Miss Annie Brewster, of Montrose, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Clara Brewster, of Jefferson avenue.

Mrs. J. S. Lowenwald, of Ghens Falls, N. Y., is visiting at the home of Mrs. J. R. Cohen, of Madison avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. White, of Onondaga, N. Y., are spending their honeymoon with friends in Scranton.

C. W. Fetherolf, city editor of the Binghamton Herald, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Fetherolf was formerly a member of the city staff of "The Tribune."

It is announced that the marriage of Miss Maudie Hickey and John Oesterling will take place November 14 at 8 o'clock p. m. in St. Mary's church on River street.

Miss Emeline A. Dumm of New York, who is to give the interesting travel talk at the Bicycle club rooms Tuesday evening and Wednesday afternoon, is in the city and is the guest of Mrs. E. R. Ripley.

The New York Journal says of Miss Judith Berolico, who was seen in this city last week as Mrs. Laramie in Gillette's "Sherlock Holmes" dramatic retelling from the stage before the Spanish-American war to become the wife of Edward Marshall, the distinguished war correspondent. When he returned from the battle of San Juan, terribly wounded and crippled, she nursed him back to life, and returned again to the stage last May, and made a distinct hit as the queen in Sydney Grundy's version of Dumas' novel called "The Three Musketeers."

Dr. Weisenberg on November 1 became house surgeon of the Lackawanna hospital. Dr. Weaver's term of six months which began on May 1, having expired. Dr. Weaver, however, will remain as junior surgeon till January 1 in order to fill out the term of one year. Dr. Weisenberg is a University of Pennsylvania man and has been exceedingly popular since he came here last summer. He has made a special study of chemistry and before entering Pennsylvania he took a special two years' course in this science at Lehigh university.

ANTI-GAMBLING CRAUSE.

John P. Quinn Spoke on the Evils of Card Playing.

At Penn Avenue Baptist church last night John P. Quinn delivered a philippic against gambling. Mr. Quinn was introduced by Rev. R. F. Y. Pierce as a man who had been a gambler himself and knew whereof he spoke. The speaker then began his discourse against card playing.

He told how for twenty-five years he had been a chard shark and while in prison had reformed. His speech consisted principally of short anecdotes illustrating his points and in vehement utterances against gambling. Tonight and tomorrow night Mr. Quinn will speak at Guernsey hall. Every day he will expose the various manner in which card sharps swindle the public by revealing the various methods and modes in a hall on Penn avenue.

ONLY REPUBLICAN RALLY OF CAMPAIGN

HELD IN ST. DAVID'S HALL SATURDAY NIGHT.

Speeches Were Made by County Chairman A. A. Vosburg, Assistant District Attorney W. Gaylord Thomas, John H. Fellows and Deputy Attorney General Fred W. Fleitz—Mr. Vosburg Declared That This is a Very Important Election. Taxpayers Deeply Interested in It.

The only Republican mass meeting of the present campaign, was held in St. David's hall, West Scranton, Saturday evening. The speeches were timely and were listened to with individual attention. The speakers were County Chairman A. A. Vosburg, Assistant District Attorney W. Gaylord Thomas, John H. Fellows and Deputy Attorney General Fred W. Fleitz. In the audience were candidates John Penman, Asa E. Kiefer and William E. Johnson, Representative John R. Farr, Councilman William V. Griffith, Street Commissioner Rowland D. Thomas, and many other prominent Republicans.

The meeting was called to order shortly after 8.30 o'clock, when the speakers took their seats on the platform. County Chairman Vosburg began the speechmaking by expressing his pleasure at being present, and while he had not prepared any special address, spoke in a very happy vein. He told a clever story about Republicans in heaven, and said they were just as trustworthy on earth as they were in the eternal realm. The importance of the coming election is greatly underestimated, Mr. Vosburg said. The candidates are the bankers of the county. We can place implicit confidence in their honor and integrity.

MR. THOMAS'S ADDRESS.

W. Gaylord Thomas was introduced as the chairman of the evening, and made a ringing speech. He spoke, in part, as follows:

"Fellow-Republicans, I appreciate the honor that has been conferred upon me, and I am pleased to be present and meet with you. This is an important campaign and the candidates nominated are important. I am not here to attack anybody, or to besmear any of the opposing candidates, and I may presume for argument's sake that the Democrats are equal. It is not so much the question who shall be elected, but what party we shall ally ourselves to."

"I am here to champion the Republican party, the party of prosperity and advancement, and I might add without fear of contradiction, the party of the workman. A great many of the Democrats are with President McKinley in upholding the United States, and we must be united and we are united, right or wrong, in upholding our country and our administration. Whenever the American flag floats, there shall it remain, and it shall not come down under any circumstances. We are right in the position we occupy, and we are all united in upholding it, and the Republican party proposes to maintain the possessions we have taken in the Philippine islands."

In referring to Admiral Dewey, Mr. Thomas spoke of him as the champion of American freedom in Manila, and quoted the commission's report just made at Washington in reference to his firm stand. The quotation was made to show the inconsistency of the Democrats in wanting Dewey to become their presidential candidate, when he upholds the president's position in relation to our recent added possessions, and they are advocating the abandonment of the fight to retain our latest acquisitions. Continuing, Mr. Thomas said:

THE REPUBLICAN CREED.

"The Republican party believes in the administration of the Republican party. The Democratic party is a party of opposition, and has never made any movement for the country's welfare. It has been defeated in the past and will be in the future. The verdict Tuesday will be that Pennsylvania will go Republican and for President McKinley. The Republican party is the party of the American people, and to say we have no right to hold up our flag, would mean that we would not stand up for the rights of the nation of the earth. And there is not one who believes America is foremost among them all."

Speaking of the local ticket, Mr. Thomas said that every one of them are good men. John Courier Morris is a patriotic citizen and a worthy candidate, and will be given a rousing vote by his constituents. John Penman is the peer of any man who stands in Lackawanna county. He is staunch, upright and has a heart of his own. He is a veritable Oom Paul, and can be relied upon. Asa E. Kiefer, the candidate for auditor, is an able, competent, thorough-going and upright business man and fully qualified to fill the position. His running-mate, William E. Johns, is a hustler, and he will go to the polls with a host of admiring friends up and down the valley who will elect him by a large majority.

MR. FELLOWS TALKS.

Hon. John H. Fellows was the next speaker. He began by saying that this is not a fight of any particular man, but a fight of the people for good government. When the Republican party was created by Abraham Lincoln, it was created on principle, and we should stand on principle. When the present candidates were nominated it was an honest expression of the people at the polls, and there is no doubt but that Republicans and Democrats will go to the polls and vote the Republican ticket from top to bottom on principle. No one can raise the question that the candidates were not honorably nominated, and if elected they will take charge of $250,000 and distribute it properly. They stand for economy, and are pledged to economize and reduce taxation as far as it lies within their power. We want equalization of taxation, deduction of expenses and the business of the county run on a business basis and business principles.

I have known John Penman for many years and he has never gone back on his word, and stands for what he says, and will stand by the people, and will not allow any man or clique to control him. John Courier Morris is too well-known to need any comment, and John H. Kiefer will not be found wanting. They are conscientious and trustworthy and will receive a substantial majority. I don't believe there will be much cutting, therefore, the united Republican party in Lackawanna county and they will vote a straight Republican ticket. It is the ticket of the people and for the people, and will be elected.

In speaking about a light vote being polled, Mr. Fellows said there is no reason for believing that such will be the case. There should be the biggest Republican vote ever polled in Lackawanna county, as it is in the interest of the people to have the offices run on business principles, and no one can question the integrity of the candidates. They are the representatives of the plain people.

MR. FLEITZ HEARD.

The last speaker was Mr. Fleitz. He said it afforded him great pleasure to meet with the Republican voters anywhere, and particularly in Lackawanna county.

"This is an important campaign," he began, "and the issues are always important. There is little campaigning owing to the peculiar organization this year, and this is particularly true in this county on account of the small ticket to be elected. But you cannot separate the Republican party from national issues."

The speaker then dealt upon the Republican administration in Pennsylvania, and spoke of the state appropriations for public schools. In referring to the free text book system, Mr. Fleitz said that John R. Farr's name was written side by side with that of Thaddeus Stevens for the welfare of the public schools. He referred to the Democratic opposition which has been overcome by Republican administration, and alluded to Governor Stone's action in vetoing bills which there was no money to pay, and for which he has been unjustly criticized.

"The American voter doesn't make an honest effort to satisfy himself with the facts concerning the expenditure of public funds," the speaker said, "and they never had a duty more important to perform than they have today. Success is only achieved by everlastingly pegging at it, and if we would spend as much energy in fighting the common enemy as we do in fighting among ourselves, there would not be enough Democrats left to vote."

In referring to the Crawford county system of voting, Mr. Fleitz said he never had any cause to change his mind regarding it. The ticket recently nominated under it, is the ticket of the people, and if the people don't come out and elect the candidates they have nominated, they don't want the Crawford county system. They are honest, upright and square, and it is just as important to get out and vote as it is to nominate them. It is a duty of patriotism to elect the candidates they have nominated. The election will be held in Company E's armory in Homestead on Tuesday, Nov. 14, at 8 o'clock.

An election will also be held for a second Lieutenant of Company E, to fill the place of William Scott, who has resigned his office. This election will take place Wednesday evening, Nov. 15 at 8 o'clock in the armory in this city.

TRUE STORY OF THE STOLEN ORDINANCE

A CHARITABLE OMISSION THAT WAS NOT APPRECIATED.

Friends of the Mayor Who Wanted the Telephone Fight Kept Out of the Meeting at Which the Police Removals Were to Be Considered Induced Clerk Jones to Take Part in What Was at Least a Colorable Transaction—Effort to Belittle the Tribune's Story.

Out of charity to an unsophisticated official, who was inveigled into a "colorable" transaction by his daring political creditors, the Tribune refrained from printing the whole story of the theft of the Lackawanna Telephone ordinance.

The effort to make the Tribune's story appear ridiculous, for which the unsophisticated, unsophisticated official is responsible, calls for the publication of the story complete.

The ordinance was stolen, to begin with, and it was stolen at the behest of parties interested in the police removals, their object being to prevent the Tribune from printing the ordinance. The Tribune regrets that it had anything to do with this sort of thing, he said he wouldn't, and went away seemingly satisfied that it was best for him to take the city clerk's advice.

To a Tribune reporter, on Friday, he said he knew nothing of the whereabouts of the ordinance and denied having taken it out of the city clerk's office.

On Saturday he told a Tribune reporter that the ordinance was in his office and admitted that he had taken it out of the city clerk's office. He signed by Chairman Pro-Tem Griffiths, having neglected to do this in the first place. When he went to the city clerk's office to get the ordinance, he told City Clerk Lavelle nothing of the absence of the chairman's signature.

His purpose in taking the ordinance back was, according to his statement, then, to gratify the request of certain parties. Who these parties were he said he didn't know. They called him up by telephone, he said.

The Tribune regrets that Clerk Jones has made this explanation necessary, but it would be detrimental in its duty to self if it did not give the public the exact facts.

CANDIDATE REILLY HERE.

His Visit Gives Occasion For an Interesting Story of How He Was Nominated at Harrisburg.

Unannounced, unaccompanied, and as far as can be learned, having no particular mission, Hon. Charles J. Reilly, Democratic candidate for Judge of the superior court, came to the third largest city in the commonwealth Saturday and after shaking hands with County Chairman F. J. Fitzsimmons and a few other Democrats who happened to be about went away again, to Wilkes-Barre. It was said, after a reception planned by the Luzerne committee.

Mr. Reilly did not invite interviews and when pressed for an expression would only say that from what he had observed personally and been told by Mr. Reilly, he was confident of Democratic success. He did not remember a time he stated, when the prospect of Democratic success was so bright.

There was a story about to the effect that Mr. Reilly's visit was for the purpose of adjusting some differences between the state and county committees. This however could not be verified.

There is an interesting story connected with Mr. Reilly's nomination that will bear repeating publicly now that his visit here gives occasion.

It is not only a good story, but a place but he had no thoughts of being a candidate until the very minute he was selected. Hon. J. A. Hill, representative from Elk county, was looking for the empty honor and it was agreed he should have it. When the big light on the supreme court nomination of Mr. Reilly began to leave the hall and during the tumult the nominating of a superior court candidate was undertaken.

Chairman Reilly had made a big hit with everybody in the convention and especially with the newspapermen. The nomination of Mr. Hill was duly made and seconded and the chair asked if there were any other nominations. Some one in the newspaper crowd shouted, "What's the matter with Reilly?" "Yes, what's the matter with Reilly?" a chorus of newspapermen responded. "Reilly, Reilly," spread all over the hall and in a short space of time everybody was shouting Reilly. The man who nominated Hill withdrew his name and seconded the nomination of Reilly. Then everybody including the newspapermen joined in a thunderous "aye," that made Reilly the choice of the State Democracy for judge of the superior court.

Though his selection was somewhat in the nature of a joke it was not by any means a bad one.

ECHO OF CONVENTION.

Citizens' Committee Which Had Charge of the Letter Carriers' Convention to Be Sued.

The citizens' committee, who had in charge the arrangements for the letter carriers' convention, and the proprietors of the Westminster hotel are at odds, and the latter have served notice on the former that they propose suing them for a small matter of $960 on Nov. 8, if satisfactory arrangements are not made by that time.

The whole trouble is over the New York Letter Carriers' band, which was quartered at the Westminster during the week of the convention. A contract was entered into between the citizens' committee and the proprietors of the hotel to furnish accommodations for eighty-five men for eight days, the sum to be paid being $960.

When the band and drum corps came they stayed at the hotel for three days. Suddenly the forty-five bandmen left the house and went to another hotel, where they stayed for the remainder of the week. The committee paid their bill at the latter place and then offered to settle with the Westminster people for the actual board received by the men for the time they stayed there, but the proprietors would accept no such offer.

They claim that the bandmen left on account of a grievance which existed between them and the drum corps men; that they left without warning, putting them to a great loss.

They state that the offer made was below the actual value of the services rendered and couldn't be considered for a moment. They are now determined to hold the committee for the amount stipulated in the contract, and Ward & Horn, their attorneys, have served notice to that effect.

The citizens' committee, on the other hand, say that the men complained of the accommodations were not what they expected, there being too many in a room, etc., and that they can't be expected to pay the Westminster people, having already paid the board once. They also say that the sum offered by them was exactly what was due and was estimated on the rates furnished by the hotel men, and that it was a perfectly fair and legitimate proposal.

The question arises as to exactly who can be sued, the committee as a whole, or only those who signed the contract, namely, Edward Robathan and several of the letter carriers who comprised a committee for the purpose.

There is only about half the sum mentioned left in the committee's treasury.

Peckville Cars Connect with the Carbondale System.

The Scranton Railway company has now connected its Peckville line with the recently acquired Carbondale system, the Peckville cars running half a mile farther up the valley than heretofore in order to make better connections.

In order to allow the Scranton cars to go this extra half mile it was necessary to narrow the gauge of the track from four feet to three feet, eight and one-quarter inches, the latter being the gauge of all the tracks in this city.

NEW USE FOR A GATE.

The O'Briens Thought It Was Meant for Firewood.

On "gate night," last Tuesday, a gate belonging to the fence of Thomas J. Gannon, of Stone avenue, was removed from its hinges and quietly abstracted. Miss Julia Gannon learned the next day that the gate was thrown into the yard of her neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick O'Brien. She discovered who the malefactors were who had stolen the gate and she sent them after it.

They returned minus the gate and plus the assurance that the O'Briens would not surrender it. Thereupon the blood of the family Gannon rose and Julia, together with her brothers, John, Frank and Tom, marched to the O'Brien stronghold, where they found not the gate, but a neat pile of firewood which had formerly been the ornament to their fence. On complaining of such usage they received the highly comforting answer that they deserved to lose their gate if they could not guard it any better.

At this a spirited debate arose in which clubs and fists were the chief arguments presented. O'Brien was twice felled to the earth and as a result had the belligerent party before Alderman Kaeson Saturday on the charges of assault and battery and threats to kill. John and Frank were placed under $100 bail each on the first charge and Julia and Tom will answer to the latter one.

ACTIONS IN TRESPASS.

Henry Granville, through Vosburg & Dawson, instituted a suit for $25,000 damages Saturday last against the Mt. Pleasant Coal company. Granville claims that the company did not provide a signal bell for the engineer and that while he (Granville) was fixing a belt on a wheel on April 18 last, that the engine was started without warning, catching him in the wheel and crushing his foot and ankle and dislocating his ribs.

Mrs. Mary Kelly and her five children, Thomas, Francis, Joseph, William and Mary, of Wilkes-Barre, entered suit in that city last week for $20,000 damages against the Delaware and Hudson company. The plaintiff's allege that Patrick Kelly, the head of the house, died in December, 1898, and that his death was due to negligence on the part of the company. He was burned in an explosion in the mine and instead of procuring the mine ambulance as required by law the company officials, it is alleged, sent him home in an open wagon causing the contraction of pneumonia from which he died.
