on individual councilmen, then will Le a reform in this city. When ever, person religiously refrains from throwing scraps of paper on the streets our city will begin to look respectable. First each of us must experience a personal revival in our own mode of procedure and next we must demand of the counclimen of our ward that they insist on certain steps toward a house-cleaning time in Scranton. We can do it if we will and it will be a long way better than to sit down and groan about the filthy conditions of our neighbor's back yard. Speaking of sanitary matters pertaining to water is a reminder of the regulations regarding Lake Swanton, which has been the nearby resort all summer of every one in the commun-ity who enjoys beautiful scenery and The other day the perfect ronds. owner of a fine hunting dog was walking in the vicinity of the lake. The dog approached the bank and a man who stood there, evidently without authority, stated that if the a .: o al went to the water he would primptly be shot. Naturally, the owner shied away from that locality, but he asked the protector of the realm why rules regarding the lake were not posted up for the benefit of the unintiated and incidentally wondered how it was that a herd of cows was allowed to peace. fully ruminate at the other side in water up to their sides. These queries the man could not answer.

It is so difficult to be consistent and to possess a judicial mind and it is so much ensity to condemn other people's failings. The man who daily returns thanks because he is not as other men are, in turn is himself a shining example of what other men don't want to be. The woman who wonders how on earth her friend can bring up her children like little savages, doesn't realize that her own offspring probably eat with a greediness bordering on beastiality or swear like mature pirates when they are beyond her hearing. It was a local clergyman who preached an impassioned sermon against the desecration of the Sabbath and bewalled the growing popularity of Sunday visiting and pleasure-seeking. But one Sunday morning he closed his church and had no service because some friends were coming from abroad and he wanted to meet the Sunday morning train that brought them to the city.

Dear me! It's such a hard task to regulate the community and ourselves, too. I often wonder that we don't give up the effort, but we never quite relinquish the struggle and such small thanks as we do receive.

Scranton and Wilkes-Barre are favorite places for the presentation of new works by certain authors, whether it is a case of "trying it on the dog" must be left to the individual julg ment to determine. At any rate both Frederick Hoyt and Victor Herbert have selected these cities for the initial presentation of some of their most famous productions. It is pleasant to announce that Frank Daniels will present Victor Herbert 's new opera. "The Ameer" in this city Oct. 9 for its first performance.

ord book is a proof of this theory. It Isn't our garbage barrel which offends our nostrils. It is our neighbor's, Our old Rover, who barks at night, never wakens us; it is the neighbor's cats or the neighbor's chickens which make our lives a burden. Our own method of conducting sanitary measures is al ways correct. It is other people's The Admiral Will Receive a Rousing plans which are at fault.

A lady made long and loud complaint the other day to the board of health because a neighbor used some unsavory kind of fertilizers on his lawn. The people in that vicinity on all sides of the complainant had been vexed for years because she allowed her maid to fling the contents of waste baskets lown the back steps, where the wind ld blow them where it listeth withregards to proprietary rights and ino fences. Another resident of this city prominently identified in a very most praiseworthy movement toward better sanitation which surely is needed, has a dairy place somewhere in the country, where the waste milk and the dish water from the washing of bottles is promptly turned into a stream which was hitherto clear and beautiful, blessing all the valley a losn which it flowed. Now if there is an ?thing on the face of the earth which smells worse than a dessicuting establishment or a glue factory it is spoiled milk. That lovely, limpid stream (that was) is now down its whole course an offense to earth and leaven. Its appearance is only a tri fle less disgusting than the odor, fo the water looks suspiciously like the milk which city customers have been known to receive at the hands of wills milkmen in times past, and in places the surface of the stream is a yellow and greenish scum, from which every self respecting cow turns wearily aside with disgust in her big eyes. Now polluting a stream is worse than throwing tin cans in some vacant lot and will be decidedly more of a menace to dwellers in the vicinity. Defective sewerage, careless methods in dispos ing of garbage, untidy streets and endas other offenses against decency and health are common in this city. It is dmost as dirty a town as 'he reading ities of China. Where else in civilization would if be allowed to threw bad fish into a gutter in front of a wholesale house on the chief streets and leave them there for days in the most aldeous condition of putrefaction Where elre This is done in Scranton. would open sewers into vacant lors be permitted? DEWEY AT WASHINGTON.

Welcome at the Capital ...

When Admiral Dewey arrives at the apitol next week, Washington will see the largest gathering of people in the history of the city, Nearly six hundred thousand people will flock to Washington next Sunday and Monday to help pay honor to the nation's greast hero. In order to give every person a rare opportunity of visiting Washington and at the same time witness the grand welcome which will be given Dewey, the Central Railroad of New Jersey will issue special excursion tickets to the public on October 1st and 2nd to Washington and return for $19.34, and good on or hefore October 5th, 1899. The Central railroad has the shortest and best route to Washington and every comfort possible will be given the traveling public.

the 1st time I ever new ov a news paper iz a red letter day in my karear. You man refuzing a drink. Long Just as I waz goin over the side the may you wave! is the sentiments ov A. admiral rusht up 2 me & hugged me Kidder & the rest ov the American saying, "Mr. Kidder you are certny a publick at large & awlso in jale. Yure wonder," & he sed it in sutch a sinsea name," sed I, getting my 2nd wind & tone I cooldn't help but think he told tawkin lowd enuf so the iniquitus rethe truth. He shook my hand hartily porters outside on the porch cood heer agen & wisht me hon voyage, & this me, "Yure name iz ritten indellably on ended the incident, az the French say. I wish 2 state that I am now prepaird let the genral publick shake the hand that shook the hand ov Dooey, at the uniform rate ov flets per shake. Reduckshuns 2 large famleys & children world & you deserve it awl! May yure in arms. Yures trooly, A. Kidder
