Entertainments Arranged for Benefit of St. Luke's Summer Home.

Scranton will be provided with a splendid series of five entertainments this fall and winter by the entertainers committee of the Men's Guild of St. Luke's parish.

These entertainments will be for the benefit of St. Luke's Summer Home for Women and Children on which a small debt still remains. In arranging the course the committee wisely chose entertainments which will appeal to popular taste, by being both interesting and amusing.

The cost of securing the various attractions is such that the profit to accrue to the Home will be comparatively small, but the committee correctly reasoned that if only first class attractions were presented the patrons would feel a double satisfaction in having helped a deserving cause, and in having received full value in the way of entertainment for the money expended.

The list of attractions is as follows: General John B. Gordon, Fred Emerson Brooks, Willis E. Dudley, Dr. Edson, Hoyt L. Conary.

General Gordon, who will appear first, needs no introduction to a Scranton audience. His splendid lecture on "The Last Days of the Confederacy," coupled with his brilliant oratory and fervid patriotism, was heard by a large audience in the Young Men's Christian Association hall a year or two ago. It is safe to say that every person in that audience will want to hear General Gordon again.

Fred Emerson Brooks, the "California Post," comes highly endorsed by such well known writers as President McKinley, Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, Hon. John Sherman and a host of other prominent public men.

Willis E. Dudley is a unique entertainer with his illustrated talks on the "Adventures of a Kodak Friend." Imagine the description of a "Kodak Friend" following Caesar's army or the Crusaders.

Dr. Edson, who was connected with the United States navy during the late war with Spain, and whose magazine articles have been so popular will relate the incidents of the Battle of Santiago as he saw them personally. This lecture is highly endorsed by naval officials on account of its accuracy, and has delighted large audiences in various cities on account of Dr. Edson's interesting manner of delivering it.

Hoyt L. Conary, the last on the list, is regarded as one of the greatest comedians of the day. His "Archie the Stove" with character impersonations is one of the funniest productions that could be procured.

Ideal Home Site.

The sale of West Park lots goes merrily on with unprecedented rapidity. It is not strange that they should when one considers the unparalleled location and easy terms on which these lots are being sold. You are invited to inspect this plot at your earliest convenience. For prices, terms, etc., apply at newly erected office on the plot.

EXCURSION OF THE HOME.

Binghamton the Destination and Sept. 14 the Date.

Through the courtesy of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, the Home for the Friendless will conduct an excursion to Binghamton on Sept. 14. It will probably be the best patronized affair of the kind which has ever gone out of Scranton. The said financial straits of this excellent institution are well known and the public is anxious to help the Home. When a trip which ordinarily costs $2.50 is to be enjoyed for the sum of one dollar, the opportunity is one not to be lost.

For many reasons Binghamton has always been the most popular destination ever selected for these annual outings. The beautiful city and its many attractive suburbs, its parks and trolley rides afford pleasures for the day, and, too, there is now scarcely a dollar in the treasury and the autumnal interest account will soon be due. The excursion funds are absolutely needed for food and domestic expenses. The management will be out today selling tickets. Give them your cordial welcome.

Sale of Building Lots in Scranton. The Round Woods Tract.

There are lots and lots for sale in Scranton and vicinity. May be 10,000 or more. It is not necessary to deal in a lot and build a home can make a satisfactory selection. There are the Tripp Tract, the Farr Tract, the Scranton Land Company Tract in South Scranton, about 200 acres, soon to come into market, the Oram Farm (West Side Park) and others, and last but not least there is the ROUND WOODS PARK, the Idyl of Scranton. This tract is being put in fine condition. It consists of ninety-five acres (the Round Woods tract, twenty-two acres). It is certainly most beautifully situated for homes. The streets will be fine and are now being graded. The boulevard will be the finest street in Scranton or vicinity. It extends from South Main avenue through the Round Woods. The woods are thick and have been cleared out and it is a pleasure to walk or drive through them while breathing the clear invigorating air, and viewing the delightful rustic scenery. As the editor of the Scranton Sunnabend Journal says: "It is the most desirable location for a home in the city."

The streets on this property are South Main avenue with beautiful residences on the east side, facing the tract, Round Woods lane on the city line to the Round Woods, Dartmouth street, named after the well known Vermont college, Bryn Mawr street named after the well known Philadelphia ladies' college; Vandewater Boulevard, a good old dutch name, and the name of the very finest boulevard in America (St. Louis). Corned street, named after the great university which overlooks Cayuga lake in New York state; Amber street, a young lady's name; seat of learning at Amherst, Mass.; Sloan avenue, named for the ex-president of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company; Porter street, after the able and efficient president of the Traders' National Bank; De Sales street, named after the middle name; Parrott street, after one of the most efficient employees of the First National Bank.

Mr. W. W. Watson, the sole proprietor of this property proposes to continue the improvements for the benefit of the purchasers of lots and the whole tract is a better place of residence than any other property in this city. He has already purchased 1,000 shade trees which will plant along the streets in the tract this fall. He will spare no pains or expense to make this property an ideal place.

A large handsome house has been built on the boulevard near the woods to which all are welcome, whether contemplating purchase or not.

Lots are now being sold at the office on the premises at prices ranging from $200 to $1,500, according to size and location.

Mr. Watson charges but five per cent interest on time payments, and will make liberal discount when full purchase price is paid on delivery of deed. He says he will make a special discount of twelve per cent during the month of September, upon lots, the prices of which are from $200 to $800. This is a special offer and will not be in force after September 30.

Mr. Watson will if desired build houses upon lots and sell the same at the price of the lot, adding the actual cost of the house, making no charge for large handsome architect, upon easy terms. It will be well to select a site for your home until you have inspected Mr. Watson's Round Woods tract, and investigated the unexcelled advantages offered to purchasers of these lots.

Purchase of a lot on this tract will never suffer the reverse as common to property holders who have been inveigled into putting their hard earned cash into undesirable real estate.

COOPER COULD NOT EVEN GET A PLACE

FAST CYCLERS AT THE BIG WILKES-BARRE MEET.

West End Wheelmen's Initial Race Under the Auspices of the New National Cycling Association, Brings Together Most of the Crack-Jack Cyclers of the Country. Kiser Won His Heat and Race but His Rival for the Championship Could Not Qualify.

Five most interesting cycle races marked the first day of the sixth annual grand circuit meet of the West End Wheelmen at West Side park, Wilkes-Barre, yesterday. It was the first meet to be held there under the auspices of the National Cycling Association, and it is safe to say it will not be the last, judging from its success.

Some of the best men in the country were among the contestants and as an additional and highly novel feature there was a motor-cycle paced race between two of the most famous of long distance men, Miller, the world's champion, and Henry Caldwell, the middle distance crack of Boston.

Among the most noted of the participants were Earl Kiser, Tommy Cooper, Hardy Downing, the Sims Brothers, A. C. Mertens, Bob Walthour, Al Newhouse, E. D. Stevens, Jay Eaton, Otto Mayo, John T. Fisher, Frank L. Kramer, national amateur champion; George H. Collet, John H. Lake, Warren Zurbrick, F. A. McFarland, H. B. Freeman, Owen Kimble, nearly all of whom have or have recently had a national championship of some kind in their possession. Miller proved the big favorite. When he was introduced, with mention of his great performances in the six day races and in the seventy-two and one hundred hour races in France, there was loud and long applause.

TRACK WAS FAST. The track was in fine condition and the day was perfect for racing, cloudy, windless and just the proper temperature. Alexander's band occupied a pavilion alongside the judges' stand and enlivened the finishes and recesses as only Alexander and his men can.

The feature of the racing was the failure of Tommy Cooper to get a place. He was looked upon as a fairly sure winner of the mile championship, but disappointed everybody by falling down completely. This is his style, however, strong one day and weak the next. It is his turn to be strong today.

In the matter of general interest, however, the motor cycles, or infernal machines, as they have come to be called, were the chief feature. They are certainly a wonderful thing, even for these days of marvelous moving machines. In appearance they are like a tandem in action, they are a cross between a bicycle and an automobile. In fact, they are both, for they can be propelled solely by the rider or by the machinery without the aid of the rider. In a brief way, they are long tandems, carrying a naphtha engine between the two wheels. The riders and engine work in unison, the power contributed by all three being concentrated at the high-geared rear wheel. The engine does the hard work; the riders furnish the speed. The rear riders attend to the engine, as well as helping to peddle, while the front rider sets the pace and does the steering.

MILE PROFESSIONAL. The first event, the one-mile professional, 2.10 class, developed an exciting finish in each of the three heats and the final. The first heat was paced by Caldwell and was fast for a half-mile unbanked track, 2.13 1-5. Mertens paced the next two heats and brought the string around in lively fashion. In the second, he allowed a hot in the third, as the time, 2.23, indicates. Eaton and Fisher, who held first and second place in the third heat, won the final in the same order.

The one-half mile open, amateur, was run in three heats. In the first heat Frank L. Kramer, of New York, the amateur champion, had as his competitors George H. Collet, of New Haven, who won three short distance championships at Indianapolis last year, Elmer J. Willman and Russell H. Pohl, of Wilkes-Barre, also ran. Pohl had a spill at the first turn, but picked himself up and actually passed the champion and Collet, but they didn't stay passed for more than a few seconds. Kramer jumped in and took the lead easily and came listlessly under the wire, leading Collet by a wheel.

Aaron Zurbrick, of Buffalo; J. H. Lake, of New York, and Andrew Gaffney, of Wilkes-Barre, made a close and exciting finish in the second heat. Zurbrick and Lake crossed the tape at the same instant and a dead heat was declared. Some thought this would entitle Gaffney to a place in the final, but they were disappointed when the judges announced that he must be considered a third when there were two firsts.

The third heat was a veritable loaf and the crowd yelled for them to be called back. G. Burt Hart, William Croughan, Charles Neuber and C. A. Brown, all of Wilkes-Barre, were the starters. Hart won, with Brown second.

and Croughan third. The time was 1.21 4-5.

The final was a victory for Collet and Zurbrick over Champion Kramer, the latter being caught napping when the time for the sprint came. The time was 1.07.

MILE CHAMPIONSHIP.

There were thirty-two entries and starters in the one-mile championship, professional. In the first heat were Orlando Stevens, Downing, Will Sims and Eaton; in the second, McFarland, Cooper, Walthour and George Kramer; in the third, H. B. Freeman, E. D. Stevens, Kimble and Kiser; fourth heat, Newhouse, John T. Fisher, Mayo, Babcock and Fred Sims.

In the second heat, when Cooper failed to get a place, McFarland and Walthour came in a tie and McFarland won the toss. The crowd believed that Walthour had won and hissed the decision.

Kiser's finishes were of the Garrison style and made him a great favorite. The handicap was a hard bit of racing for the scratch men, but they managed to overtake the first bunch in the fourth mile and had the contest at the finish to themselves. Kramer, Zurbrick, Lake and Collet finishing in the order named. There were fifteen starters, all the others being local amateurs.

Miller's poor condition, because of his arrival on the track an hour before the race and an accident to his machine, gave Caldwell a walkover in the motor-cycle contest, the Boston man winning by three-quarters of a mile.

One mile, 2.10 class, professional—First heat, Hardy Downing, first; Charles Hadfield, second; William Sims, third. Time, 2.13 1-5. Second heat—Al Newhouse, first; Bob Walthour, second; H. B. Freeman, third. Time, 2.14 1-5. Third heat—Jay Eaton, first; J. T. Fisher, second; E. D. Stevens, third. Time, 2.23.

Fourth heat—Jay Eaton, first; John T. Fisher, second; Bob Walthour, third. Time, 2.16. Prizes, $50, $25 and $10. One-half mile amateur. First heat, Frank Kramer, first; G. H. Collet, second; E. J. Willman, third. Time, 1.25 1-5. Second heat—Dead heat between W. Zurbrick and J. H. Lake; A. Gaffney, third. Time, 1.12 4-5.

Third heat—G. D. Hart, first; C. A. Brown, second; W. H. Croughan, third. Time, 1.17 1-5. Final heat—Collet, first; Zurbrick, second; Kramer, third. Time, 1.07. Prizes, $35, $25 and $10.

Five-mile handicap, amateur—Frank L. Kramer (scratch), first, $25; Warren Zurbrick (50 yards), second, $25; John R. Lake (60 yards), third, $10; Croughan (325 yards), fourth, $5. Motor-cycle paced match race—Harry Caldwell, Boston, first; Charles W. Miller, Chicago, second. Time, 9.23 1-5.

The race promises to be a big attraction at today's meet. All the crack-jacks and motor-cycles will be in the contests and a fine programme can be relied upon.
