Butterfly Extravaganza Company.

The Butterfly Extravaganza company, bright effervescent and sparkling, is the attraction at the Galety theater three days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 5, 6 and 7, and daily matin-cs. H. C. Jacobs has spared no expense in making this organization perfect in every detail. Appear-ing in the olio are Monte Collins and Norma Wills, travesty artis's, Barrett Crothers, Irish comedians: Sisters Archer, a-la-rag-time dancers; the Eldridges, the colored swells, and one of he best of the season's offerings, Phillips and Naynon, with their trained tropical birds, 100 in number. This act has never been presented in this city, and Miss Dora Busch, the female baritone. The first part, "The Female Seminary," is on the farce comedy arder and is up to the hour, full of catchy music sung by a chorus of sixteen handsomely costumed young ladies. During the closing burletta entitled "A Quick Lunch," which was written for laughing results only, several big and novel acts are introduced The company numbers thirty people and carry all special scenery and effects.

King and Dancer.

One of the most dramatic events in the vacillating career of "Fredgrick the Great" was the appearance at his court of La Barbarina, the Italian dancer and intriguer and the bloodless battle he won; avoiding the snares in his path, was afterwards referred to by him as the greatest battle of his This incident is prominently referred to in the production of "Frederick the Great" by Lewis Morrison Friday and Saturday nights, Oct. 6 and The role of La Barbarina is played by that charming actress, Florence Roberts, who infuses into the character a subtlety that borders upon genius.

The scene between Frederick (Lewis Morrison) and La Barbarina is one of the most exquisitely delicious exchanges of humorous repartee presented in many years and the final interview of these people is a picture of such delicate and pathetic shading as to bring tears to the most blase. Special Saturday matinee.

Daniels' New Comic Opera.

The first production in this city of Frank Daniels' new comic opera, "The Ameer," will be seen at the Lyceum, retto by Fred H Rankes and Eirke La-Monday, Oct. 5. The mu ic of the Fire company are requested to report work is by Victor Herbert and the lib-Shelle. Those who have been privileged to listen to the music and book pronounce them superior to anything else that Frank Daniels has ever done. Mr. Daniels' own part is the title role. It is described as being full of quaint concelts which the comedian has develdecorations and asphalt dance of the oped in his own inimitable way. The inner life of the Ameer of Afghanistan Mr. Joseph R. Bell leaves Saturday has never been presented to public view. According to Frank Daniels' interpretation of that life it must be one cufficiently ful of incident to keep the monarch of that far away land decidedly busy. Comedian Daniels is said to be funnier as the Ameer than in any sup, at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, Inof his other characters.

The societies of the M. E, church have arranged with the Keystone Lyceum bureau to furnish five entertainments of a highly instructive nature. They are as follows: Oct. 14, The Cecelian quartette and Edwin R. The price for the entire five is $1, or single admission 25 cents. The Wilson Fire Company's hall will undergo several changes, making it the most desirable place for the entertainments. Tickets are for sale by Mrs. Simpkins, Mrs. Johns, Mr. J. English. Remember the date, Oct. 14, and do not

The Crystal Fire company, No. I, numbering thirty-five men and accompanied by the Citizens' band, will go down on the 11.29 Delaware and Hudson train this morning to take part in the Firemen's parade at Scranton. The company has been putting in considrable time for several weeks past in drilling and marching and we have no doubt but that it will creditably represent the borough. The William Walker, of Mayfield, accompanied by the Mayfield band, will also take part in today's parade and they also have been doining a little quiet drilling in preparation for the parade. Hogarth's band will also be in the parade and will head the Archbald firemen. Miss Josephine Davis, of the South End, entertained the members of her Sunday school class at her home on Tuesday evening. The boys had an excellent time and were provided with abundant refreshments. liver since Tim Murphy first appeared in this city in "A Texas Steer" he has had many warm admirers here among theatre goers. Last night he wen many new friends and got a firmer grasp on the old ones. "The Carpet Bagger,' in which he was seen at the Lyceum, is a story of Missbaippi in the days following the war and as Melville Chance, the carpet bugger governor of that state, Mr. Murphy does the best work of his stage career. It is clean out piece of character work, admirably conceived and eleverly excented. His latest characterization places Mr. Murphy in the front rank of the American character comedian.
