CARBONDALE.

TWO SURGICAL OPERATIONS.

Mrs. Frederick Highhouse, of Hones dale, underwent an operation at Dr. Wheeler's Private hospital for the removal of a tumor. Her many friends will be glad to learn that she stood the operation well and indications are favorable for a rapid recovery. This was followed by an operation in which Dr. Reed Burns, of Scranton, performed an intestinal anastomosis on Frank Crosler, of Thompson. Mr. Cro-sler was injured last winter by having a 300-pound cake of ice fall on his abdomen. His escape from death at that time seemed miraculous. He has not been well since. It was found that the injury caused disease of the small intestines and yesterday's operation, which is one of the most delicate, is expected to very much improve his health. The surgeon was assisted by Dr. Edward Burns, of Honesdale, and Drs. O'Brien and Williams, of Scran-

HUSBAND AND WIFE RECON-CILED.

Frank Lestmator is forty years old and resides at No. 4. Several years ago he married a girl who is now twenty years old. A few years ago the wife ran away. Wednesday night husband and wife met on South Main street for the first time since her departure. Frank endeavored to embrace Phoebe and as she objected very strenuously a scuffle ensued. As a result the pair were locked up and yesterday Mayor Kilpatrick listened to their tale of woe. He fined Phoebe $5 on condition that she return to her husband. She agreed and Frank settled. Then they started for No. 4.

AFTER THE CONSOLIDATED.

L. A. Roberts, of South Church street, has taken the initiative in the circulation of a petition to councils asking for legal steps toward the condemnation and purchase by the city of the plant of the Consolidated Water Supply company. There will be no difficulty in putting on the names of ninety-nine out of every 100 property owners in the city. The increased rate will take effect October 1 and the public is determined not to suffer any longer than is necessary,

THE N. K. FAIRBANK COMPANY St. Louis NewYork Besten Chicago

Charles Leyburne and his own blg Bon Ton Stock company, which comes to the Academy of Music all next week, will present a class of performances worthy of the patronage of all theater-goers. During their engagement they will produce the following plays: "The Black Flag," "Census Taker," "Moths of Society," "The Middleman." "The Castaways." "Con-demned to Death." "Strange Adven-tures of Miss Brown." "Secret Enemy." 'The Train Robbers" and others.

Monday night they present as their pening bill the prettiest and most popular English drama ever written, Black Flag." It will be produced with all special scenery, and pleasing specialties will be introduced between the acts. Ladies' tickets will be honored in exchange for 15 cents on opening night if reserved before 7 p. m. Moa-

The action of Brodhurst's new fares all takes place during one summer day in the house of Smith. Three acts are used in which to tell the story, the first being morning; second, afternoor, and the third night, and the plot all hinges on the very natural desire of a loving bridegroom to have his home to himself during the honeymoon at least. At the same time everybody and everybody's relatives come to visit and remain with him.

He bribes his cook to make eating impossible under her tender care, and finally leaves home, but takes his wife with him for the honeymeon just as the curtain is tung down. As is usual with all of Mr. Broadhurst's plays, 'Why Smith Left Home" is splendidly staged, elaborately costumed and ilustrated by the following clever peo-

Frank Tannehill, ir., Albert Roc cardi, C. Jay Williams, Frederick Roberts, Irving Chauncey, Glibert Gardner, Bradon Douglas, Nellie Maskell, Jennie Engle, Lottie Williams, Rose Hubbard, Belle Chamberlin and Lizzie May Ulmer. It will be at the Lyceum. Monday evening, Sept. 18,

"On the Wabash."

Manager Rels is getting the most popular run of attractions at the Ly-coum theater this season that the ouse had ever had. On Tuesday night Sept 19, be will have "On the Wabash." which is spoken of as the best of all the plays that have been given to the stage by Joseph Arthur, and one of the most elaborate productions of the season. It is said to have all of the beauty and romance of "Blue Jeans." the fire and dash of "Still Alarm" and the life and realism of "The Cherry Pickers." These plays have been given Mr. Arthur an enviable reputation on both sides of the ocean and it is certainly promising a great deal to say that this one is the best of the lot, but the promise is said to be faithfully kept. All of his plays have been remarkable for their naturalness and the healthfulness of the stories they relate, this ne more than all. In it is one of those lovable women as a heroine and on of the bravest of men as the hero. The theme is a patriotic one, and one of its most thrilling scenes in the estap of the heroine's father, wrapped in the folds of Old Glory. Mr. Arthur found quaint people on the banks of the Wabash and after studyla, them faithfully has utilized them to the utnesst.

Orders will at once be given to the carl marshal and the officers of the College of Arms to proclaim him. The first proclamation will be made in the courtyard of St. James' palace, where the guard is changed.

Garter king, the chief officer of the college, will make the proclamation in olemn form, with the earl marshal, the kings and heralds and the pursuly ants in full uniform and mounted hard by. At this proclamation the monarch is present, sitting at the window, where all his predecessors have sat. That is the chiefest of the proclamaons. But the news has to be carried far and wide to the distant city, the rank of the proclaiming officer descending as the business proceeds. The second announcement is made at Char-) ing Cross and the third at the cor-Due ner of Chancery Lane. At this proclamation there will be a modification of the ancient form, owing to the disappearance of Temple Bar. Within the city of London the lord mayor and shoriffs preserve their ancient sovereignty and allow no ruler within their gates except after permission asked and granted.

The old form was for the junior pursuivant to rap at the gate ad show his warrant for proclamation. Then the lord mayor ordered the gate to be opened and joined in the stately procession.

The ceremony will doubtless remain, barring the knock at the gate, which does not exist. The last proclamation is made either at the corner of Wood street, Cheapside, or beside the royal exchange. In the provinces the proclamations are made by the local mayors, Being proclaimed and crowned, the king has to offer to fight for his throne. In the olden times, when a king reigned by the power of his right arm, this was necessary formality, and because it vas necessary one it is done still. But the king no longer does his own fighting. He has a champlon, the hereditary champion of England, whose business it is to do battle with all comers for the crown.

The champion is always a member of the Dymoke family. When the king is crowned he rides into Westminster hall, mounted and in full armor, just

A proclamation is read by one of the eralds challenging anybody who disputes the right of the sovereign to combat in an open space. The chamdon throws down his gauntlet as a guarantee of good faith, and then the earts of all the ladies flutter in anicipation of a fight. But it is all a disappointing sham.

f some enterprising person were to take up the challenge and the gauntlet e would probably be run in by the poto for creating a disturbance. The herald takes up the glove and hands it back to the champion, and then the king is firmly seated on his throne.
