

WOMAN SAID TO BE CAUSE OF TROUBLE

THE PECULIAR ROMANCE OF MISS FLORA SHAW.

She Narrowly Escaped Bringing About a Difficult War with England on the One Side and the Transvaal Republic on the Other.

London Letter, Philadelphia Times. This is the story of Miss Flora Shaw. Her name has probably never been heard of before in America.

It is almost amazing that story of Miss Shaw. Until a year or two ago she had never been heard of anywhere.

ON THE LONDON TIMES. For the purposes of this publication, it is only necessary to say that she became a member of the staff of the London Times.

With no regard to Miss Shaw's personality as concerned in her relations with the events in South Africa, it might be well to state right here that she is a young woman; by ordinary standards she may not be accepted as beautiful.

It is necessary to go back a few years. Cecil Rhodes obtained a very important position from the British government in South Africa.

It might have been better for the original peace of Cecil Rhodes that silver and diamonds should not have been discovered in the land which he had taken under his immediate control.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was devised to make these three periods safe and painless by restoring to vigorous health the organs involved.

was great and the feeling was intense. Almost before he realized it there came a discovery that the richest fields of gold and silver and precious metal extended into the territory of the South African republic.

It was at this juncture that Cecil Rhodes, premier of Cape Colony, found it necessary to make a trip to London. He had to know at the time he decided upon that journey that he was going to his downfall and that a woman was to be the medium of its accomplishment.

Sunday-School Lesson for September 24.

Third Quarterly Review.

BY J. E. GILBERT, D. D., LL. D., Secretary of American Society of Religious Education.

INTRODUCTION.—The lessons of the Quarter have been taken from six books.—Hosea, Daniel, Ezekiel, Ezra, Hagai and Zechariah. The first, fifth and sixth were written by prophets, the second by a statesman, the third by a priest, the fourth by a monarch.

INVITATION. (Lesson I.)—It is a most impressive fact that Hosea, the last of the holy men inspired to speak to the ten tribes, delivered to them a tender message, inviting them to return to God.

STEADFASTNESS. (Lesson II.)—Daniel in Babylon is a beautiful example of spiritual constancy. A young man, carried captive to a foreign country, takes with him the principles and habits of his childhood.

PERSECUTION. (Lessons III and V.)—The good man, who steadfastly stands to the right, must not suppose, however, that he will be freed from all persecutions.

DIAMOND DISCOVERIES. The Stories Told of the First Finding of Gems in South African Fields. The stories connected with the discovery of the various great diamond fields of the world are all of the most romantic interest.

INDIAN SUMMER. A Poetic Legend of Its Origin and Significance. From the Muskegon (Mich.) News. There is a beautiful tradition of the Indians in the poet lore of this vanishing race.

CHINESE HISTORY. Some Idea of the Antiquity of the Celestial Empire. From Self Culture. Authentic history and biography in China embrace a period from the year 221 of our era back to the remote period of 2597 years before Christ.

troubles. On the contrary his righteousness will expose him at times to the jealousy and ill-will of the wicked. Those trees that bear best fruit will be clubbed most by the boys. Two illustrations of this truth are to be found in the Quarterly lessons.

JUDGMENT. (Lesson IV.)—Only one side of God's dealing with men has been considered when the blessed state of the righteous is shown.

RESTORATION. (Lessons VI, VII, and IX.)—Three lessons, two from Ezekiel and one from Ezra, treat the return of the Jews from captivity.

SALVATION. (Lesson VIII.)—It was given to Ezekiel to foresee the happy results of the restoration. His vision of the river, emerging from the residue is placed in large gold on a table, where it is sorted with small tools.

temple, giving life to the inhabitants of the Dead Sea, causing verdure to spring up along its banks, making occupation for men, producing fruit trees, prefigured all those glorious consequences, which, long after his death, glorified the healing power of the gospel.

REBUILDING. (Lessons X, and XI.)—We have in two lessons two views of the great work which united the Jews after their return and enabled them to become a religious people.

CONCLUSION.—Thus in the twelve lessons, detached as they have been, taken out of various books that were written at various times, we have the high truths of religion, needed in every age.
