Canfield went to New York city yesterday and upon his return will act on the matter.

EIGHTH WARD CONTEST.

Another Batch of Voters Were Heard Yesterday.

There was another hearing in the Eighth ward election contest yesterday before Commissioner E. W. Thayer. The following witnesses were examined: Nelson G. Teets, L. L. Shoemaker, William Newman, W. Harvey Fuhrman, John Simpson, John T. Nicholson, Fred Zacker, Charles Kauffman, L. K. Weiss, G. D. Wilson, C. H. Reinhardt, Edwin T. Davis, Thomas J. Langan.

The hearing was adjourned for two weeks. Up to date about ninety wit-nesses have been examined on the part of the contestant. His attorneys allege they have shown that more than twenty illegal votes were cast by those who were examined thus far.

JACKSON AND THE BUILDERS.

Inspector Will Prosecute for Noncompliance with Orders.

Building Inspector Jackson has sent out notices to all contractors who have offended against the building ordinance, calling attention to Judge Edwards' decision sustaining the law, and directing them to call at his office and make up their deficiencies, under pesalty of the law.

Mr. Jackson says that he will give the builders a reasonable time to comply with the terms of his notice and that any one who fails will be prose-were re-elected for the ensuing year. They are as follows: President, P. DeLacey; vice-presidents, H. M. Gordon, O. E. Vaughn, Asa Warner; secretary, J. H. Campbell; treasurer, James Rutter.

It was unanimously decided to hold the reunion next year at Fern Brook. Luzerne county, located one mile from Dallas. Resolutions of thanks were tendered the mayor and citizens of Scranton for courtesies extended. Ladies' circle, No. 319, and to the press of the city for favors received. Resolutions of condolence on the death of Mrs. P. DeLacey were also passed. After the principal attractions at the park were visited, the veterans re-
