CONVENTION OF POSTMEN

employ to obstruct and hamper the administration in what they are pleased to term its Imperialistic Policy, thereby giving encouragement and holding out false hopes to those in arms against the flag of our country, that starchy emblem of our laws, of justice, of liberty, that bending their aid whether intentionally or not, in prolonging the conflict and needlessly causing the loss of valuable lives among our gallant soldier boys in the Philippine Islands, who deserve the support and congratulation of every American citizen for the splendid record they are making under the most trying circumstances.

Resolved, That we will resolutely uphold and heartily sustain the policy of the administration to the full extent of our power to the end that rebellion in the Philippines ended at once for all and the moral obligations we have assumed, fulfilled, and we believe that expedition, extended commerce, makes for peace. And that the event that leads the United States to her false economic position will do more than anything else can do to make the people of our world mutually dependent that war will become a thing of the past.

Resolved, That our national secretary be, and is hereby instructed, to transmit a certified copy of these resolutions to the president of the United States, speaker of the house of representatives and president of the United States senate.

The members thought the passage of the resolution would seem like the introduction of politics into the order and the report of the committee was committed in and a whole matter considered to be expunged from the record. Mr. Quinn then presented the following bill regulating the salaries of letter carriers and substitute letter carriers:

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, that after June 30, 1900, the pay of letter carriers in cities where free delivery has been or may be established, for the first year of service shall be $200; for the second year of service shall be $210; for the third year of service shall be $220; for the fourth year of service shall be $230; for the fifth year of service shall be $240; for the sixth year of service and each year thereafter shall be $250. All promotions from grade heretofore existing shall be to the next highest grade. Substitute letter carriers shall receive a salary of $100 a year and the compensation of letter carriers whose routes they may serve. Any substitute letter carrier who has been in the service two years prior to his appointment as a regular carrier shall receive for his first year's service $200, for his second year $210, for his third year $220, for his fourth year $230, for his fifth year $240, for his sixth year $250. All acts or parts of acts conflicting with this act are hereby repealed.

An adverse report was presented on this bill after a long discussion. The action of the committee was ignored and the bill was sent to the legislative committee for consideration.

Treasurer M. J. Connors presented a report as follows:

Balance on hand per last report.	September 18, 1898	$ 4,055.25
From E. J. Cantwell, present secretary	31.25
From E. J. Cantwell, present secretary	18,928.50
Total	$23,015.00
Gross disbursements	16,447.75
Balance on hand	$ 6,567.25

A pleasant diversion occurred at this juncture. President Parsons announced that the committee on distribution of prizes had requested him to make the presentations to the winners of the races at Lake Ariel on the day previous. Scully, of Pittsburgh, who was the first runner up, was called to the stage and handed a large packing box. When it had been opened and about a bushel of wrapping paper removed a miniature carrier's helmet stood for a running fire of good humored sallies from all parts of the hall.

Mr. Rinson, of New York, underwent a similar experience in receiving a miniature carrier's uniform as the prize for winning the fat men's fifty yard dash.

"Is there a man named Maloney here representing Buffalo?" inquired Mr. Parsons.

"There is, yer sir," responded the gentleman referred to.

"Kindly step forward," said the president.

Mr. Maloney, blushing, anxious and exultant ascended the platform.

"Branch 3 must have expected you would be busy," said Mr. 92, "and they sent you with the request that it be publicly presented to you." He then handed Mr. Maloney a hatter.

"Maybe he won't knock" and the 92 came from the floor.

At the suggestion of Chairman Keller, of the legislative committee, the convention voted in favor of printing the proposed new constitution as it appeared in the July Postal Record, so that it might be distributed among the delegates tomorrow morning before it comes up for consideration.

Mr. Haedel made a motion that the constitution be referred back for the approval of the local branches before being finally acted upon. The motion was ruled out of order as being premature.

At 11:30 o'clock the convention adjourned till 8 o'clock this morning. Three sessions are scheduled for today.

At the close of the session the delegates marched to the Federal building in a body and were photographed by De Witt.

At Mountain Park.

WHEN the local carriers' committee of arrangements some months ago reconsidered its refusal to allow Wilkes-Barre the privilege of entertaining the delegates for an afternoon it felt it was making a mistake.

Now it is sure of it.

In contrast with the treatment which Scranton has accorded its guests, that received at the hands of Wilkes-Barre was actually shabby.

One of the high officers of the national association requested the Tribune reporter not to repeat any comments he might have made on the delegates making on the way they were entertained (?). The request was a work of supererogation. The comments, at least a goodly part of them, would not bear repetition.

The visitors were given to understand by the Wilkes-Barreans that they would be given a picnic at the park in the afternoon and entertained in Wilkes-Barre in the evening. All they got was a slow, tiresome ride in the cars and a picnic on Mount Pleasant park, and this was believed, was far from being a source of enjoyment. Anything else the guests natchook had to be paid for. It was simply a case of taking an unpleasant four and one-half hours journey to patronize the picnic conducted for the Wilkes-Barreans' profit.

The start from Scranton was to have been made at 1:30, but owing to the delay of the delegates in reaching the station, the train did not pull out until 2:30.

Squire Donahoe and two Wilkes-Barre carriers comprised the committee of entertainment.

Each guest had been provided with a card indicating the number as being entitled to participation in the entertainment. These were distributed in the evening and as might be expected, many of them were either mislaid or forgotten.

The Wilkes-Barre committee in going through the train branches, railroad tickets for the identification cards refused to take any explanation for the absence of the little slip of pasteboard and informed those who did not have them that they would have to buy tickets or leave the train. Letter Carrier Michael O'Malley, of the Scranton committee, happened to hear of this, and overtaking the Wilkes-Barreans bought one hundred and fifty tickets from them and distributed them among the guests who were threatened with expulsion from the train.

After an hour and fifty minutes ride the park was reached and it was found that the Wilkes-Barreans were relying upon the visitors to do the rest themselves. Not even a first class car was at hand to furnish these needs.

The letter carriers' band, taking a charitable view of the situation, played a few two steps. They weren't offered as much as a glass of soda water for their services. The Scranton committee made an effort to buy of the refreshments, with the intention of distributing them free, as had been done at Lake Ariel, but the Wilkes-Barreans would not sell out, although $2 a keg was offered for the stock of lager, which sold for $12.

The Scranton Glee club took up a collection among its members and bought refreshments for itself and the drum corps and band. Squire Donahoe heard of this and insisted on paying the bill. L. W. Watkins, however, declined to permit of this, but the Wilkes-Barreans succeeded in having this money returned to the singers.

So thoroughly disgusted was everybody that when the signal for the first train was given all hands returned to the park and took to the cars, after having it explicitly understood that no stop would be made at Wilkes-Barre.

Then the railroad company took a hand in the entertaining. The first section started at 3:30, and consumed one hour and forty minutes in getting to Wilkes-Barre. Scranton was reached at 5:30. The second section reached Scranton at 5:30. Many of those on the last section took to the cars at 5:30 on the homebound journey. The lunch counters did a rushing business from 5:30 o'clock on.

On the way home the band played "He Never Cares to Wander" and "The New York City Blues." "What Little Fun was derived from the event was furnished by the two social organizations accompanying the party, the "Schnitzel Bank" club, of Cincinnati, and "Der Bund," of New York. The former has a club song on the "Johnny Smoker" order that is decidedly funny. The latter provokes no end of merriment with its "Kazoo" band.

On the pleasant surprise of one of the mail carriers' convention yesterday was the presentation to Delegate Tom L. Stanley, of Colorado Springs, of a wooden postal card of yellow pine, 18x7 1/2 inches, which was sent by his fellow-workmen in the postoffice of that city.

Mr. Stanley was quietly married the evening he got home, and his associates sent their congratulations through the mail. Postmaster Rippe received the following letter yesterday from Sol Dana, postmaster at Colorado Springs: "Colorado Springs, Sept. 3, 1899.

On one side of the board was painted the usual inscription on postal cards, with the following address: "Tim L. Stanley and wife, Just Married, Scranton, Pa. Care of Secretary National Convention, N. A. L. C." On the other side was a picture of Cupid, with the following names and congratulations:

CONGRATULATIONS OF POSTOFFICE EMPLOYEES OF COLORADO SPRINGS, COLORADO.

Edna H. Joslyn,	H. S. Foley,
S. A. Spencer,	W. W. Dick,
W. E. Goodrich,	E. P. Carter,
R. E. Chapin,	R. W. Davis,

The postage on the card amounted to $2.42, including a special delivery stamp, the stamps being arranged in the form of a horse shoe.

A special delivery carrier presented to the convention hall and President Parsons called Mr. Stanley to the platform and presented him with the union design. The gentleman acknowledged the joke amid the applause of the delegates.

Mrs. Stanley remained in Chicago on the way east and will be joined by her husband on his return home from the convention.

Convention Notes.

ONE of the most interesting features of the New York delegation of seventy, in their trip to Scranton, is their famous organization known as the "Bund," composed entirely of members of German descent. Herr Eberhardt is "Der Bredendler," Herr Ecker is "Der Geld Mon," Herr Moorowsky is "Der Bootblack," Herr Bumbuster is "Der Man for deeser," Herr Krieger is "Der Zetretakler," Herr Ecker is "Der Zetretakler," Herr Korner is "Der Vice and der Madchen Killer," "Der Bund," Herr Bernard is "Der Grosse Bassist," Herr Walters is "Der Cornetist," Herr Philipps is "Der Kleins Rath un-Bund," Herr Krieger is "Der Wacht Vogel," Herr McKenna is "Der Russ un-Bund," Das Honorary nit-gliet Thomas Bouncer is "Der Instrument Nager." The "Bund" was organized at San Francisco in 1897 and is in a very flourishing condition. It has 123 honorary members and has a bank account.

The Ohio delegates last week unambiguously selected Isaac Scholes, of Springfield, to serve them again as their state vice-president. Mr. Scholes is an active worker for the interests of New York in the convention. Cleveland is represented by nine gentlemen of more than the usual run of ability, led by William Llewellyn, its chairman.

The "Bund," the famous addition to the New York delegation, are keeping the good people of Scranton guessing what is coming next.

The drum and fife corps of Branch 26 made a tour of the principal streets of the city last night and were greeted with applause at every corner.

A New York city delegation, which was the winner of the handsome flag presented by the New York branch for excellence in all respects on the parade on Monday last, Superintendent Baldwin of that office left the city yesterday, taking with him the well-earned honor. Captain Taylor and the officers of that office are to be commended for the boys' efficiency. Their drill master is Eddie Hurlenstien.

One of the most pleasant events of the convention thus far was a presentation made by the New York delegation Monday. Mr. Mächen, superintendent of free delivery, just prior to his departure for home yesterday afternoon, the gift was a set of desk utensils made of coal from the mines of this city. M. A. Fitzgerald, chairman of the committee on entertainments, said to Mr. Mächen: "It affords me great pleasure on behalf of Empire Branch, No. 26, of New York city, to present this token. Words would fail to express the high esteem in which we hold you, but our every-day life as letter carriers will be made up to meet with your approval. We will strive most earnestly to keep the postoffice department always up to the high standard of efficiency which it now holds and which is due in a great measure to your able management of the collection of letters and delivery system." Mr. Mächen was taken very much by surprise, but after a few moments he regained his composure and in a brief and well-worded speech accepted the present. He thanked the delegation and said that he would do his best to merit the confidence which the presentation were Messrs. O'Malley, Ross and Saffath.

A request has been made to the delegates, through President Parsons, for the collection of letter carrier souvenirs. Secretary Cantwell is receiving them and at the close of the convention will forward them to the widow of the letter carriers' famous friend.

Delegate George J. Romm, of Bay City, Mich., will go to New York at the request of a convention to visit his uncle and meet Admiral Dewey. He says if he can get the admiral's car for a moment he will urge him to include Scranton on his visiting list.

Harry Whyte, John H. Phillips, Michael O'Malley, William Moser, Joseph Shields, Walter Nichols, Armit Thomas and Eleazer Evans were the local carriers who accompanied the delegates to Mountain Park yesterday. Chairman A. P. Bedford, Secretary E. E. Robathan and M. J. Kelly, of the citizens' committee, were also present to give a hand in entertaining the guests.

President Parsons' clever adjudication are his forte as a chairman. He is tact personified. If a delegate is consuming time to no advantage the chairman is never at a loss for an inoffensive means of calling him off. He also likes his little joke and every now and then relates the dull moment of business debate with a rich witicism or a good natured nag at some well known brother who may happen to make himself conspicuous.

At the first evening session he provoked no end of laughter with a clever evasion of a request from a delegate that the chair direct that smoking be forbidden because of the presence of ladies in the gallery. Mr. Parsons studied for a few moments and then said in all seriousness: "I hardly think the smoke reaches the gallery, but the gentlemen, I know, will stop smoking when requested."

Delegate W. J. Kent, of Chicago, who suffered a paralytic stroke Sunday is dangerously ill at the Jersey.

Delegate William McCarthy, of Butte City, Mont., is the guest of his aunt, Mrs. P. F. Callahan.

That Turnpike Again.

The city is to have more trouble over the Abington turnpike. H. E. Paine, president of the Turnpike association, waited on the city officials yesterday and informed them that the portion of the turnpike within the city limits, and which the city has agreed to keep in repair, is now in such a state of disrepair that the city does not make the necessary repairs at once the company will and charge them to the city, as has been done in the past.

E. N. Willard, Chairman.

J. T. Lutton, Hypnotist.

Gave an Exhibition Last Night in the Price Building.

J. T. Lutton, who for years was identified with the printing and publishing business in this city, gave an exhibition of his powers as a hypnotist last night that was at once amazing and entertaining. It was a private exhibition and was given in the Price building on Washington avenue.

Mr. Lutton had nearly two scores of subjects, and the feats he performed kept the audience convulsed with laughter. One scene was particularly mirth-provoking. It represented the trial of an assault and battery case in Alderman Kassar's court. The young man who for the time being thought he was Alderman Kassar, made a fiery dispencer of justice, and when an individual supposed to be Alderman Kelly got on the bench to assist the magistrate of the Ninth in trying the case there was trouble in plenty. All of the feats usually performed by hypnotists were given, as well as many new ones. Mr. Lutton's exposition of the powers of the hypnotist was probably the best ever seen in this city.

EARLY MORNING WEDDING.

M. T. Howley and Miss Mary I. Duffy United at St. Patrick's.

M. T. Howley, one of Scranton's prominent young business men, and Miss Mary I. Duffy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Duffy, of 1662 Price street, were united in marriage at St. Patrick's church, West Scranton, yesterday morning. Rev. J. P. Whelan, the pastor, performed the ceremony.

Did Not Enter Contest.

Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: In Monday's edition of your paper you published an article from the Binghamton Leader concerning Bauer's band at the Bremen's convention on Friday, Sept. 1, which we wish corrected. The article quoted that Bauer's band of Binghamton played the national anthem at the party given on the very broad platform that Bauer's band played so far superior to Bauer's, that we were afraid to follow.

Without going into the rest of the childish details, which are nauseous to reputable musicians, let me say for Bauer's band that the whole thing is the fabrication of some disordered weakling. Bauer's band was engaged for Thursday and Friday by the general committee, to give on Thursday evening at the Lyceum concert and to lead the parade on Friday. Twenty men were engaged and we were obliged to leave on Friday afternoon at 4 p. m. in order to reach Scranton, so that seven of the twenty could play in the Lyceum that evening. We never agreed to enter a contest for $50. We are not interested in the matter of service. We are not overly proud, but when we enter contests in distant places there must be more of an understanding than was given in Binghamton.

Lastly, the undersigned saw Mr. Bauer of Baker's band in Scranton on Monday, and he appeared to consider it not as much as our members. The Binghamton Leader will show its love of right by copying this article.

Very respectfully,
Wm. H. Prosser, Bauer's Band.

Going West?

Why not go via the Nickel Plate road? Many improvements have been made in the last few years and its service is now second to none. Three fast through trains are run every day in the year between Buffalo and Chicago, while solid through trains of elegant day coaches and first-class sleeping cars are run between New York and Chicago via the Lackawanna road. Remember, that rates via the Nickel Plate road are lower than via other lines.

For information call on any ticket agent of the Lackawanna road, or address F. J. Moore, general agent Nickel Plate Road, 291 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Change of Time on the Erie and Wyoming Valley Railroad.

A new time table will go into effect on the Erie railroad. The Lake Erie trains also the Lake Erie Sunday trains, will be discontinued on and after Monday, Sept. 11th 1899.

Joke on Stanley.

ONE of the pleasant surprises of the mail carriers' convention yesterday was the presentation to Delegate Tom L. Stanley, of Colorado Springs, of a wooden postal card of yellow pine, 18x7 1/2 inches, which was sent by his fellow-workmen in the postoffice of that city.

Mr. Stanley was quietly married the evening he got home, and his associates sent their congratulations through the mail. Postmaster Rippe received the following letter yesterday from Sol Dana, postmaster at Colorado Springs: "Colorado Springs, Sept. 3, 1899.
