Convention Notes.

T HE CURRENT for the asphalt dance electrical illuminations was supplied from the big dynames in the private plant of Jonas Long's Sons' store. The current for the arch at the intersection of Wyoming and Lackawanna avenues was supplied from the same source. J. A. Mears furnished the current for the arch at the intersection of Washingtor avenue and Spruce street from the plant in the Mears' building.

Nothing in connection with the local end of the convention provokes more commendation than the harmonious manner in which ex-Chief Hickey and Chief Walker are working together. Chief Walker is making a very favorable impression with the visitors and promises to duplicate the former chief's success in winning popularity among the state firemen and Hickor is the biggest man in the state associa-

The oldest organized hose company in the state, the Hand-in-Hand, of Philadelphia, arrived in the city last evening, thirty-two strong accompan-fed by the Quaker City band. This company was organized in 1741 and has been in a healthy condition ever since. The Rescue hose company, of Shamekin will have in the parade with them today a minature hose cart drawn by the companys dog mascot. The car: was on exhibition in a Spruce street window last evening and attracted a great deal of attnetion.

The East End Engine and Hose company, of Hazleton, who will have fifty men in line today confidently expect to carry off the prize for the best appear-ing company. They wear blue uniforms, white hats with aluminun fronts and gauntlet gloves.

The Lebanon Hook and Ladderscompany and the Goodwill fire company of the same place, after leaving here on Friday will go to Ahentown where they will be the guests of the Allen hose company of that city until Satur day evening.

The Philadelphia fire company of Pottstown, came here yesterday in two REFRESHING. special Pullman sleepers which are side tracked and used as sleeping quar ters by them.

A apique organization is the Fire men's Active association, of Philadelphia, which is represented here by forty men. Membership in this body is limited to these who have served in the volunteer fire department prior to March 15, 1871, so that all the mem bers are over the fifty mark. Their ages rank 51 years to 50 years. The oldest member in this city is B. P. Frismuth, who is 76 years of age and who presents as active an appearance in his red blouse as some of the young st firemen. State Vice-president-elect Dunn dis tributed ribbons among the delegates yesterday afternoon after his election bearing the laconic significant legend "Its Dunn

Probably the largest company in line today will be Hose company No. 1 of Columbia, which arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, 125 men strong, Shawnee company No. 3, of the same place will also make a splendid showing with seventy-nine men in the per-

The streets were crowded yesterday with badge fakirs from New ork who came here direct from the Dewey celebration in that city. They are making a desperate effort to work off their left-over stock of Dewey medals on the firemen and others. Corresponding Secretary James A

Green has a record of twenty conven-

Among the badges he wears is one of the 1883 Scranton convention. It is the only one seen about the convention. Mr. Green is a delegate from the Cumberland Fire company, of Carlisle. Among the visiting firemen is W. C. Gretzinger, registrar of Bucknell univarsity, Lewisburg, who was overloyed to learn that in yesterday's foot ball game the Bucknell eleven had scored on the formidable University of Pennsylvania team. The overflowing attendance at Bucknell this year, which surpasses all records and has necessitated the construction of a $50,000 new dormitory, is largely due to Mr. Gretzinger's effective work in bringing Buckneil's advantages to the public's attention.

The Northumberland Fire company will today have one of the oldest fire relies in the state in the line of parade. It is the old hand engine May, imported from England in 1796, and which was in its day a proud fire-fighting machine. It is now guarded with jealous care and does not get far away from the men, who realize its old-time usefulness. The company will also bring with them the original charter of the Northumberland Fire company on which among the early dwellers in that town appears the name of Dr. Joseph Priestly, the well known philospher and chemist, whose discovery of oxygen gas placed him among the world's scientists. Secretary McAvoy, of the company, is desirous that all former Nortumberland men now living in Scranton turn out today to help receive them and to pull the old machine in the parade, blouses will be furnished, Hats and

This is the twentieth convention the association has held. The first was in Reading in 1889. Reading had it again the following year and once again in 1895. It was in Bradford in 1882; Scranton, 1883; York, 1884; Harrisburg, 1885; Altoona, 1886; Allentown, 1897; Shamokin, 1888; Carlisle, 1889; Chester, 1890; Hazleton, 1891; Lock Haven; 1892; Butler, 1893; Norristown, 1894; Reading, 1895; Johnstown, 1896; Wilkes-Barre, 1897; Lebanon, 1898; Scranton, 1899.

A hand that came in yesterday afternoon must have been at some prevlous convention, or else tooted better than it knew, when it played the new national sir, "There I! be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."
