THEATRICAL.

"The Winter's Tale."

It is not often that the Shakespearean drama is given with such a wealth of scenery and stage accessories as marked the production of "The Winter's Tale" at the Lyceum last night.

While the works of the great dramatist seem with possibilities for the discriminating scenic artist they are seldom taken advantage of. The actor who essays the legitimate is usually content to allow his audience to use their imagination in lieu of scenery.

At the Lyceum last night they gave a demonstration of the possibilities of Shakespeare from the scenic artist's point of view.

Nothing is so convincing as to see in beauty has heretofore been seen in this city.

While attention has first been directed to the scenery it must not be forgotten that "The Winter's Tale" has no more substantial claims to merit.

The mounting is referred to prominently because it is a feature of the performance that is usually overlooked when works of the immortal bard hold the boards.

Miss Kiddler, who was seen last night in the roles of Hermione and Perdita, is a most discriminating actress.

She managed the scene with such cleverness as to call forth most generous manifestations of applause from the audience.

Her versatility is shown by a contrast of her work in the fourth act when as the unfortunate Queen Hermione she is publicly accused by her husband and condemned to death.

Charles B. Hanford was not so happy in the role of Leontes. He belongs to that school of vigorous, forceful actors who overlook the fact that better effects might be obtained with less effort.

There are times—on the stage, too—when silence, or something akin to it, is more eloquently effective than even a Hanford tone note.

"Patch," very little damaged was done. The tool house connected with the Laurel Hill park grounds was the last center of attention with the firemen and beyond causing some excitement and the loss of the building did not entail much loss.

The revival meetings being held every night at the Tripp Avenue Christian church, continue to draw interested audiences.

Rev. A. P. Cobb, who last year conducted revival services for several months in this borough, will preach tonight on the topic: "Give Glory to the Lord in the Church."

The second week of the revival services being held in the M. E. church under the direction of Rev. A. J. Van Cleft, the pastor, and assisting ministers, are being well attended and the interest sustained.

This afternoon at 2:30 P. M. Dr. D. J. Dwyer will preach and the evening service will be in charge of Rev. S. C. Simpkins, who will deliver the address.

The funeral of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGill, of East End street, occurred yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The industrial school connected with the First Presbyterian church will resume its sessions beginning Saturday afternoon.

Otto Dolmetsch, of Third street, has placed on exhibition in W. T. Loveland's butcher shop, a bear which he successfully killed while on a recent hunting trip.

Miss King, of Pittston, is visiting at the home of her grandfather, Sydney D. King, of Dudley street.

Mrs. P. J. Dwyer, a bear which he successfully killed while on a recent hunting trip.

Mrs. T. J. O'Donnell, of Drinker street, is a guest of friends in Olyphant.

The many friends of Victor Burschell are pleased to see him around after a long confinement.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Crook, of Broad street, are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Barber, of Newton, N. J.

Mrs. M. J. McDonald and daughter, Helen, of Chestnut street, are the guests of Moscow friends.

Funston refuses a sword. False inscription must be removed before he can accept it.

Topka, Kans., Oct. 21.—General Funston has sent word to Topka that he will not accept the $1,000 sword presented him by the people of Kansas unless the inscription on the blade: "I Can Hold This Position Until My Regiment Is Mustered Out," is removed.

General Funston was reported to have made that reply to his commanding officer in one of the engagements near Manila. He says he did not make such a reply, and will not accept a sword containing that inscription.

$100 Reward, $100. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh of the Bladder.

On the Grand Canal in Venice. Over fifty entirely new animated pictures will be shown at the Lyman H. Howe Moving Picture exhibition in the Lyceum this evening.

The performance entitled "Beauty's Apple," in which the entire company appeared, which was characterized by dazzling costumes and scenery; bright music, and continuous fun. There is scarcely a dull line in the performance given by the company and much that is new and original is presented.

The Bohemian Burlesque will be at the Gaiety theater today and tomorrow afternoon and evening.

The Little Minister. "Lady Babbie's Music," which runs all through "The Little Minister," was written by William Furst, Charles Frohman's chief musical director.

It is found one of the very agreeable features of the play when Miss Maude Adams appears in it at Lyceum, Friday evening, Oct. 27.

You will find the majority of the audience humming the pretty waltz tune as they leave the theater. Mr. Furst is one of the foremost of native-born American music writers.

Australians Agrieved. London, Oct. 23.—The authorities in Australia are much exercised at the reports that the imperial government has ordered canned meat in America, to conserve Australia's interests.

Those in the best position to judge, however, predict that the packers of the United States will obtain large orders, as the British colonies are unable to supply a tithe of the quantity required, if the campaign continues long.
