

EVENTS OF DAY IN WEST SCRANTON

ANNUAL DINNER OF ST. PAUL'S PIONEER CORPS.

Given in St. David's Hall Last Evening to Over Two Hundred Members and Guests—Marriage of Benjamin F. Chaplin and Miss Lavinia H. Eaton, of Marathon, N. Y. Opening of a Free Kindergarten in No. 10 School—Other Notes and Personals.

St. Paul's Pioneer Corps, one of the oldest and most popular organizations in the Scranton diocese of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union, held their thirteenth annual dinner in St. David's hall last evening. The society is composed of some of the best known young men in the city, and they have an enviable record as a drill corps. The members and their lady friends to the number of over two hundred, assembled in St. Paul's room at 9.30 o'clock and marched to the banquet hall, where covers were laid by Caterer Hanley and an efficient corps of waiters and waitresses. Three tables extending the entire length of the hall were occupied on either side by the ladies and members of St. Paul's Pioneer corps, and their natty uniforms of gray, with gold and black trimming.

At the head of the center table sat Captain Walter McNichols, the organizer of the corps, who is also president of the society. First Vice-President James McCoy occupied a seat at the head of the table on the left of the president, and Second Vice-President M. J. Coleman was at the head of the table on the right. Seated on the stage behind the toast master was the Star orchestra, which played several inspiring selections during the serving of courses. The dinner was served under the personal supervision of William Hanley, Jr., and James Forkin. The menu consisted of stewed oysters, salted water, chicken salad, French rolls, buttered bread, ice cream, chocolate cake, angel food and coffee. The service was excellent and the refreshments dainty and appetizing. Around the side walls of the hall were hung streamers of red, white and blue hunting, and suspended from the balcony railing were American and Cuban flags. The decorations, the assembly, the music and the supper were particularly pleasing.

Postmaster McNichols opened the post-prandial exercises by congratulating the members upon the success attained during the past year, both from a financial standpoint and an increased membership. The purpose of the organization, he said, was the enrollment of Catholic young men under the banner of total abstinence, and by doing so more good was accomplished than by any other society in Scranton.

There is a younger element in St. Paul's Pioneer corps than in any other similar organization in the diocese. The average age is less than 21 years, and applicants must be 16 years old before they can become members. He congratulated the Pauls on the success they have already achieved and expressed the wish that the next annual dinner may be attended by at least five hundred young people.

Charles Canavan, secretary of the Scranton Diocesan union, was the second speaker. He congratulated the society on the success of their dinner, and upon the numerical growth of the organization during the past year. He said it was the intention of the Union to have more drilled members enrolled by the next convention than ever before. In closing, he added that St. Paul's Pioneer corps was a success in every particular and hoped it will continue so.

Last President Frank McClain, who is known as one of the best workers in the ranks, was called upon, and said he was delighted to see such a large gathering. He congratulated the society in having the ladies present, and said he felt that they are the real workers in the cause of total abstinence.

The ladies have done more to build up St. Paul's Pioneer corps than anybody else," concluded the speaker. Peter McCoy, who is also a past president, spoke in behalf of the ladies and told in a humorous way why the society had so many lady friends. He attributed that to their popularity, good looks and winning ways. "I am in favor of ladies' total abstinence societies," said Mr. McCoy, "and I want to go on record as being in favor of their organization and affiliation with the male members."

In introducing G. A. Williams, of the Republican, to respond to the press, President McNichols said that much of the success of the society was due to the co-operation and assistance rendered by the newspapers and assured the representatives present that the organization appreciates what the press has done for them. Mr. Williams spoke briefly in response to the toast and the exercises were closed at 11 o'clock.

The guests repaired to the parlors on the second floor, where the caterers were clearing the hall and after a half hour's intermission the remainder of the time was devoted to refreshment and pleasure. A programme of the latest dances was enjoyed, the music being furnished by the Star orchestra. The affair was the most successful event in the history of the corps and reflects much credit on the committee of arrangements.
