

LIVE NEWS OF THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD

THE LACKAWANNA'S PROPOSED CHANGES AT BINGHAMTON.

What the Republican of That City Has to Say with Reference to Them—No Truth in the Story That Reese Brooks Is to Become General Outside Superintendent of the D. L. & W. Company—J. M. McAdams Has Been Brought on from Chicago by the Lackawanna.

The Binghamton Republican of yesterday contained the following: The president and general superintendent of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad have sent courteous replies to Mayor DeWitt and General Jones, who sent protests to the company against changing their "runs" so as to necessitate the removal of trainmen from Binghamton. Of course it is pleasant to receive courteous replies to such communications, even though the officers of the company cannot comply with requests. There have been complaints in the past that petitions to the former managers of the company received scant courtesy.

President Truesdale assures General Jones that the railroad company has something good in store for Binghamton, but evidently he is not ready just yet to disclose its nature. It may be the viaduct and a new depot. Binghamton would like such a present in its stocking.

It is not likely that the new Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company will purposely pursue a policy to injure Binghamton. This city is necessarily the terminus of two important northern divisions, and they will have to be accommodated. It is not at all likely that the company will neglect to accommodate the important business interests of Binghamton for Binghamton is a competing point, and does not have to depend upon one railroad. The Vanderbilt management of the Central railroad generally got along without friction with the many important towns through which it passes, and therefore Binghamton may expect harmony with the Vanderbilt management of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western.

Several years ago when it was alleged that old Commodore Vanderbilt was endeavoring to gobble the Erie railway and make a freight track of it, the Erie Classification bill was introduced to prevent consolidation. That law, which has never been repealed, prohibits the officers and directors of one railroad from having official relations with the other. Since that act was passed the Erie has been paralleled by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western which has passed under the control of the Vanderbilts.

The fast newspaper train last Sunday from Jersey City to Buffalo, which took advantage of the twenty-five miles shorter track on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western to beat the time of the famous Empire State Express on the Hudson river and Central, does not look much like using the Erie's parallel exclusively for a freight road. It is believed that the Vanderbilts are back of the plan to resuscitate the Hudson river tunnel between Jersey City and New York, and that advantage will be taken of the shorter Delaware, Lackawanna and Western route to reduce the time between New York and Chicago half an hour.

It is easy to believe President Truesdale when he promises that the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western has pleasant surprises in store for Binghamton.

Railroad Earnings. An Albany dispatch to the New York News Bureau, says the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad company reports for the fiscal year ended June 30, as follows:

Table with 2 columns: 1899, 1898. Rows: Gross earnings, Operating expenses, Net earnings, Fixed charges, Net earnings Erie.

The Erie Railroad company reports for the fiscal year ended June 30, as follows:

Table with 2 columns: 1899, 1898. Rows: All lines, Gross earnings, Working expenses, Net earnings, Coal companies, Total, Other income, Total income, Charles, Surplus.

The New York, Ontario and Western Railroad company reports for the year ending June 30, as follows:

No Truth in It. The story to the effect that Reese G. Brooks is to become general outside superintendent of the Lackawanna railroad, which has been in circulation for the past few days is unfounded according to Superintendent Loomis.

THIS AND THAT. The Lackawanna road, through E. E. Loomis, superintendent of the mining and real estate department, pays in wages and royalties between $900,000 and $1,000,000 a month.

TED JONES HAS THE GRIP. And He Rejoices Exceedingly in the Possession Thereof.

The official grip of the Mellon club which was carried in the letter carriers parade in San Francisco, Toledo and this city is now the property of E. P. Jones of the local branch of the N. A. L. C. He received it yesterday from J. M. Bishop, of Boston, a member of the executive committee and president of the Mellon club.

Each year the club votes the grip to some "good fellow" and this year the choice fell on Mr. Jones, who was particularly active in extending hospitality to the Mellon club.

Accompanying the gift was a very nice letter extolling the goodness and greatness of Scranton's hospitable people. Among other things Mr. Bishop was pleased to say was this: "Your branch and your city covered themselves with everlasting glory in handling the convention, and too much praise cannot be given you for the manner in which the arrangements were carried out. I hope the boys are not knocked out by their efforts of convention week and trust they are treasuring as many pleasant memories as I do."

STATE MEETING OF VETERINARIANS

ing source, as well as a saving factor to those engaged in the occupation of preparing meat foods for the people; be it

Resolved, That we earnestly commend this matter to the thoughtful consideration of all city officials and their servants throughout our entire state.

The following resolution was next passed regarding the appointment of State Veterinarian Pearson, whose term expires next December, and a copy will be forwarded to Governor Stone:

Whereas, The work of our State Live Stock Sanitary board has already attracted the favorable attention of many states and other countries, many of said states planning to follow the conservative and well-representing measures adopted by our state, and

Whereas, The successful results in dealing with the many infectious and contagious diseases occurring throughout our commonwealth largely to be attributed to the efficiency and wisdom of our fellow-member and state veterinarian, Leonard Pearson, and

Whereas, His term of four years now about expiring finds us in our commonwealth with well-defined plans; a united support of the people of our state, backed by the confidence of the profession at home and abroad in the confidence of the safe direction of these all-important affairs; be it

Resolved, That we cordially endorse the work of our fellow-member, State Veterinarian Pearson, and we commend strongly his reappointment to our governor, Hon. William A. Stone.

PAPERS PRESENTED. A number of papers were then read and discussed by those present. Dr. W. S. Phillips presented a paper on "A Veterinarian's Daily Observations." Dr. J. E. Butterfield gave one on "Oestrus Ovis" and Dr. E. Mayhew Michener on "Some Notes from Practice." Dr. Jacob Helmer, of this city, also presented a very carefully prepared paper on "Ethics of Consultation," in which he spoke of the duty and the proper performance of the duty of the veterinary surgeon.

The secretary then read a paper written by Dr. H. Repp, State veterinarian of Iowa, on "Meat Inspection in Small Cities and Towns." The doctor stated in the paper that there was more need of a thorough meat inspection in the smaller cities than in the larger ones.

and killed. At the present time the percentage of infected cattle found is only eleven per cent. If, of course, all cattle in the state were inspected the percentage would be very much lower.

He stated that the percentage of infected cattle in this particular locality was extremely low. In conclusion he spoke upon the grave and important need of meat inspectors in all the cities of the state.

The convention then adjourned to meet next March in Philadelphia. Those present expressed themselves as being extremely gratified at the treatment given them in this city and also at the water supply, they having been driven around Lake Scranton in the morning.

ARRANGEMENT FOR DRILLS. Orders Promulgated Yesterday by Colonel L. A. Watres.

Captain D. H. Atherton, adjutant of the Thirtieth regiment, sent out the following yesterday:

Regimental Orders No. 6. Beginning with Oct. 2, 1899, the several companies of the Thirtieth regiment will assemble weekly for company drills at their respective armories.

During the month of October, the companies of the First and Third battalions, with quarters at the Scranton armory, will drill as herein designated: Monday, Companies A and K; Tuesday, Companies C and L; Wednesday, Company B; Friday, Companies D and F.

The drum corps will assemble for practice on Thursday evenings of each week. Battalion commanders will assemble their officers for officers' school, monthly, and make report to those heads quarterly.

Company commanders will hold a non-commissioned officers' school for instruction once each month until otherwise ordered, and make prompt report through local commanders to these headquarters. By order of

L. A. Watres, Colonel. D. H. Atherton, Adjutant.

ADDRESS OF DR. PEARSON. The most interesting feature of the meeting, however, was the address delivered by State Veterinarian Leonard Pearson on the work of the state live stock sanitary board.

Mr. Pearson said in 1895 when the board began its work that there was bitter opposition by the cattle dealers, but that a gradual change has gradually taken place and that now cattle dealers and farmers in all parts of the state are heartily in accord with the board.

Mr. Pearson stated that the examination of cattle was not compulsory, but was only made where a request was received from herd owners. He said that at the present time there were three times as many applications as can be attended to with the present appropriation of $40,000 a year. Inspectors are, therefore, only made where it is known that a need for them exists.

When the work of the board began, Mr. Pearson stated that every application was, of course, attended to, with the result that over one quarter of the cattle in the entire state were found to be infected with tuberculosis.

The little woman now has tears of joy, for she took Hood's, which put her blood in prime order, and she lives on the strength of the present instead of worrying about that of the past.

Told Her Friend—"After having gone on my neck 42 years Hood's Sarsaparilla completely cured me. I was so glad I told friends about it and a lady in Wisconsin who read of my cure told me she also took Hood's for the same trouble and was cured. She thanked me." Mrs. Anna Sutherland, Kalamazoo, Mich.

THIS is only a branch of our Dress Goods Stock, but it's the most important of all, and we treat it with the care and attention that it deserves. In seven years of providing you with Dress Fabrics, we have never had so much in black to show you. There are hundreds of styles for you to choose from. We show them in the right center of the store, under a clear, pure light that is merciless in its disclosures of faults. Nothing but a good, rich, smooth black will endure this test. We have nothing else. There is no longer attached to black an exclusive significance of mourning. Madame Fashion has long since recognized its richness and effectiveness, and it holds a high place in her favor this season. The whole stock is one worth examining with care.
