ENTERTAINMENTS, SOCIALS AND A LAWN PARTY.

Held in Beilevue C. M. Church, Tabernacle Congregational and on Mrs. James' Lawn Last Evening-Morey Disappeared Mysteriously-Ladies' Aid Society at Dalton-Death of Mrs. White-Funeral Announcements-Other Paragraphs of Interest-Personal Mention.

An enjoyable entertainment was conducted in the Bellevue Welsh Calvin-istic Methodist church last evening, which was attended by an audience that completely filled the church. Rev. D. D. Hopkins, the new pastor of the First Welsh Baptist church, presided. The vocal numbers were rendered by Misses Vie Jones, Beatrice Morgan, May Jones and Edward James, jr., the latter's rendition of "I Fear No Foe" being particularly well done. Recitations were given by William Davis, Sadie Jones and Sallie Price in a pleasing manner. Mrs. D. B. Thomas was the efficient accompanist.

Following the entertainment a Welsn tea party was held in the basement of the church and was patronized by an unusually large crowd. The menu consisted of many well known Welsh dishes and was served by ladies of the church.

A good sized audience assembled at the Tabernacle Congregational church last evening at the red, white and blue entertainment given by the young people of the church. Samuel Rogers presided and also delivered an address and phonographic selections were contributed by Hy Evans. Recitations Biodwin Jenkins and Bessie Diehl, and Mr. Evans also sang a solo. Mrs. Reese and Mrs. Evans sang a duet and a quartette sang "Good Night." A female double quartette also sang. Thomas J. Williams was accompanist.

An ice cream social was afterwards held in the Sunday school rooms of the church and many young people availed themselves of the opportunity to patronize the event.

A lawn social was held at the home of Mrs. Leah James, on South Main last evening by the Woman's Veteran Relief union. The yard was illuminated with Chinese lanterns and cream was served by several young ladies. The attendance was small, owing to counter attractions.

THE IRON TRADE.

State of Market as Indicated by American Manufacturer.

Pittsburg, Sept. 13.-The American

Manufacturer will say tomorrow: The total production of pig iron for 1899 will be about 13,306,675 gross tops. It cannot vary much from this figure although the increase may be slight During the first six months of year there were produced 6,294,456 tons of pig iron. This is taken from the statistics of the American Iron and Steel association. The estimated capacity for the furnaces in blast in July was 1.191,428 tons, and for August. 1,202,959, making a total to September 1 of 8,688,863 tons produced for the first eight months of the year. There are remaining seventeen weeks before the losing of the year. The estimated weekly capacity of the furnaces in blast Sept. 1 was 271,636 tons, which, multiplied by the remaining seventeen weeks of the year, gives a production of 4.617.812 tons. This added to the total of the production of the first six months and the estimated production of July and August brings the grand total to 13,306,675 tons.

It is scarcely probable that the pig output will be materially creased during the remainder of the The estimated weekly capacity on the first day of September was 271. 636 tons, an increase of an estimatel net weekly capacity on the first day of August of 2.604 tons. This is turn was an increase of 1,689 tons over the estimated weekly capacity on June 1.

All the big furnaces that can be put in blast this year are now at work. Their outputs may be increased, as it is doubtful if they have been working up to their capacity. This will not hange the estimate, however, as when cold weather comes many of the smaller furnaces which have been in blast continually since the first of the year will have to be closed down for re-

During 1891 11,773,934 gross tons of pig iron were produced. If the estimate on this year's production holds good it will be an increase of 1,532,741 tons, or an increase of 3,653,995 tons over 1897. This provides that the increased capacity for the production of pig iron is increased at the rate of 1.500,000 tons per year. A greater in crease can be looked for during 1900,
