LACKAWANNA, THE LAUNDRY

308 Penn Avenue. A. B. WARMAN

BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Professor J. M. Chance, of the Second Presbyterian church, has returned from a six months' stay abroad after enjoying a most delightful summer. Professor Chance spent the early part of the tour in London where he resided in the great musical season during the time studying with Dr. Turpin, of Trinity college, and having the advantage of meeting constantly the most famous musical people of Europe, and hearing Patti, Nordica and other singers many times at the musical festivals. Besides he had the pleasant experience of knowing intimately the home life in a cultured English family where he was so fortunate as to be housed during his stay in London. Afterward he spent some time in visiting English cathedrals. While in Paris he again met Gullman and formed a pleasant acquaintance with Widor. The remainder of his summer was spent touring through France, Switzerland and Italy. He sailed from Naples on the Ems, having a most charming voyage through the Mediterranean and stopping at Gibraltar. After leaving that place, however, the vessel struck a terrible storm during which the captain (Chance) met with an accident from which he is still suffering. The passengers were ordered off the deck and in making the descent below he was pitched violently down the stairs and rendered unconscious, sustaining a serious cut on the back of the head and another which divided the lobe of his right ear. Other passengers received more dangerous injuries and Professor Chance considered himself fortunate, particularly as everybody was confined to the cabin for the ensuing four days. He did not preside at the organ yesterday, but will begin his class work and take up the usual routine this week. He expresses the opinion that while the great European masters have achieved enduring fame as composers they are no better organists than such men as Warren and other famous ones of our own land.

Rev. Charles C. McLean, of Swarthmore, is a visitor in Scranton and yesterday surprised and pleased a large number of his old parishioners in Elm Park church by his unexpected appearance. Mr. McLean was pastor of Adams avenue church ten years ago, coming from there to Jacksonville and afterward to San Antonio, Texas. He has for some time been in Philadelphia and vicinity and is at present much concerned about the health of Mrs. McLean, who has become an invalid. He accompanied his daughter, Mrs. Guy talk big and perform little, but the business man who is seeking the confidence of the public for a permanent patronage should promise little and do a great deal. Stevens, to the city on Saturday, since when he has been a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. U. Heister on Quincy avenue.

"I might have known it," said a fair golfer at the Country club Saturday, as she was lamenting the low score made on the 9th green today. It was Friday and the thirteenth and October is an unlucky month and I saw the new moon over my left shoulder two weeks ago, and of course I might have known I should fall down in my game. Such a dunce!"

Anna Held remained last night at the hotel at three husbands in one day, and evidently the local management decided to draw the line the other side of those atrocious costumes in the last part of the second act. The hours in the chorus didn't appear at night in the same things they wore in matinee, but performed the drinking scene in the same costumes which was rather surprising but much less indecent. The local management is to be congratulated on its stand. Anna Held is charming and fascinating enough to say almost anything but even she cannot redeem that dismal "Papa's Wife." Perhaps Odette Tyler, "The Stealing Duchess" or a few other of the popular attractions which are to appear this week at the Lyceum will take the outfit and De Kenen's comedy out of the theatre-club's mouth.

Don't forget that tomorrow is donation day at the Home for the friendless.

BURIED UNDER TONS OF COAL.

Young Joseph Graham Meets a Terrible Death.

Joseph Graham, aged 13 years, employed as a breaker boy at the Cayuga breaker, was buried underneath tons of coal there on Friday and his death resulted before he could be extricated. In company with several other boys, he was engaged in the perilous pastime of riding down the chute with the coal as it ran towards the cars. The chute became blocked and when the coal was finally started again it went down with such a rush that young Graham did not have time to spring off as usual and he was buried under several tons of coal.

When taken out fifteen minutes later he was quite dead. The remains were taken to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Graham, of Iron street. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon. Services were conducted in Holy Rosary church by Rev. J. J. O'Toole, and interment was made in Cathedral cemetery.

ANOTHER VICTORY.

Scranton Golf Players Won a Game From Wilkes-Barre.

Scranton won the inter-club match again on Saturday from the Wilkes-Barre club on the latter's links. One of the features of the match was the playing of J. H. Brooks of this city, who lowered the record of the Wyoming Country club links from 83 to 78 strokes, the former record being held by W. C. Woodruff, of Wilkes-Barre. A reception and tea followed the play and the gentlemen's orchestra furnished the music. The score was as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Score. Includes Scranton players like J. C. Fuller, W. Johnson, P. H. Brooks, etc., and Wilkes-Barre players like J. H. Brooks, W. C. Woodruff, etc.

MORE POOR BOARD TROUBLE.

Carbonate is Now Taking a Hand in It.

A writ of alternative madamus was issued by court on Saturday morning directing John Correll, Edward Moon and Anthony Cook to show cause why they should not seat Alva Day, Henry Carter and Miles Gardner as members of the poor board of the city of Carbonate. The writ is returnable on October 23, at 9 a. m. Attorneys Welles and Torrey appear for the plaintiffs. The latter are members of the board appointed by court in September in pursuance of the Act of Assembly of May 5, 1899, providing that the poor board be composed of six members. The three defendants constitute the regular elective board who have held office for some time. They refused on Sept. 29, to allow the plaintiffs to take their seats claiming that the court was without jurisdiction to make the appointments.

WADE FINN WAS VERY, VERY ANGRY

WANTED TO NAME THE ASSISTANT ASSESSORS.

When He Was Informed That He Could Not Do That He Told City Assessor Gwilym A. Jones That He Would Spend $500 of His Own Money to Secure the Defeat of W. E. Johns, the Republican Candidate for County Auditor.

There is at least one officeholder in city hall who will not be a party to the project about there to build up a political ring with Wade Finn as the bright particular star. This is Gwilym A. Jones, one of three city assessors. Philip Rinsland, one of the other assessors, is likely to be found in the same category as his colleague if a test was made, but as yet he has not definitely indicated his position.

Mr. Jones' opposition to the ring is founded generally upon the principle of the thing, but more particularly upon his detestation of the political methods of the would-be ringsters, who are charged with the defeat of his friend, Thomas H. Brooks, and their known unfitness for the office. He is a known friend of the candidate for auditor, W. E. Johns, the candidate for auditor.

A part of the programme of the would-be ringsters was to corral the twenty-one assistant assessors, who were provided for in a recent resolution that was helped through councils by Selectman Finn.

The assessors were vested with authority to appoint the assistants and proceeded to exercise that authority without consulting Mr. Finn or any other of the would-be ringsters.

HE BECAME ANGRY.

When Finn et al. had somewhat recovered from the shock occasioned by this remarkable display of effrontery, Finn uncorked the vials of his wrath and swooping down upon the assessors' office, Saturday, proceeded to deluge Mr. Jones with the contents thereof.

The sudden halt which Mr. Jones called to the rate Finn made in the stand against and speeches. In words that would never be mistaken for the language of a truculent underling to a mighty and exacting boss, the self-proclaimed assessor told Mr. Finn to get himself gone; that if he thought to frighten anyone by banking up the wrong tree, and that as far as the case in point went, he, Finn, would not be consulted.

In the language of the curb, Mr. Finn perceived that he was up against it, and with his characteristic cunning, forsook his indignation and tried first to cajole and then threaten. Neither of these means proved any more effective than the attempt at terrorizing, and after telling Mr. Jones he would accomplish "Billy" John's defeat, left the office in high dudgeon. Mr. Jones says that Mr. Finn went so far as to particularize as to how the defeat of John was to be brought about. One means was the use of $500 of his own money.

DOESN'T LIKE SHOTTON.

What was particularly galling to Mr. Finn was his failure to prevent the appointment of Thomas Shotton as assistant assessor for the Second ward. Mr. Shotton, it will be remembered, voted against Mr. Finn for re-election as poor tax collector.

Just how vindictive Mr. Finn can be come when pressed hard, is evidenced by the fact—it is a fact, remarkable as it may appear—that when he could not secure the appointment of his choice, he threw his support to a man named Davitt. Mr. Davitt, however, disdained the support of Finn and went so far as to withdraw his application in favor of Mr. Shotton, when appraised of the use to which Finn would put his candidacy.

Finn now threatens to have the mayor disapprove the resolution authorizing the appointments and thereby leave the three assessors to do the work themselves. The mayor's course in the matter will be watched with interest. The assistants were announced on Saturday. They are:

The appointment for the Eighth ward has not as yet been made.

CENTRAL LABOR UNION MEET.

Number of Matters of Importance Considered Yesterday.

The Central Labor union held a meeting yesterday afternoon in Carpenter's hall, on Wyoming avenue, and transacted a large amount of general business.

It was decided to extend the theatrical boycott to include all the theatres in the circuit under the control of the firm managing the local houses.

A special committee was appointed to thoroughly investigate the complaint entered against William E. Johns, candidate for the office of county auditor, that he is connected with a non-union plumbing establishment. All union men are requested to hold their opinions in abeyance until the committee makes its report.

Great interest is being taken in the movement on foot to bring the American Federation of Labor convention here in 1900, and a number of the local unions have already expressed their intention of instructing their delegates to honor Scranton at the coming convention in Detroit.

CRUSHED BY AN ELEVATOR.

Charles Veal Seriously Injured Yesterday Afternoon.

Charles Veal, a driver employed by Gorman Brothers the liverymen, narrowly escaped crushing to death by the elevator in the latter's barn yesterday afternoon. The manner in which the accident occurred is a mystery to everyone including Veal himself. He was taking the car up when his leg which must have been overhanging was caught at the thigh. It was nearly ten minutes before his fellow workmen succeeded in extricating him from his dangerous position.

When released he was taken to the Lackawanna hospital where there was found to be a severe fracture of the right thigh. He was resting comfortably last evening.

IN CRIMINAL COURT.

Libel Cases Scheduled to Come Up This Morning—Verdicts Taken and Sentences Passed.

The second weekly session of the October term of criminal court begins today. The criminal list cases of Postmaster Rippe against Little and O'Boyle, of the Scrantonian, which were continued from last week, head the list.

An effort will be made by O'Brien & Kelly, attorneys for the defense, to secure a continuance of the Carbonate murder case, in which C. J. Quinn is prosecutor, and Thomas Gallagher, Joseph Gallagher, Annie Gallagher and Bridget Dempsey are the defendants. The aggravated assault and battery case against these same defendants, in which James P. Quinn is the prosecutor, will be continued if a continuance is granted in the murder case.

The case against the Mayfield trolley office robbers, which was second on the list, has been postponed at the request of the defendants. If the Carbonate cases are postponed there will be only one big case to be tried this week, the libel case.

A. F. Gillespie, the Olyphant councilman, tried for perjury, was returned guilty Saturday morning. A recommendation of extreme mercy accompanied the finding. Sentence was suspended at the request of his attorney, Taylor & Lewis, that they might have opportunity to move for a new trial.

Oscar Ehrhard was returned guilty of assaulting John Mitchell and fined $25 and costs. Verdicts of not guilty were returned in the case of John Lahtotsky, charged with the theft of Charles Lowry's badge, and James Grier charged with assaulting Nicholas Modest.

Thomas Gallagher, convicted of selling liquor without a license, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to three months in the county jail.

Other sentences imposed by Judge Archbold were: George Smith, $10 and costs; Daniel Hays, $1 and costs; Michael Olanagan, Steve Pelko, Fred Rude, Martin McLean, Mary Murray, Thomas Clusic, Edward Thomas, Samuel Dwyer, Paul Forbes, Michael Loftus, Joseph McGarrath and Patrick J. Glynn, costs.

FUNERAL OF ALFRED LOCKARD.

Remains Taken to Marcy Cemetery at Lackawanna for Interment.

The funeral of Alfred A. Lockard took place yesterday from the deceased's home on Adams avenue. Rev. R. F. Y. Pierce, of the Penn Avenue Baptist church, made a few remarks at the house, but the funeral services took place in Lackawanna. The pallbearers at the house were Messrs. Keller's Carriage works who had been co-workers of the deceased.

The funeral cortege proceeded direct to Lackawanna, where the services were held at about 2:30 o'clock at the Brick church. Interment was made in Marcy cemetery. The pallbearers at the cemetery were members of the Odd Fellows, of both of which lodges Mr. Lockard had been a member.

Lockard, of Bangor, who is secretary of the train men's committee which recently met in this city; Mrs. Howard Farrell, of this city; Mrs. Frank Friedenberg, of Elaura; Mrs. J. S. Holstler, Bloomsburg.

WONDERFUL RECORD MADE BY HAL B.

WON OVER FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS DURING SEASON.

No Other Harness Horse in the World Had Such Earnings—In the History of the Grand Circuit Only Three Horses Have Passed Through the Entire Circuit and Duplicated Hal B's Record of Winning Every Race—Dr. J. L. Wentz the Owner.

Hal B and Fanny Dillard, Dr. J. L. Wentz' two speedy racers, arrived in this city from Lexington, Ky., Saturday night. They were brought here under the charge of a groom, the driver himself having arrived last week. The two animals have covered themselves and their owner with glory, and have established the record for themselves of being the fastest full brother and sister in the country. The fastest time made by Hal B was 2:04 1/2, while the record of Fanny Dillard is 2:08 1/2.

Hal B went through the grand circuit a straight winner, winning the whole ten races and won in purses $15,000, being the largest winner of any harness horse in the world during the past season.

In the history of the grand circuit since its formation thirty years ago, only three horses have passed through the entire circuit and won every race. The last winner, Wedgwood, accomplished the feat twelve years ago, but the fastest time was 2:19 1/2, whereas Hal B has paced every heat in 2:10 or better. The grand circuit included Detroit, Cleveland, Columbia, Buffalo, Glen Falls, Boston, Hartford, New York and Providence.

Besides these races Hal B won a race at Highland Park, Detroit, and one at Windsor, Canada. At Louisville, Ky., he met with an accident and won third money, and at Lexington, Ky., although lame, took second money. Those cities are in the southern circuit.

Hal B also broke Star Pointer's record of 2:06 1/2 for the 2:09 Tennessee pace in the first and second heats by making the first heat in 2:06 1/2 and the second in 2:06.

Fanny Dillard won her only state race at Dubuque, Iowa. It was the 2:12 pace. After this race she was reserved for the 2:09 class next year in the grand circuit, this being the same class that Hal B has had such wonderful success in this season.

Hal B is at present in the doctor's stables in the rear of his home, 725 Madison avenue, and whoever wishes to see or inspect the horse is at liberty to do so.
