at this theatre that "The French Maid" had its American premiere and its success there carried it through almost an entire season. Later it scored heavily in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago, and was accepted in all these cities as one of the brightest, wittlest and most humorous performance shown in recent years.

The place and scope of the place call for the services of some fifty people, and the use of elaborate scenery, light effects and gorgeous costumes. The entral figures of the cast become involved in ludicrous complications brought about largely by the coquetries of the French maid, a jolly, lively and flirtatious young person connected with a songido hotal at Roulaona On

OLYPHANT.

A very distressing accident happened on the narrow-gauge railroad at this place yesterday afternoon, in which James McHale, aged seventeen years, lost his life. The road on which the accident occurred is used for hauling oal from Grassy island to the No. 2 breaker. The young man's regular duties were as fireman on the small acomotive, Porto Rico, stationed at the Grassy colliery, but yesterday, owing to a defect in the boiler, the engine was being repaired and he was transferred to the Cuba. About 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon he was engaged in coupling cars at a point below the Dunmore street crossing, when he slipped in ome manner and fell between the cars. Before the train could be stopped he was dragged about fifty feet, mangling his head and body frightfully. He lived only a few minutes.

Dr. Price was sent for, also Rev. P. J. Murphy, who administered the last | each evening at 6 o'clock for the extra rites of the Catholic church, of which the young man was a member. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. McHale, of Susquehanna street. He was a member of the Father Mathew society, and leaves three brothers and five sisters. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

T. V. Powderly, of Carbondale, was a catter in town yesterday.

Mr. John Brink, the well-known eigar manufacturer of this place, and Miss Katie Hanihan were married in St. James church, Jessup, yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Lafferty, the pastor. A large number of friends witnessed the marriage service. The bride was attended by her sister. Miss Mary Hanihan, and Mr. William Gunn, of Peckville, was groomsman. The bride and her maid were attired in very stylish gowns of blue cloth, with white satin trimmings, and carried bouquets of roses. Mr. and Mrs. Brink left on the afternoon train for a wedding trip. On their return they will reside at the West End hotel.

of the scenes of the piece is the Capino at Boulogne, where a bal masque is in progress, and here are introduced some WANTED-THOROUHOLY EFFICIENT beautiful ballets given by a corps of trained dancers. These are richly costumed and the most effective are "The Bon-Bon ballet," a dance called "Froliques Francaises" and the "Carnival Promenade ballet." The lyrics, which are set to tuneful music, are described as pointed, witty and in keeping with the characters to which they are assigned. "I've a Portrait Next My Heart," "Rhapsodie Table D'hote," "Twas Twenty-seven Bells by the Waterbury Watch," and the song of the twin brothers are among the best. The principal mem-

The programme offered this year is a surprise and revelation to all and a "big hit" everywhere. Everything from be ginning to end is fresh, original, novel. The show bubbles over with beautiful costumes, gorgeous scenery, lively and catchy music, handsome and shapely girls and clever comedians, combined with unusually fine specialties. The indications are that unusually big houses will prevail throughout the engagement of this company.
