MASE HUNTSMAN IS AGAIN IN TROUBLE

Leader of the "Angel Band" Lands in Hackensack Jail—Tribulations of a Stroudsburg Crank.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 1.—Mason T. Huntsman, a former resident of this town is again in trouble. Huntsman is charged with performing vile acts under the guise of religious rights, and has been placed in the Hackensack, N. J., jail. Huntsman is regarded by his friends here as a religious crank. Of recent years he has been traveling with an "angel band" on the "Lord's farm," at Woodcliff, N. J. The band recently has been broken up. Many old residents of this town well remember Huntsman in his younger days. An old resident said: "Remember 'Mase' Huntsman? I should say I do. He was a queer stick from the time he was able to toddle about. Haven't heard of him for years until those angels dancers got pulled in and Mase at the head of them. He left here when a young man."

Huntsman proclaims himself greater than Jesus Christ, and in order to prove this has burned every Bible in his possession, declaring that he is the living apostle of God, and that the Bible has no need of being consulted while he is around to teach their religious duty. Among the pious and highly exemplary doctrines which this man teaches to his flock and in the world at large is celibacy. This is the solid rock foundation upon which he finds his fanatic creed.

UNTERRIFIED AT WAR.

All is Not Harmony in Ranks of Monroe County Democrats.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 1.—All is not harmony in the Democratic ranks in Monroe county. The recent ticket nominated at the Democratic primaries is to be opposed. Ex-County Treasurer Morris Nauman, a well known Democrat, today announced himself as an independent candidate for county commissioner. Mr. Nauman further states that there will be several other independents who will soon announce themselves for office. The possibility of a full independent group is a rather novel thing in the field this fall is not very pleasing to the party leaders. For the past twenty-five years or more the Democrats have run things to suit themselves and only until within recent years have they allowed a Republican commissioner to be elected. There was a bitter opposition at the primaries against some of the candidates nominated and the indications point to a lively time this fall.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Sept. 1.—The feature of today's market was the vigorous effort of the bulls about midday to lift the market out of its listless and heavy condition by a sharp advance in the Vanderbilts. The very noticeable advance in the Vanderbilts was not shared by the other railroads. A floor of realizing that prices sold off to the lowest point of the day, which was in many cases as much as $1 per share below the night's level. The bears had a hand in the decline but the demand from shorts to cover was light and rallies in the general list were of small proportions. The movement of the market generally through the morning was exceedingly small either way except in a few individual cases. Chicago and Eastern time was quiet and the market above par, but relaxed nearly three points. The movement of the specialties in the first hour was a good deal mixed. Consolidated Gas and Tompkins Coal shooting up 2 points, but the Tobacco stocks, Brooklyn Transit and Sugar were heavy in tone. Only a little better noon session. The market was quiet and steady on a revival of the old story of the absorption of the former by the latter. About the same time the appearance of the effort midway of the day. The report showed in detail the rather striking economies effected by the consolidation of that great system. The result was a rise in the Union Pacific stocks were bid up a point, giving color to a rumor that the much talked of trans-continental consolidation was about to be perfected. The very noticeable advance in the Union Pacific coming out on the rise and the detection by the bears of selling for long account brought a determined raid and realizing movement all along the line. The gains which had been extended in some cases to near a point were quickly wiped out. The general level of the market fell below last night. Brooklyn Transit dropping 2 points. Central Pacific lost 1/2. The market was very listless during the last hour and closed generally easy at an average decline. London set higher prices and bought here to a moderate extent but this support was without avail to sustain the market. The fear of an unfavorable bank statement was a heavy weight on the market. The New York clearing house banks have not yet reported on the clearing of the interior movement and to the sub-treasury. Shipments on balance to the interior of the value of nearly $200,000 can be traced. The statements of the sub-treasury during the week show that institution to have absorbed an amount of internal revenue and customs payments and deposits for shipment to the interior something like $300,000 after allowing for payment of $100,000 on account of drafts from the San Francisco mint. Some allowance is to be made for receipts in gold at office offices which are credited to the bank but there is an apparent loss of cash of nearly $500,000. There is no evidence of any sufficient reduction of deposit liabilities by contraction of loans or by any other means. Total sales $11,300.

There was not much doing in the bond market today but prices were relatively more firmly held than in stocks. Total sales par value, $1,500,000.
