ENCAMPMENT IS FORMALLY INAUGURATED

Great Gathering of War Veterans in the Quaker City.

THE PRESIDENT ARRIVES

Weather Ideal and Streets Are Thronged with Grizzled Fighters in the War of Over a Quarter of a Century Ago-Admiral Sampson's Fleet Among the Features of Interest-Distinguished Guests Will Take Part in the Exercises-Enthusiasm of Sight-Seers.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.-With the arrival from Cincinnati today of Acting Commander in Chief Johnson, the thirty-third national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic was formally inaugurated. Colonel Johnson was accompanied by the posts of Cincinnati and several bands of music The commander was met at the Pennsylvania station by a large reception committee, headed by General Lyuis Wagner, chairman of the local executive committee, and escorted to his headquarters at the Continental hotel.

Every incoming train is bringing its quota of veterans and visitors, and the streets are thronged. The weather is ideal, with a bright autumnal sun and a cooling breeze, rendering sight-seeing enjoyable. Indications point to a continuance of fair weather and those interested in the encampment are correspondingly happy. To the visitors and Philadelphians alike the Avenue of Fame is the point of greatest interest The classic columns, gay with fluttering flags and bearing names of battles and commanders which summoned memories of personal hardships and sufferings, or more tender memories of those who died in the cause of duty, were absorbing objects of interest.

The War Vessels.

Early today the river front was thronged with visitors anxious to seglimpse of Admiral Sampson's fleet anchored in the harbor. The war | the real answer to the question of the vessels will be illuminated on Thursday night and tonight the searchlights administration, but that behind the will be displayed. At 6 o'clock this candidacy of Mr. John R. McLean for norning Camp James A. Sextin, on the governorship of Ohio, there is an Fairmount park, was formally opened with the firing of the national salute and the unfurling of the Stars and Stripes over the headquarters of Colonel Maginnis, who is in charge of the camp. An army of sightseers visited the park during the day. The veterans quartered there have been re gistered and a line of guards furnished the Sons of Veterans has been established.

The parade of the National association of Naval Veterans this afternoon aroused the greatest enthusiasm. As each of the five divisions swung nto Broad street the crowds which the fact that the Democrats are callthronged the sidewalks broke into a prolonged cheer that rose high above the music of the numerous bands.

The campaign for commander in chief is waxing warm. It is one of the fiercest contests that the G. A. R. has been engaged in for a long time. Tonight there are three candidates in the field-Acting Commander in Chief W. Johnston, of Cincinnati; Comrade Leo Rassheur, of St. Louis, and Colonel Albert D. Shaw, of Watertown, N. Y. The friends of each of the candidates claim that their favorite is alrendy a winner. A careful canvass among the different departments, however indicates that Colonel Shaw tonight has a little the better of the contest. The gentlemen in an interview tonight said that he was absolutely sure of victory, and said that the fight was all over. FRANCE FEARS

RESULT OF THE DREYFUS TRIAL MAY CAUSE TROUBLE.

Two Regiments of Infantry and One of Cavalry in Readiness to Move on Rennes in Case of Disturbance. Foreign Journalists Will Be First to Suffer in Case of Mob Violence. Session Unfavorable to Dreyfus.

Rennes, Sept. 4.-As the end of the Dreyfus court martial trial comes within sight the French government is beginning to display a fear that the verdict may give rise to troubles and He Is Praised for Having Pardoned orders have just been received by two regiments of infantry and one cavalry regiment already within hall of Rennes, to hold themselves in readiness to murch on the town at the first sign of disorder, to occupy all stategic points and to repress manifestations in their inception

The local anti-Dreyfus organs, by their anti-foreign articles, have already singled out foreigners as enemies of the country and there is little doubt that foreign journalists will be the first victims of the violence of the mob -not so much anglo-Saxons as Austrian, German and Russian Jews, who form a majority of the press representation of their respective countries. Today's session opened rather badly for Captain Dreyfus, as a surprise was of an Austrian political refugee, Eugene Cernuschi, who came out with a flat footed denunciation of the acensed, which, even though it may eventually be proved a pure fairy tale. is bound for the moment to exercise a. malignant influence upon the French people, who have not seen Cernuzehl and are thus unable to form a personal opinion of the man who launched there direct accusations against Captain Dreyfus.

aganst him. Nobody even suspects act." that he is what he claims to be, a scion of the royal servian house. On

It was remarked that as soon as he had delivered his testimony and M. Labori had asked to have him put unclosed doors in order that he might be punished if guilty of periury, he left the court room and was not seen again. Gernuschi's testimony, which was in the form of a letter to the president of the court martial Colonel Jouanst. was most unequivocal. He claimed that on three distinct occasions, twice in France and ones in Geneva, he was told by a high placed foreign officer that Dreyfus had communicated treasonable documents to a foreign power. the officer showed him documents emanating from Dreyfus and that this officer left France hurrledly two days prior to the arrival of Captain Dreyfus. The allusion was evidently to Colonel Schwartzkoppen, the military attache of the German embassy in Paris in 1894, whose movements were coincident with those described as the movement of the officer of Gernuschi's deposition. Now, this evidence is of transcendental importance to the prosecution and it is incredible, unless Gernuschi is proved to be a humbug, that the government commissary, Major Carriere, should have admitted that he had received a letter from him offering important testimony and thrown it aside on the ground of its coming from a political refugee, The deposition evoked expressions of incredulity. One suspicious feature was the fact that although the witness said he could not sneak French fluently, his letter to Colonel Jounust asking an opportunity to testify was drawn up in perfect French. He explained that he had been assisted by

The introduction of a foreigner as a witness for the prosecution gave M. Labori an opportunity to submit the most important request he has made throughout the trial, a request which, if granted, by Colonel Jouanst though this is extremely doubtful would certainly have momentous consequences M. Labori announced his intention, in view of the step taken by the prosecution in calling foreign evidence, to ask that inquiry should be made through regular diplomatic channels as to whether the documents mentioned in the bordereau were actually communicated and if so, by whom. This involves an application to the German government, which the court-martial is scarcely likely to approve. In any case the application means the length-the other developments of the day, it generally predicted, imply another fortnight's sitting, at the least. Gernuschi will be heard tomorrow behind closed doors. At the same time there will probably be an examination of the secret dossier to which Captain Cuignet referred this morning and which M. Laberi immediately asked to have produced in court. This dossier consists of twelve or fourteen documents. and it is difficult to see why, if they had any value the etat major have not had them produced earlier. > With nature doing her utmost to attest her good will and interest in the postmen, it is not wenderful that the day's events were so eminently successful in every particular.

For the afternoon turnde almost every building in the central part of the city was gorgeously decorated and the day was passed in merry-making lings fairly grouned under their weight of bunting and flags. At night many of these buildings were ablaze with postmaster from the station to the electric decorations. The most notable examples of the electrical decorations were the postoffice, Connell building, the Lender, Jonas Long's Sons and The Tribune. The electrical decorations tween Linden and Spruce street, were of a very brilliant nature and attracted visitors from all parts of the city and
