Polander's Friends Think He Met Foul Play-Cases of Assault.

Some friends of Simon Ostrosfaky, who was run over and killed by a lo-comotive at No. 10 bridge Saturday night, seem to think he was murdered, and had a warrant issued for a man with an unpronounceable name, who was last seen with him. According to the evidence four men left a saloon early in the morning. Two went home by the wagon road and two by the rall-One boarded a train and the other, being too drunk to follow suit, lay on the track and was killed by a Two more witnesses will be sworn tonight, but the indications are that the complaint will be shown to be groundless. No motive for the alleged crime has been discovered. Mrs. Hattie Wayman had her hus-band, Thomas Wayman, arrested for assault and battery, but they kissed and made up-or more properly made up and kissed-before they left Alderman Jones' office.

Ann Manley also charges Thomas
