The Use of Fusee Signals.
A circular pertaining to the use of the green and red fusee signals on the Northern, Southern and Bloomsburg divisions, which were recently adopted on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, has been issued by Trainmaster Hamilton as follows:

Each conductor will make requisition on the undersigned and obtain one of the standard signal cases and two dozen green and two dozen red fusees. The signal case is to be used by the flagman of each train and conductors will see that the cases contain four green and four red fusees, a red flag, and one dozen torpedoes, and that the same is always ready for instant use. These fusees when lighted will burn ten minutes and should be so placed that they will be readily seen by trains following. They are to be used in connection with other safety signals and will operate as follows:

The green indicating caution and the red danger.

Train finding the green fusee burning on or near the track will reduce speed and proceed with caution for the distance of one mile or until other signals are passed indicating track is clear. A train finding the red fusee will stop until fusee has burned out, when they will proceed with caution for a distance of one mile, or until other signals are passed indicating track is clear.

When a train running at night or during foggy or stormy weather reduces speed between stations or approaching stations a lighted fusee should be thrown from the rear of the train as a warning to following trains until speed is so reduced that a flagman may safely drop off and go back with danger signals, as required by Rule 2.

A flagman sent out to protect a train at night or in foggy or stormy weather, must carry red and white lights and a signal case. A lighted red fusee will be left at night, or in foggy or stormy weather, by a flagman in addition to the torpedoes required by rule when he is recalled by the whistle of his engine, as a precaution while he is returning to his train. This does not in any way modify Rule 7 of general instructions.

Trainmen who are not familiar in the use of fusees and the manner of lighting them will be instructed by calling at this office. Any fusees found to be imperfect or failing to burn should be reported to the trainmaster, and when practicable same should be sent to this office with an explanation of the defect so found.

Trainmen are expected to use judgment in the use of fusees and not use them unnecessarily or carelessly. When thrown from the rear of trains they should be directed in such manner as to warn or light on the right-hand track or outside of it and not on or near the opposite track.

The red fusee is not in use on the M. & E. division. The main line trainmen running over M. & E. division will be governed by the instructions issued by the officials of that division in relation to fusees and their use.

A. C. Salisbury, Superintendent.
P. F. Hamilton, Trainmaster.

Street Car Men Organize.
The street car employees held another meeting early yesterday morning for the purpose of furthering the organization of a union. The particulars of the proceedings could not be learned, as the men identified with the organization are keeping the matter a secret.

It is believed, however, that the majority of the men are not in favor of an organization. The promoters of the union have selected the following officers: President, John Williams; secretary, John R. Jones; treasurer, P. J. Leonard; chairman of executive committee, James Powell.

Application has been made for a charter and when it is secured another meeting will be held.

Application for Charter.
The Scranton Steam Pump company, which was recently organized for the purpose of manufacturing steam pumps and other articles from patents obtained by John R. Poore, the machinist, has applied for a charter. The formal application will be made to Governor Stone on December 11.

The petitioners are John B. Poore, Edward E. Sturges, Clarence B. Sturges, Herbert W. Taylor, Edward S. Dolph and others.

GET YOUR SHARE.
Are you getting your share of the vast amount of money spent in advertising? It used to be all given to the publishers of newspapers and magazines, but by the latest method it is freely distributed among the people themselves; that is, among those who are alert and quick, and can see an advantage when it is offered them.

One of the most successful establishments in America, the Woolson Spice company, of Toledo, Ohio, is spending thousands of dollars in advertising their Lion Coffee, and they are paying out this money directly to the people who purchase the coffee. Their plan is to enclose in their one-pound package of Lion Coffee a most attractive Premium List. So costly are some of the articles on this Premium List that one wonders how they can afford to give them away with their goods; but it must be remembered that these premiums are bought in enormous quantities and bought directly of the manufacturers, so that they are secured at about one-fourth the price the retail consumer pays. No profit is paid to shipper, wholesaler or retailer; the goods are all bought at first hand.

This method of introducing Lion Coffee is as if you wanted to purchase some article for which you would have to pay $1.00; the proprietors of Lion Coffee buy it for you for 25c, and then give it to you for the trouble that you take in letting them know you are using their coffee.

The housekeeper who is alive to the value of her patronage may now, by a little trouble, secure many desirable articles from time to time at no cost. All that she has to do is to cut out and preserve the Lion head which appears on the wrapper of every package of Lion Coffee. These lion heads are received by the Woolson Spice Company in pay for their premiums.

The New Premium List which has just been issued in connection with Lion Coffee is unsurpassed in its liberality. Some of the most attractive articles on the market today are included in this list.

It is evident that the Woolson Spice Company places great value on the recommendation of a satisfied customer, for they believe the best advertising of Lion Coffee is where some one who uses it tells a friend of its good quality. It is mostly in this way that its enormous sale has been brought about. Many people are so delighted with it that they feel it a duty to recommend it to their friends, and as every package contains a Premium List with full instructions for securing the articles offered, there is much interest in buying Lion Coffee for household use. Really, Lion Coffee is almost unsurpassed in its quality, and it is a mystery how it can be sold for such a low price. It is better than many other brands of coffee which cost two or three times as much. It would seem as though the time was approaching when every family would be drinking this famous beverage.

BELEDEN'S COON HUNT.
A Melrose Farmer Bring Down Strange Game.
Special to The Scranton Tribune.
Susquehanna, Nov. 17.—On Wednesday evening a farmer named Belden, residing near Melrose, went out with his dog for a coon hunt, and when near Stevens' Point, the dog started something, and after starting it for a short distance, tread his game in a tall ash. Belden walked about the tree several times without discovering the animal, which he supposed to be a raccoon, but presently discovered it crouched in the fork of a tree, about twenty feet from the ground.

There was a good light, which enabled him to draw a bead upon the "coon," and he sent in that direction a load of shot, which was followed by a startling scream, and the half-falling, half-scrambling descent of the evidently injured game. As soon as it reached the ground the dog sailed in, but he was immediately sent yelping from the scene by a powerful blow from one of the pawed animal, which proved to be a full-grown wildcat of the male persuasion.

Belden at this juncture gave the beast the contents of the other barrel of his gun, and finally killed it with a club. The cat was a big one, weighing about forty-five pounds. This animal, which is really the American lynx, and not a "wildcat," is quite common in midwinter, but are rarely seen at this season of the year.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.
The lecture which was given by Dr. Scott Thursday evening proved very interesting and instructive. He handled the subject of ancient and modern Rome in a very able manner. Those of the pupils who attended gained a considerable amount of knowledge pertaining to ancient Rome, which they have not in their course in the Freshman year. Following is the list of succeeding lectures which will be given at the auditorium: "Primitive Rome, The Palatine," Thursday evening, Nov. 23; "Aqueducts, Baths, Forum-Romanum," Tuesday evening, Nov. 28; "Closing Chapters, Tombs," Thursday evening, Dec. 7; "Last Days of Pompeii," Thursday evening, Dec. 14.

Principal Grant read a communication from Superintendent Howells, directed to the president of the Athletic association, before the school at chapel yesterday morning. He informed the president that he accepted the invitation which had been sent him to attend the game Saturday, and in order to help the boys out as much as possible he requested that the manager would send him ten tickets and with them the bill. This was very kind of Mr. Howell.

Mr. Kirkbride, who has been appointed chief of the roof of the city's gas-works, will, with his many assistants, succeed in making considerable noise. They intend, as far as possible, to drown out the yells of the visiting team and make the old gold and blue the predominant color on the field. In this they will succeed.

ceed if every student does his utmost to be present at the park today.

For some unknown reason the scrub did not play the games which were to come off on Wednesday and Thursday. But nevertheless they endeavored to make a touchdown against the first team Friday. The scrub plays with a great amount of skill and daring and in some instances makes some very fierce gains and plays.

There will be a goodly number of pupils at the Delaware and Hudson depot this morning to meet the boys from Williamsport and give them a rousing reception. The train bearing the players is expected to arrive here at 10:30 o'clock.

A considerable amount of pushing took place yesterday morning around the bulletin boards in the locker rooms. Every boy was endeavoring to gain the nearest place possible to read the announcements about today's game.

There was a considerable amount of snow thrown Wednesday at Intermittent. Although the boys had an excellent time, no person was hurt by the flying missiles.

The senior class held a meeting Friday at the close of the session for the purpose of reconsidering the subject of the class pin for 1900.

Professor Schirmer succeeds in keeping the military standard of the center table of students. Sanford Phillips proves a very able corporal.
