of which we give a few abstracts: In September, 1874, the congregation was founded with a membership of sixty-two. On January 10, 1876, the congregation decided to buy from the up the proper warning sign on the Penn Avenue Baptist church the properry on Pittston avenue, between Al der and Hickory streets, in which they worshipped until 1886. In 1885 they bought three lots on Hickory street and built thereon their present place of worship. The corner-stone of their present church was laid on Thanksgiving day in 1886, and the building selection, followed by Bauer's orchestra with the selection "Chlorindy," by Marion. Then followed the most interesting feature of the conceri, namely the competition song by the teners and bassos of the Junger Maennerchor. The tenors and basses being too evenly matched, no decision could be given, The Scranton Saengerrunde, who were to follow with a selection could not sing owing to the absence of a number of the tenors, and the Junger Maennerchor sang instead. This concluded part first of the programme. Part second was opened by Bauer's orchestra rendering a selection entitled "Die Entfuehrung ans dem Serail," by Mozart. The Carbondale Germania then sang two selections, entitled, "Waldgesang" and "Heunweh." Mr. Theo, Bauschman followed with a flute solo, accompanied by Bauer's orchestra Miss Lydia Sailor again sang a so prano solo entitlef "When the Heart Is Young," and again responded to an encore. Miss Nettie Wirth followed with a ecitation entitled "The Collier's Dying Child." Miss Wirth has a bright future as an elocutionist. She is at pres-nt about 12 years of ago. The affair was a success in every vay and the committee in charge have Street Methodist Episcopal church been duly rewarded for its untiring efforts. At the conclusion of the concert dancing was indulged in until the early morning hours and every one went home with the satisfaction of having had a pleasant evening.
