FAMOUS TROUT

AN ISSUE AT STROUDSBURG OF INTEREST TO ALL ANGLERS.

The Question of Lawfully Catching Trout with Landing Net-A Decision Awaited That Will Mean Much to the Fishermen of This Section.

Special to The Scranton Tribune.

Special to The Scranton Tribune. Stroudsburg, Sept. 14.—The famous Pohoqualine fish cases will not be tried by jury an agreement having been reached between the counsel interested Judge Craig was to have heard argument in the matter today, but was notified of the agreement between the counsel. The suits will be heard some time between the 25d and 28th of next month. The cases have attracted widespread interest, and all trout anglers are interested in the outcome of them. A few months ago Mr. J. Price Wetherill a well known Philadelphia million-aire and Lewyer Elliott of the same city were arrested by the constable of Tions township on the charge of illegal trout fishing. At a hearing these facts were brought out. Mersrs. Wetheril and Elliott who had been fishing on landing net. The attorneys for the this was in violation of the law, Justice Graver after hearing all the evidence fined the two fishermen $100 each. The case was appealed to the higher court. Should the court decide will be earried to the Supreme court ns the matter is taken by the associa-tion as being one of vast importance and of interest to all anglers.

The association have employed ex-Congressman John B. Storm and A. Mitchell Palmer as their atterneys. The prosecution will be represented by ex-Collector Charles B. Staples and Wilton A. Erdman, esq. At the time of the arrest of the two men it created a sensation in sporting circles as both are well known wealthy men. The defense will make claim that landing a trout with a landing net efter the fish has once been caught is in accordance with the law. The general opinion is among well known anglers here who have taken an interest in the case that men did not break the law when they landed the trout with a landing Should the courts decide against the fishermen it will practically end all trout fishing in this state for years, as large treut cannot be caught without riages followed. the aid of a landing net.

Rosser, of Kingston, at the Presbyterian church last evening at 7.30 o'closs in the presence of several hundred invited guests. Rev. D. T. Smythe performed the ceremony. The interior of the edifice was prettily decorated by Florist McDonald. The chief eature of the decoration was an emcankment of palms and cut flowers before which the bridal party took their places. The strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Robert Webber, announced the arrival of the bridal party at the main entrance of the church. In the meantime the two bridesmaids, Misses Mary McCrindle and Lydia Cranston, of Wilkes-Harre, entered the side aisle, while from the opposite side came the ushers, William McMillan, of West Pittston; Frank Silverwood, of Kingston; David E. It was rather due to a reconsideration of the optimistic view engendered yes terday by the raising of the money and the sensational effect of the treasury department's decision to anticipate the payment of October interest on govnment bonds. Yesterday's upward movement has been reduced to its true proportions of a bear scramble to cover short contracts after having oversole the market in the rush of heavy liquidation on the preceding days. Estimates varied widely as to whether the liquidation had proceeded to sufficient lengths to reinforce the banks against the present and future demand upon their cash resources. Money continues to move to the interior and the banks have parted with upwards of $4,000,000 to the sub-treasury since last Friday. There was no evidence today of a fur ther urgent contraction of credit but the outlook for the future is that further liquidation may become necessary. Foreign houses are reported to leans yesterday and today and this may account for the comparative firmness of the foreign exchange market. Discounts hardened today in London have put out considerable sums in and Berlin in spite of the improved ondition reflected by the Bank of England's weekly statement and London bought stocks moderately in New York in continuation of the fortnightly settlement. The failure to increase the St. Paul dividend is also reported as an atimation that present prosperous con ditions of the railroads are not so well established but that ample provision must be made against recession. The extreme decline from the early high point ranged from 1 to 2 points very generally amongst the active railroads. The Grangers and Trunk Lines were especially affected. In the specialties movements were widest, Brooklyn Transit was under pressure all day and in the final dealings broke its previous low record on the movement and fell to 94%, at which point it closed 4% below yesterday. Tennessee Coal ranged over 31/2 points and closed with a net and steel stocks, were all weak before the close of the day. A number of obscure stocks showed wider movements than the average.
