THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE-WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1899.

TUNKHANNOCK.

Special to The Scranton Tribune. Tunkhannock, Dec. 5 .- J. A. Gallets, president of the Empire State Construction company, of Olean, N. Y., and K. MacKenzie, contractor and of an Actor's Life." He was formerly daughter, of Big Hollow, N. Y., are guests of J. H. Van Loan. to make arrangements for the erection of the new canning factory. Mr. Gallets and Mr. MacKenzie are both of the opinion that the Nicholson lot which was selected by the location committee is not as desirable a site as the committee seemed to think and are endeavoring to get the stockholders to agree to change the location to the lot adjoining the electric light plant. Messrs. Burnette and Emmons, who are associated with Mr. Gallets in the business and who solicited the subscriptions for stock, were members of the committee on site and were so pleased with the Nicholson lot that they closed a contract with Attorney C. O. Dershimer for it before they left town. The chief objections to this location seem to be the price -$800-and that the surface of the ground is some six or eight inches below the leve! of the railroad track. They also claim, the lot is not large enough. The other piece of ground suggested will cost the ompany nothing and is plenty large enough and on the line of the Montrose rallway, but some distance out of town. The sentiment of the majority of the stockholders, however, is in favor of the Nicholson lot.

The will of Theron Vaughan, of Mehoopany, who died last Friday, was probated yesterday. By the terms of his will his housekeeper, Sarah E. Singer, provided she remained with him until his decease, receives $600 and the bed and bedding in the room occupied by her. This devise to be in full of all claims and demands for wages and otherwise, To his son, George D. Vaughn, he gave $1,500 and his house hold goods and 'furniture excepting the above. The balance of the estate is devised in equal shares to his four sons, Orrin Vaughn, of Moscow, Judge Frank M. Vaughn, of Meshoppen: George D. Vaughn and County Commissioner-elect Edward M. Vaughn, of Mehoopany. He appointed his sons, Frank M. Vaughn and George D. Vaughn, executors, and they took out the letters testamentary yesterday. The will is dated March 30, 1899.

T. G. Walters, conductor on the Montrose rallway, is lying quite serlously ill at his home to the east of town. Mr. Walters has been conductor and general manager of the Montrose road for the past thirty years. He has a wide circle of friends and acquaintances who will be pained to hear of his illness.

Sheriff-elect John W. Grey, of Beaumont, was in town on Monday and arranged to give his bond in the sum of $10,000.

M. L. Martin, of Burdette, N. Y., and Peter A. Miller are loading several carloads of number at White's Ferry which was purchased of Sprunks & Walver. at Keelersburg.

Mrs. George Wagner, of Tunkhannock township, fell last Sunday morning and sustained a bad fracture of her wrist, which will probably result in the loss of movement of her hand.

The rifle match on Saturday last at Pittston between Company M. Ninth regiment, of that place, and Company M. Thirteenth regiment, of this place, resulted in a victory for the Tunkhannock team by one point. The total score was 258 points for Pittston and 259 for our boys. This was the third match of the series, each team having won a match before, so that the question of superiority was settled by a small margin.

A marriage license was issued Monday to Chauncey L. Weaver, son of Leonard Weaver, and Miss Carrie A. Keller, daughter of John Keller, both of Centremoreland.

of securities. Liquidation was the order of the day and caught orders that have waited for weeks on deferred hopes of the situation clearing up. The weakness was most apparent in the industrials and specialties, but the railroad stocks were very generally sold. There was some buying of stocks last week on the presumption of speculative professionals that the president's message was to be a builtsh document and its publication today brought profit-taking from those sources in the natural order of events. The paragraphs of the message bearing on the subject of industrial combinations was the ground for the special weakness in the industrials. Quite a number of these securities are from 1 to 3 points lower on the day. A single lot of United States milling preferred sold at 12 against 22% on the last preceding sale. But the principal influence in the weakness was the money situation. The spasmodic character of the selling and the exceedingly dullness of the intervening periods reflected the operation of loan contraction by the banks, the successive calling of loans throwing blocks of securities upon the market, which found no support awaiting them. There were some slight signs of firmness in the early dealings, especially in
