THEY THINK WELL OF US. Brooklyn Letter Carriers Organize a "Scranton Club."

The following letter was received yesterday morning from "The Scranton Club, general P. O., Brooklyn, N. Y.:"

General Postoffice, Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 10, 1899. To the Carriers of Scranton. Dear Brothers: Heartfelt congratulations to dear Scranton and its people for the grand reception and hospitable treatment accorded us on the occasion of our Labor day visit to your bustling and beautiful city.

That day will always retain a place in our memories as one of the most enjoyable of our lives, and we trust the day may not be long delayed when you may be enabled to give us the opportunity to "get back at you." Unless you move quickly in this matter, you'll have the Brooklyn gang invading Scranton before you are aware of it, as some of the boys seem to have left their hearts there after them, and, of course, they are naturally desirous of knowing what care is being taken of them.

Please convey our thanks to the ladies; to those who cheered us on our way along the line of march, as well as to the ones who cheered and revived us at its termination. To all, best wishes. What more can we say than that none could have done better, and we doubt if any other city could do as well. You people did certainly put up the real article in the way of a good time.

So impressed were we with beautiful and whole-souled Scranton that we have decided to, and are now perfecting in this office, an organization to be called the "Scranton Club," whose main object is to re-visit your city, and to take care of any and all Scranton folks who may honor our city by their presence.

And now, dear brothers, we'll conclude, without saying anything like what we should, or what our hearts prompt us to, but with the hope that we may in the near future give you a good, practical proof of our appreciation. Again thanking you, and praying for continued success to you in all your undertakings, we remain, Fraternally and gratefully,

Frank J. Bertles, Fred W. Nash, Charles Hundlack, Charles W. Costello, H. A. Cotter, For Committee.

MR. VIDAVER'S OPINION.

He Writes a Letter on the Dreyfus Case That Is Very Vidaveresque.

The following appeared in yesterday's New York Journal:

Editor of the New York Journal. I cannot understand why the supposed prominent Jews whose opinions you published in yesterday's paper, and the boycotting of the Paris exposition in the event of the conviction of Dreyfus should attempt to throw out the erroneous impression that the Dreyfus affair is not largely a Jewish matter. In their wild endeavors to sink their identity as Jews and take on the broader hue of American citizens, they are fearful of admitting that the Dreyfus affair is of greater interest to the Jews than any other people on earth, and attempt a liberality of expression which no disingenuous correctness might be construed into pusillanimity.

True, a question of justice is involved which interests all fair-minded men irrespective of race or creed; but the question of Rennes must be resolved into the following proposition: Shall a man be convicted of a criminal charge of which he is innocent because he is a Jew? If I have stated the proposition correctly, why is not the Dreyfus affair one which concerns the Jews most?

Should Dreyfus be convicted, it is the duty of every Jew who believes in the conviction to be the result of racial or religious prejudice rather than an honest verdict dictated by the evidence to remain silent. The Jew who would venture where his presence will be greeted by silent contempt deserves it ten fold, and the Jew who is continually making a bid for popularity with the Christian neighbors by insulating his own race deserves the execration of his fellow Israelites.

I am not a prominent Jew, but the Journal is so far mistaken that I think it will publish the opinion of the ordinary, everyday Jew, who is disinclined to look the least bit into the matter and who is inclined to kick back when kicked.

ATTEENING SESSION.

The afternoon session opened shortly after 2 o'clock, with devotional exercises, led by the president, Dr. R. G. Beddoe, of West Scranton. Secretary F. M. Koehler read letters from the various schools in the association which showed encouraging progress in every section. On motion of Rev. M. J. Watkins, a vote of thanks was tendered the members of the Providence Welsh Baptist church for the entertainment of the visitors.

Mr. Chappel, chairman of the auditing committee, read the report, which showed several churches in arrears for dues. The report of the committee was received and accepted, and the committee discharged. Much discussion followed relative to the printing of the minutes, and a committee was appointed to attend to the matter for the coming year. The committee appointed was: Wm. Chappel, A. B. Clay and Rev. M. J. Watkins.

After the singing of a hymn, Mrs. L. M. Gates, of Scranton, read a paper on "How Best to Promote the Interest of Missions in our Sunday Schools." The members of the churches and teachers in the Sunday schools must be interested in missionary work, she said, if they expected to interest the children, and have something to offer them. A study of the Bible must also be followed in order to carry out work along missionary lines. In order to teach the pupil, the officers and teachers must know of the missionaries of the Bible.

The speaker also suggested several books and papers which can be secured furnishing ample missionary news of the day. Another way to interest the scholars is by letting them talk of missionary doings, and permit them to look up information, which will aid them materially in the work. The reason the world is not moving faster is because the American people are not following Christ's commands. Teach the children to pray for laborers and God will bless you in your efforts.

Rev. J. R. Ellis, of Blakely, who was on the program to read a paper on "The Prime Factor in Teaching," was excused owing to pressing work, and Miss Oriana Williams, of Peckville, read a composition on "An Essential Factor in Teaching." The paper was cleverly written and showed excellent preparation and study. The important factors, she said, is in teaching the children the essential truths of the Bible, and to have them understand the word of God.

A discussion on both papers followed which was opened by Rev. M. J. Watkins, Rev. S. G. Reading, D. D., the new pastor of the North Main avenue Baptist church also discussed the excellent papers read. Rev. J. R. Ellis also spoke.

Rev. W. J. Ford, of Green Ridge; Rev. S. Thomas, of Peckville; Rev. P. E. Botzong, of Waverly, and Rev. Thomas De Truchy, of West Scranton, were the other pastors who discussed the missionary papers read. The assembly sang the hymn, "What a Wonderful Savior," and President Beddoe then appointed the following committees:

Committee on Normal Classes—Rev. R. F. Y. Pierce, Penn avenue church; Rev. P. E. Botzong, Waverly; Z. D. Edwards, Blakely; Mrs. Byron Buckingham, Elmhurst; Miss Oriana Williams, Oliphant.

Committee on Program—W. J. Ford, Peckville, chairman; F. L. Hart, rd, West Lenox; J. J. Van Nort, Scranton.

Miss S. C. Krigbaum, of Scranton, followed with a talk on the "Primary Department Work," which was thoroughly interesting. We are rather apt to teach by present than action, she said. The speaker offered many excellent suggestions to the primary teachers and presented several pictures and other interesting things as illustrations which will interest the children. Singing is helpful, but he cautioned who sing. The talk was very good and was received with much interest.

In the discussion which followed the speakers were Dr. R. G. Beddoe, of West Scranton; Mrs. Botzong, of Waverly; Rev. M. J. Watkins, of Factoryville; F. M. Koehler, Scranton; Rev. Botzong, of Waverly.

Previous to adjournment it was decided to print the papers read by Mrs. Gates and Miss Williams in the minutes of the proceedings.

EVENING SESSION.

The evening meeting was begun at 7:30 o'clock with a prayer and praise service, led by Richard Nichols, of the Jackson Street Baptist church. A address on Sunday school work was given by Rev. James Hughes, late of Kimberly, South Africa, and a consecration meeting followed, which was led by Rev. W. H. Sowell.

Commencing at 10 o'clock this morning the Abington Baptist association will convene in its ninety-second anniversary rally of the Baptist Young People's union will be held in the same church.

ALLIANCE CONVENTION.

Was in Session from 6 O'Clock A. M. Till Late in Evening.

"The Anointing at Bethany" was the subject of Mr. J. E. Jaderquist, of Syracuse, N. Y. He spoke of Jesus' gift of precious ointment as a gift of love, not of charity; also, a gift of faith, for Mary had learned well sitting at the feet of Jesus that Jesus was to die and be buried and "against the gift of His burying" she kept the gift. He said that the devotion of Jesus, who brought forth the opposition of the adversary, represented by Judas Iscariot.

In the afternoon, after a testimony meeting, Mrs. F. H. Smitz spoke on the text, "The name of the Lord is a strong tower, the righteous runneth into it and is safe." He spoke of the name of God that has left us to us a sure refuge, the name of the Lord. In that name there is power to overcome every enemy.

Rev. Mr. Smitz and Rev. E. D. Whiteside followed with addresses on divine healing, giving personal testimonies of their healing.

At the evening service, Rev. E. D. Whiteside preached a gospel sermon from the text found in Galatians, 3:10-12.

The quartette sang at the different services, and will remain to speak and sing at the devotion of the evening. Miss Louise Shepard, of New York, and Rev. Howard Smith are expected today. Rev. A. B. Simpson, of New York, the president of the Christian Missionary alliance, is expected to preach on Thursday afternoon and evening.

Whether or not they succeeded in having the knot tied has not developed. Mr. Ormsby is a son of Colonel Sidney M. Ormsby, of Norristown, a prominent G. A. R. man.

JUGGLING WITH THE RAGING LACKAWANNA

OPPOSITE RIPARIAN OWNERS ARE BUFFETING IT ABOUT.

Judge Edwards Called Upon Yesterday to Hear the Story of How Two Property Owners in Capouse Are Trying to Get Rid of the Noble Stream—Rule on Cornelius Smith in the Case of Burke Against the Delaware and Hudson Company.

Evidence is being taken by Judge Edwards in the equity suit of George W. Finn against P. P. Carter and others, in which the plaintiff seeks to restrain the defendants from narrowing the Lackawanna river at Capouse.

The plaintiff bought a tract of land on the west side of the river at that point and cut it up into building lots.

The course of the stream bends away from this plot at its southern extremity and the current in consequence brings the shore along the Finn tract, a condition of affairs extremely undesirable because of the fact that the plot is likely to be gradually washed away.

A long retaining wall on the opposite side of the stream, which the defendants have probably erected and which they propose to complete is responsible in a great measure, the plaintiff says, for his building tract being made a buffer for the current, and he is in court endeavoring to have the wall done away with, alleging that it is built on the bed of the river.

The defendants admit they have a wall there but claim they have a right to put it there, first, because it is not on the bed of the river, but on their own titled land, and second, because the foundation of the wall has been there for over twenty-one years and whatever it encloses is theirs by squatter rights.

They strongly insist though that the wall is not in the river bed. It was built years ago at the edge of their land to prevent the backing up of water in time of freshets. Water courses against the wall, they admit, but allege that this is due to the fact that the plaintiff on the opposite side of the river built an embankment that narrowed the channel and causes the water to crowd over on their land and consequently against their wall.

A large raft of testimony was produced to establish the original line of the river. The case was on at adjournment and will be resumed this morning.

J. W. Carpenter represents the plaintiff, and S. B. Price and J. E. Burr the defendants.

The ex-mayors who are wanted as witnesses in the Arthur avenue case could not be secured yesterday and the matter went over until today.

Rule on Cornelius Smith.

Ex-Judge Jessup yesterday secured from Judge Edwards a rule on Attorney Cornelius Smith to compel him to show cause why the case of Patrick Burke against the Delaware and Hudson company in which Mr. Smith represents the plaintiff, should not be stricken from the trial list.

The case was non-suited in 1894 at the cost of the plaintiff. Without securing permission of court Mr. Smith, it is claimed, had it discontinued. Then without paying the costs the case was renewed. The defendant demands that its bill of costs in the original case amounting to $111 be paid before the case can again be allowed to remain on the trial list.

He Wants to Know.

Yesterday court granted a rule on Mary McDonough, William McDonough, Anna McDonough, Celia McDonough, Mrs. Ellen O'Hara, Richard O'Hara, Marie McEann and Barney McEann, heirs-at-law of David McDonough, deceased, to compel them to bring an action of ejectment within six months from the time the rule is served on them to prove their claim to a lot of land at the corner of Chestnut and Shoemaker streets in Dunmore, now in the possession of James Murray.

Mr. Murray, who secured the rule, is desirous of settling once and for all the claims of the McDonough heirs on the property. Hon. J. C. Vaughan is his attorney.

OBITUARY

John Roll died yesterday at his home on Jefferson avenue, after an illness extending over several months. Early in July he went to Mount Clinton, Mich., hoping to gain relief by air-bathing. He returned suffering from sciatica of the liver, but was considered to be improving until Sunday night. He has been in a comatose condition since Monday afternoon, from which he never rallied, passing away yesterday afternoon. Mr. Roll was born in New York city, Sept. 25, 1846. He married Miss Mary Powell, sister of J. J. Powell, the music firm, by whom he is survived. He was for fourteen years a bookkeeper with the Dickson Manufacturing company, and leaves many friends both in business and social circles. The funeral services will be held at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning from his late residence. The remains will be taken to Pen Yan for interment.

John Lynch, residing at 12 Broadway, died very suddenly last evening, about 9 o'clock. He came home, and after partaking of supper with a friend, suddenly became sick. Dr. Walker was summoned, but Mr. Lynch passed away a few minutes after he arrived. He had been subject to heart trouble for a number of years, and Dr. Walker assumed his death to this cause.

Deceased was a widower and was one of the oldest and best known residents of Bellevue. He was employed as a tender in the North mill. The funeral announcement will be made later.

Mrs. Clara Bouray, aged 35 years, died yesterday at her home in South Scranton. She is survived by three children. The funeral will occur Friday afternoon from the home of Mrs. Helen Bouray, on Hampton street. Inter
