There was a conference yesterday be ween Mr. Koons and his attorney, I. H. Burns, City Soicitor Vosburg and Mayor Moir, at which the dilemma in which the city is placed was discussed. The mayor decided to call councils to gether and present to the members the difficulties in the way of completing the sewers now under construction. It is proposed to have council give the city solicitor permission to confess judgment for the city's share of the South Side sewer. Contractor Koons will have no difficulty in negotiating the judgment and he can thus secure the money necessary to complete the

TALK ON THE PHILLIPINES

Was Delivered by J. I. Teasdale, Who Was a Member of the Second Oregon Volunteers.

Those who attended the talk on the Philippines at the Young Men's Christian association last night were well rewarded, as the address given by J I. Teasdale was of a highly interesting order. This gentleman, who has but recently moved to this city, was form erly a banker in Portland, Oregon, and a member of the Second Oregon vol unteers, U. S. A., which regiment did good work in the Philippines.

He was introduced to the audience at the Young Men's Christian association last night by Secretary Mahy, and immediately proceeded to catch his hearers' attention by a lively account of life on the transports. He next lightly touched on a description of Honolulu, which city he culogized in the highest terms, speaking in an en-tirely different strain of Manila, which he characterized as marked by dingy, close streets and poor pavements. He then plunged directly into his narrative and spoke of several of the men most prominent in the public eye. He saw Dewey on several occasions and remarked that the admiral has gained as signal a victory by his courtesy and kindliness over the hearts of the American tars and soldiers as he gained ever the unfortunate Montejo.

Mr. Teasdale described the admiral as an exceedingly well-dressed and very pleasant looking individual, and spoke in the highest terms of his popularity among all brought in contact with him. General Lawton and Fighting Funston of Kansas were also mentioned by the speaker. As regards the former, Mr. Teasdale says that he is 'a very large man, about six feet four in height, broad shoulders, raw-boned and a born fighter.

Function, on the contrary, is very short in stature, but like his giant brother in arms, a terrific fighter. The speaker protested against the assertion that the United States provoked the trouble in the Philippines and as proof of the falsity of the charge cited The Only Dentist | Several instances, where the Filipinos tried to force the United States troops

Mr. Teasdale referred to the earnest indeavors of General Otis to prevent active hostilities and mentioned the fact that the American troops were ordered to always salute the Filipino officers. This mandate so tickled the childish pride of the latter, that on every possible occasion they paraded before the "Americanos" to have the pleasure of seeing real soldiers salute them The first shot in the Philippines was fired by a member of the Second Nebraska, William Grayson. The latter was a sentry on guard, and under strict orders to stop anybody passing a given point, and if unsuccessful in halting them to shoot.

A body of Filipinos started to pass the forbidden point, and the sentry ordered them to hait. They disregarded his order and a second command was likewise set at naught. There was nothing left for the man to do but fire and fire he did, killing a private and wounding a lieutenant. The speaker referred most disparagingly to the marksmanship of the Filsharpshooters and altogether seemed to entertain a very small-sized opinion of the natives of the Philippines in general.

He admitted however that fighting them is not exactly a frolic and acknowledged that his regiment was not sorry when ordered to pack up for home-partly because they were tired of war, and partly, as Mr. Teasdale put it, because they were tired of 'hard tack and canned horse."

Altogether the talk was evry interesting and instructive. This talk inaugurates a series of short lectures which will be given semi-monthly at the Young Mens Chirstian association by well known people upon current top-

The building will be of brick, two stories, and 51 feet wide by 255 feet long, and located on factory block 2 across the street from the building which Max Ernst is preparing to occupy. The plans can be obtained from the office of the New Orange Industrial Association, 71

Broadway, New ork. That Max Ernst is going right ahead with the arrangements for his factory is evidenced by the fact that the sixty sewing machines furnished by the Singer Sewing Machine Company, of Elizabeth are already in position at the factory. The motors for the factory furnished by the Diessel Company of New York are all ready to place in position. Things will soon commence to hum in the vicinity of the Erost estab-

CLOSING SESSION OF THE CONVENTION

MISSIONARY MEETING IN ELM PARK AT AN END.

A Considerable Amount of Routine Business Was Transacted-Resolutions Adopted Thanked Those Who Entertained the Delegates and Assisted in Making the Work of the Convention a Success-Philadelphia Delegates Left in the afternoon for Their Home.

In Elm Park church yesterday morning the closing session was held of the convention of the Philadelphia Branch of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal meetings in the history of the Phila-delphia Branch and the visitors left the town much pleased with everything included, the city, the hospitality of the people and the perfection of details which afforded such facility for busi-

If Elm Park church had been designed solely for great business gatla erings it would serve as a model for all such events. The many entrancesten in fact-the accommodations for committee work, for quiet conferences apart from the throng and for th omfort and convenience of all were fully appreciated during the present week. The expedition with which the business was completed is another tribute to the perfection of arrange-

Many delegates left at noon after be ing served with lunch by the ladies of the Green Ridge church. The larger number took the special car for Philadelphia at 2.18. The railroad arrangements were in charge of Mrs. McCulloch of that city who ably conducted the neccessary details.

DEVOTIONAL EXERCISES. The devotional exercises of the mornng were conducted by Mrs. Shawinski of Shickshinny, representing the Central Pensylvania conference. The open conference of treasurers consumed considerable time. The reports of mission box and press committees were accepted. The latter was as follows: Mrs. A. J. Ege, for Pennsylvania Methodist; Mrs. S. Rendall for Northern Christian Advocate, Mrs. T. K. Wilkenson, for Pittsburg Christian Advocate; Mrs. D. W. Gordon, for Philadelphia Methdist; Mrs. James Rowman for New York Christian Advocate.

Mrs. Amelia Smith of this city gave the enrollment report: General officers, conference secretaries, 6; district scretaries, 15; treasurers, 5; delegates 75; visitors, 65, missionaries, 5; total, 176. Mrs. H. G. Jayne submitted the report of the committee on resolutions which follows:

Resolved, That we acknowledge our great indebtedness to our Heavenly Father for His loving kindness to us during the past year as evinced, especially in opening the way through which sufficient funds were provided for present needs and future good. Resolved, That we extend thanks to the board of trustees for the use of this handsome church, to the choir, and its soloists for beautiful and cheering songs, to the pastor, presiding elder and other ministers for cordial greet-ing, kindly welcome and encouraging presence, and to the sextens for ser-vices rendered. Resolved, That heartfelt gratitude be ed the ladies of the various Metho list Episcopal churches in this city for this charming hospitality in entertain-ing the members of the convention in their homes, furnishing such bountiful and enjoyable luncheons, and above all. for the sincere affection with which all have been received. SPEAKERS THANKED.

Resolved, That by the addresses of Miss Thoburn and Mrs. Baldwin, as well as to the brief talks of the missionaries present, we have received new inspiration and encouragement to greater efforts, and will return to our nomes better informed concerning our missionary work.

Resolved. That we appreciate the thoughtful kindness of Mrs. William Connell in tendering the convention an elegant reception, and in proof thereof, been completed and is as follows: The convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock a. m., by the president, followed by prayer by Rev. Dr. Charles E. Robinson, of the Second Presbyterian church. Then the order will be as follows: Roll call, reading minutes, address of welcome to the city of Scranton by the mayor, James Moir; address of welcome on behalf of the Scranton banks, by William Connell, president Third National bank; annual address by the president of the association, Charles A. Kunkel, Harrisburg; annual report of the secretary, and report of council of administration, D. S. Kloss, Tyrone; annual report of the treasurer, John J. Foulkrod, Philadelphia; report of auditing committee, address by Ellis H. Rob-erts, treasurer of the United States, subject, "The Treasury and the Currency;" reports of special committees, unfinished business, new business, adjournment.

During the first day the visitors will be the guests of the local committee, and a carriage driver over the Elmhurst Boulevard to Lake Scranton will be one of the events. In the evening there will be reception by the Scranton club.

On October 20 the convention will convene at 10 o'clock, and after prayer by Rev. Dr. C. M. Giffin the chairman will give brief statements in regard to the general condition of business in the several groups of the association. This will be followed by a general discussion on "Practical Banking Questions," which will be opened to all delegates. Charles S. Fairchild, president of the New York Security and Trust company, will deliver an address, as will also Thomas J. Powers, commissioner of banking of this state, his theme being "The Banking Department of Pennsylvania." After these addresses there will be held an election for officers and for delegates to the American Bankers' Association. The next place for holding the annual convention will be acted upon, and after the installation of the president-elect the meeting
