John Baker's Narrow Escape-Successful Entertainment by Children.

Autumn Supper Last Night. John Baker, of Fifth street, West Mayfield, had a miraculous escape from death yesterday. While engaged at work in his chamber in the Delaware and Hudson colliery a large slab of rock fell without warning, the thin edge of the siah striking his feet. Had he been another inch or so further up the chamber he undoubtedly would have been crushed beneath the heavy rock. He was able to walk part of the way to his home, but was suffering considerably from shock and it was found necessary to get a conveyance to take him the remaining distance to his home. His injuries to the feet are not serious and he will probably be able to resume work again in a few days.

The entertainment given in the Sared Heart church by a number of the children of the parish last evening was well patronized and all who took part acquitted themselves with credit.

At the Gaiety.

The Invincible Metropolitan Bursquers gave an entertainment at the Galety yesterday that was characterized by some fun and a large amount of horse play of ear-splitting variety. The opening sketch by Eddie Westor is the liveliest farce ever seen on the Galety stage. Mr. Weston is exceedingly funny and his play, "Old Puddin Head," is decidedly noisy. The programme contained some pleasing specialties. The singing of Dan Tourjee was heartily encored, and the act of Frank North and Hattle South was amusing and original. The bit of buresque by Weston and Sophie Thorne was also excellent. A novelty was presented by Manning and Du Crow, the one-legged acrobats, who performed marvelous feats on the horizontal bar. The afterniece entitled the "Girl Bachelors in Camp," is advertised as a "master piece" on the programme, and certaily seems to reach the limit in the way of execrable productions, The costumes were handsome and stage settings appropriate, but the original music incidental to the performance was not up to the standard. The Metropolitan Burlesquers will be at the Calety for the balance of the
