COMPLAINTS RECEIVED.

Night School Pupils Said to be Very Disorderly

Complaint has been received by Mayor Moir from various sections of the city regarding the boys attending the night schools recently opened. It is said that they persist in carrying their pranks beyond the endurance limit; annoying pedestrians on the street and in many instances destroying personal property.

The mayor has instructed the police men throughout the city to be on the watch for these offenders and warning is given that if they continue these doings they will be arrested and summarily dealt with.

Free Hotel and Boarding-House Directory.

The Lackawanna Railroad is preparing to thoroughly advertise all the cities and towns along its lines with the purpose of inducing travel to these points. In connection with such adertising it proposes to issue a complete directory of hotels and boardingouses in each of the towns along the line. No charge will be made to any hotel or boarding house for inserting its name in this publication, and it is desired that the name of every hotel and every person who now takes boarders, or may desire to do so, shall appear in its pages. Proprietors of all such houses are requested to call upor the agent here, and leave with him information regarding the location of houses, and other information which it is desired to incorporate in the proposed directory.

SELECTMEN WANTED TO KNOW CHARGES.

NOT FORTHCOMING THEY MADE SOME THEMSELVES.

Mayor Is Accused of Admitting to There Were No Charges Against Patrolman Flaherty and Then with Having Sent in a Communication Police Comes in for Some Comments-Connery is Confirmed.

Against vigorous protests from the anti-administration men against removing an officer for cause without an companiment of preferred charges, select council last night approved the dismissal of Patrolman Flaherty, one of the veterans of the force, and confirmed the appointment of Thomas M. Connery, nominated by Mayor Moir as his successor.

All the Republicans with the exception of Mr. Williams, and one Democrat, Mr. Melvin, voted with the mayor, making the tally twelve to nine. Mr. O'Boyle, who voted with the mayor on the removal of Saul and Dyer, was on the opposite side this time. At the meeting of the police committee he gave as his reason for refusing to sign the report that he believed Mr. Flaherty should have an opportunity to take the matter into court such as was accorded Messrs. Saul and Dyer. The discussion was attented with an unusual and somewhat sensational incident. Mr. Coyne, who led in the has no place on the police force. fight against removing Flaherty without cause, got pretty well worked up in the heat of the debate and openly knew of no charges being preferred charged Mayor Moir with having adaption against McHale and Lewis. mitted that there was no charge against Flaherty and that Chief Robling upon being pressed to answer a question as to Mr. Flaherty's conduct turned upon Mr. Coyne as if to as-

COYNE ASKED THE CAUSE. The discussion leading up to Mr. loyne's charges was precipitated by his asking the members of the police committee for "the cause" for which they recommended the patrolman's

Mr. Finn, chairman of the police committee, replied that the members of council are well aware of the fact that Flaherty was removed during Mayor Bailey's administration for a very serious offense. Mr. Finn didn't know of any subsequent cause, but that in itself ought to be sufficient, he thought.

"Those charges," said Mr. Coyne, were sifted and found to be ground-They were a mere pretext to get him off the force to make room for some friend of those who were prefer-The mayor's investigaring them. tion showed these charges to be vain and empty and placed Flaherty back

"Even if they were true," said Mr. Roche, "they would not justify M: Flaherty's removal now.'

Mr. Finn volunteered the information that Flaherty and the chief of police don't speak to one another. There might be other complaints against Flaherty, but he did not know of them. Mr. Shea thought the members of seect council ought to know "the cause" when they are joining with the mayor in removing a man for cause.

Mr. Lansing said that when Flaherty was removed, one year ago, there was a lack of harmony between the officer and the head of the department, There was insubordination then and the in subordination still continues, "One year ago," said Mr. Lansing, "I voted to sustain Mayor Bailey in removing this officer, just as I will vote to sustain Mayor Moir, tonight."

DISCIPLINE NECESSARY.

Mr. Sanderson said: "Above all things, in an organized body, discipline is absolutely necessary. If subordinates get it into their heads that the orders of their superiors can be nullified by another body, it is perfectly inconsistent to expect discipline will be maintained."

"It won't be disputed," said Mr. Roche, "that the right of select council is co-ordinate with that of the mayor in the appointment of officers, This being true, the council has an equal right with the mayor to know the causes for which they remove an

"If any member of this body," continued Mr. Roche, "knows why Officer Flaherty is to be removed he should make it known. The charge made against him during the last administration proved to be groundless. Otherwise he would not have been put back on the force. If there is anything else that can be brought against him, I want to know it."

There are no charges against him." broke in Mr. Coyne, "Mayor Moir said to Mr. Flaherty, in my presence: 'No, I have no charges against you. I am forced to get rid of you. They are hounding me to make places and I have got to remove you.' Later I saw the chief of police and asked him if he had any complaint against Flaherty. He gave no answer, and when I asked him again he turned upon me and I thought he was going to club me right on the street. The chief is the one who ought to be removed, if the truth was known. He is not fit to be at the head of the police department."

"That's right," said Mr. Roche, from the rear of the room, where he was

NO CHARGES AT ALL. "Were these charges preferred in writing or orally?" queried Mr. Chit-

"There were no charges at all," said Select Councilman Coyne That Mr. O'Boyle, of the police committee, had no charges to act upon." "Oh!" said Mr. Chittenden.

Mr. Melvin attempted to excuse the action of the mayor and the committee Removing Him for Cause-Chief of by saying that this sort of thing was customary in former administrations. He remembered a time when twelve officers were discharged at one time for cause and no charges were preferred.

Mr. Kennedy came in with a protest against discharging an old and faithful officer who had done sixteen years' service, unless there was good cause for discharging him. "We ought to know what cause there is for removing him before we vote to sustain the mayor. If the mayor has any complaints to make he ought to have the moral courage to make them."

Mr. Melvin reminded Mr. Kearney that he voted to remove Chief Simpon and Patroimen Lewis and McHale. To this Mr. Kearney replied that he believed in allowing a mayor to select any clique he saw fit. As to Lewis and McHale, he voted against them because there were charges made against them that warranted their removal. McHale insulted the mayor during the campaign and that, Mr. Kearney said, was good cause for his removal. Any policeman who will insult a citizen, and especially one who is so prominent as to be put forward for the office of mayor,

Mr, Finn remarked that he was on the police committee at that time and

MR. SHEA'S MOTION. The discussion was brought to a lose with a motion by Mr. Shea that the report be referred back to the committee with instructions to find out for what cause Flaherty was to be removed. The motion was lost by the following vote:

Nays-Messrs. Ress. Finn, Thomas. James, Melvin, Chittenden, Schneider, Sanderson, Fellows, Schroed-

A motion to approve of the dismissal of Flaherty was carried by a similar division and then Connery was confirmed by a vote of 17 to 4. Messes Kearney, McCann, Frable and Coyne voting in the negative.

er, Lansing, 12.

The new patrolman, Thomas M. Connery, is a handsome man about 35 years old. He stands six feet one inch in his stocking feet and tips the scales at 175 pounds. He has been employed for a number of years as a steel worker in the South mill.

He is a self-educated man and his knowledge of the best to be found in the works of the great authors is said to be truly remarkable when the fact is taken into consideration that he flas very little spare time to himself. What time he has had, however, has been spent in studious reading. He will, no doubt, be a valuable acquisition to the city's police force.

National Judiciary Committee of the J. O. U. A. M., Considering Case of the State Council

The national judiciary committee of the Junior Order United American Mechanics on Wednesday in Odd Fellows' temple, Philadelphia, heard the protest of the state council of Pennsylvania against the nullification of its charter.

It will be remembered that at the state convention of this organization held last September in this city, an order for the dissolution of the state council was issued by the national grand councilor because the delegates refused to conform with certain of the revised laws of the national council. The final settlement of the matter was left to the judiciary committee.

At Wednesday's hearing State Councillor George D. Bowers, of Altoona, and Alexander M. De Haven, of Philadelphia, appeared for the state council, while A. D. Wilkins, of Pittsburg.

represented the national council. The particular law which the Pennsylvanians refused to comply with was one requiring that a per capita tax of 15 cents be levied upon each member and transferred to the national fund. At the hearing the contention was made by the state's representatives that, as Pennsylvania comprises onethird of the entire organization, that the ratio of tax is unfair, as it makes pay the expenses of the smaller states without increased representa3

It was also contended that the national council's jurisdiction in the matter extends no further than the act of dissolution and that It has no power to nullify the state's charter, that belonging solely and wholly to state council. The committee took the matter under advisement and will render a decision in a few days

According to the Philadelphia North American, the result will probably favor this state and in all probability the state council will be reorganized and a ratio of taxation adopted to correspond with the state council's demands.
