SOCIAL EVENTS.

Today the Young Women's Christian association and its various branches will have open house, where a delightful entertainment will be given. These New Year receptions have been great features in the association in the past, and from year to year have enjoyed the interest and admiration of the most prominent people of the city. Today various officers and managers will be present at all the rooms, both the central, South Side, North End and West Side branches. Coffee, cake, sandwiches, etc., will be served to all callers, and a charming musical programme has been prepared for each place. The public is cordially invited to attend the receptions at one or all of the association headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Cramer von Storch gave a beautiful reception Saturday night at their home on Monroe avenue. Mrs. von Storch also received on the afternoon of that day. A very large number of people called during the afternoon and evening, when the chief topic of conversation was the Bachelor's ball, and the general verdict was that all "had the time of their lives."

packer, Mrs. George Rice, Mrs. H. W. Cross, Miss Maude Matthews, of Newburgh; Miss Eleanor Reynolds, Miss Hennes, Miss Helen Minshall, of Philadelphia; Miss Watson, Miss Eloise Gilmore, Miss Helen Matthews, Miss Ruth Jackson.
Among those present Saturday evening were: Miss Curtis, of Washington, D. C.; Miss Anna Archibald, Miss Boles, Miss Katzenbach, Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith, Miss Waring, Miss Weiler, Miss Ettrude Sprague, Miss Edith Miles, of Yorkers; Miss Janet Dickson, the Misses Reynolds, Miss Turnbull, of Baltimore, the Misses Matthews, Miss Sanderson, the Misses Nettleton, Lieutenant Orton Jackson, Messrs. Barrett, of Philadelphia, Katzenbach, New York, Hildwin, Courtlandt Jones, E. W. Holland, David Boles, Jesse Jones, of Wilkes-Barre; Geurin, M. B. Fuller, T. P. Fuller, E. E. Chase, J. H. Brooks, Cross, Nettleton and others.

By an error the names of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Robinson were included in the list of guests in the printed report of the Bachelor's ball. As they were not there, this correction is due to the honored pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, who with his wife is not seen at dances.

Mrs. Thomas Sprague will have a large reception tomorrow afternoon at her new home on Quincy avenue.

Mrs. Everett Warren will receive this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Smith will entertain tomorrow evening in honor of Miss Calpin.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Hulbert will give a dancing party tomorrow evening.

This evening the New Year assembly will be held at the Bicyclic club.

PERSONAL

Miss Miles, of Yorkers, N. Y., is the guest of Miss Janet Dickson.

Robert Crossin, of New York, is visiting at the home of his mother on Madison avenue.

Among the guests at the Jermyn are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Stratton, of Washington, D. C.

Alderman and Mrs. John P. Kelly on Saturday night left for New York city, where they will spend this week.

Mr. Frank Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aris Williams, is visiting at the home of his uncle, Dr. Olin, of Utica.

Mrs. C. B. Jenkins, of Thomson, en tertained over Sunday Mr. and Mrs. W. Brandow and daughter, Charlotte, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Greene, George D. Taylor, Haydn Evans, H. G. Carr and J. Holden, of this city, were registered at the Hotel Albert, in New York, last week.

William Haslin, son of T. Haslin, of Throon, has returned from Puerto Rico. There he acted in the military hospital attached to the Third cavalry. Many interesting mementos of his year's service were brought home by him.

Dr. Theodore Weisenburg, late house surgeon at the Germania hospital, yesterday afternoon left that institution for Philadelphia. There he will enter the Philadelphia city hospital, having obtained a place on the staff. Dr. Weisenburg was at the Lackawanna hospital for about six months, and in that time made many warm friends.

KILLED BY TROLLEY CAR.

Man Supposed to Be Michael Purrell, of Hickory Street, Crushed and Mangled Last Night.

A young man, thought to be Michael Purrell, of Hickory street, was struck and instantly killed at 11:45 o'clock last night by a Scranton bound Bellevue-Stone avenue trolley car No. 112, at the corner of Pittston avenue and Hickory street.

It was coming down Hickory street at a fair rate of speed when suddenly it struck a man's body.

Before the car could be stopped, the inert form had been dragged several yards, and when extricated from under the wheels, presented a terrible appearance. The entire body was fearfully mangled, the flesh being literally torn off, and the bones crushed and shattered. Blood streamed from every part of the frame, and the man's head was almost severed from the body. A crowd immediately gathered, but in the dark no one could recognize the features of the unfortunate man.

One member of the crowd was sent for Undertaker Cusick, who sent his ambulance to the scene, and the body was taken to the undertaking establishment.

A hat worn by the man had in it the initials M. P. A young man named Gordon, who lives on the South Side, and had ventured in, on seeing the man's face, instinctively said: "That's Mike Purrell. I'd know his face anywhere."

Purrell was a young man of about twenty, and boarded with his brother-in-law, a man named Welsh, living on Hickory street, near Irving avenue.

He came here a few years ago from Carbonate, and obtained a position as conductor with the Scranton Traction company. About six months ago he left their employ and has since worked in Clarke Brothers store, Neither Courtlandt Bennett nor Motorman W. E. Weisling, of the car, can give any satisfactory account of the way the accident happened. They say that if he had been standing he would have been lifted directly on the fender, and that he must have been lying on the rails.

Purrell was a young man of good habits, well liked by his fellow employes, and the news of the terrible death was an awful shock to them.

HUNLOCK'S CREEK BURGLARY.

D., L. & W. Depot Entered and Robbed Saturday Morning. Burglars entered the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot at Hunlock's creek Saturday morning, but did not make much of a haul. They blew open the safe and finally left after securing 150 one-cent revenue stamps.

They tore up a large number of tickets and time tables, however, and left behind a burglar's kit of a file, wrench, hand drill, file saw and three bits.

SCRANTON IS PROOF AGAINST BIG STORMS

SO OBSERVES WEATHER OBSERVER H. E. PAINE.

In an interesting Discussion of the Weather for the Year Just Closed He Expresses the Conviction That This Particular Valley Is Safe from the Inroads of the Big Storms—Despite the Dry Spell in the Summer the Total Precipitation Was Above the Average.

There are those of an observing turn of mind who contend that the year just closed was one of the driest in the memory of the oldest inhabitants, but despite these observations and the fact that small water companies had to draw on the larger ones for their supply, and that water trains, for the first time on record, were run up and down the valley, it was not only not a "drought" year, but wetter by some three-quarters of 1 per cent, than the average year in this end of the country.

So, at least, says Weather Observer H. E. Paine, and he gets his information from observations made daily with apparatus furnished by the government.

The precipitation in 1899 was 34.35 inches. In 1898 it was 33.93; in 1897 it was 35.53, and in 1896 it was 31.58. The average precipitation for the four years was 34.01, or 74 less than it was last year.

PRECIPITATION BY MONTHS.

The fact that there was a dry spell when water was most in demand is accounted for by the following table, showing the precipitation by month: January, 2.43; February, 4.29; March, 3.76; April, 1.95; May, 2.73; June, 2.65; July, 1.73; August, 3.62; September, 2.43; October, 2.33; November, 2.13; December, 2.05. The precipitation, as will be noticed, was in a large measure snow-fall. We got more than our usual share of wet in the winter and consequently ran short in the summer.

The natural subterranean water course, which is the artificial surface reservoirs filled up and overflowed and then surplusage was discharged and went its way to the ocean.

This prodigality, coupled with the fact that the precipitation for a certain locality does not vary as to its aggregate, explains the apparent anomaly of a severe drought in a year when the precipitation is above the average.

The temperature, Mr. Paine finds was 1.21 degree lower than the average. The mean temperature for the past four years was 49.21. For 1899 it was 47.96. The fact that nearly all of last winter's frigidly was crowded into the latter part of the winter accounts for this, Mr. Paine says.

RECORD BREAKING MONTH.

Last month was a record breaker. The total snow fall for the thirty-one days was only 1 1/2 inches. This is the smallest snow fall in a December month that Mr. Paine has any record of and he has been keeping tabs on that sort of thing for twenty years. The maximum temperature of the month was 62 degrees which was reached on the twelfth. The minimum was zero, recorded last Saturday. Yesterday it was above zero. The month was characterized by a very even temperature, growing gradually colder and colder until the present zero weather was reached.

Mr. Paine's observations has led him to the conviction that Scranton is impregnable to heavy general storms.

NEW COUNTY OFFICIALS.

Commissioners and Auditors to Reorganize Today—Nothing Authentic Known About Plans.

Nothing authentic could be learned yesterday of the plans of the incoming county commissioners regarding possible changes in the working force of their office and the selection of a successor to County Solicitor H. A. Knapp, who has declined to serve another term.

It is generally understood, however, that Herbert L. Taylor is to be the next county solicitor. One of the positions of chief clerk, there is a variety of rumors, but the commissioners-elect will not say which of them is the correct one. In fact, they claim they do not themselves know what will be done in this regard. One of them said yesterday that even if the majority of the commissioners were disposed to remove Mr. Wagner, there is a question as to their power to do so, considering his appointment made recently for three years, under the act passed last year authorizing just this thing.

The commissioners will take charge at high noon and will at once enter upon the task of selecting their assistants. At 2 o'clock a meeting of the commissioners, presided Judge Archibald and Sheriff Fryar, is scheduled to reorganize the prison board. Mr. Morris says he will not resign his position on the board of six school controllers. He has been unable to discontinue anything in the law making the two offices incompatible, and until such time as he is convinced that he must give up one office or the other, he proposes to hold both. "The people elected me to the office; I'm willing to serve in them, and why should I give one of them up?" said Mr. Morris.

STANDARD IS HIGH.

We further state our conviction that the standard of propriety, honesty and honor in this county is quite equal to that of any section of the state, and that the bar of this county has been for years particularly noted for the esprit de corps among its members. We further state that the standard of examinations for admission to the bar of this county has been steadily raised for a number of years past and there is no bar in the state in which the standard is now higher or the examinations made more thorough and rigorous.

HARRIS' REMARKS ARE CONDEMNED

LAWYERS DON'T LIKE HIS REPORTED UTTERANCES.

Deny That There is Any General Rate Cutting and Say the Proprieties Are Rigidly Maintained by the Members of the Local Bar.—At a Meeting Held Saturday Resolutions Were Passed Which Express the Sentiment of the Members of the Lackawanna Bar.

Nothing in years has occurred to so stir up the members of the Lackawanna bar as Attorney John M. Harris' reported criticisms at the meeting of the State Bar association committee in Pittsburg, as told in Saturday's Tribune.

With scarcely an exception the lawyers who have expressed themselves condemn the speech as unwarranted, uncalled for, and highly indelicate. That there is any general rate cutting or that the proprietaries are not rigidly maintained among the members of the profession is emphatically denied. There may be some isolated instances of rate-cutting, the lawyers say, but it is not such as would warrant Mr. Harris in making the sweeping assertion he did, even if it was made at home and to a purpose, instead of in the manner in which it was made.

The general indignation aroused by the reading of the press dispatch crystallized in a set of resolutions, adopted at a specially convened meeting of the directors of the bar association Saturday afternoon.

Whereas, The Associated Press dispatches of today contain reference to statements alleged to have been made by John M. Harris, a member of this bar, at a meeting of the general committee of the State Bar association held at Pittsburg yesterday, reflecting upon the professional standing of the bar and upon the willingness or ability of the court of this county to properly punish unworthy members of the bar, the directors of the Lackawanna Law and Library association, together with an associated body of the members of the bar of the county, place upon their minutes the following action:

We resolve that it would be unjust to Mr. Harris to act upon mere telegraphic reports of statements alleged to have been made by him, yet the widespread publicity of the report makes it necessary that some action be taken, and thus assuming, without prejudice to him, that he is correctly reported, we resolve that the association has a most excellent and efficient board of censors, composed of the following members of the bar: W. W. Lathrop, George S. Horn, Everett Warren, H. M. Streeter and Joseph O'Brien. This board of censors has never refused or hesitated to promptly take up and thoroughly pursue any charges made against any member of the bar, neither have the Judges of our courts been negligent of their duty in this matter, but have always been quick to rebuke any breaches of professional propriety committed in their presence and to assume jurisdiction of any complaints against its members. We further state that if such complaints were sustained, to promptly and rigorously punish the offender. Neither the association, the board of censors, nor the court, however, can act in a disciplinary manner in any way except upon specific charges made against particular individuals. No such charges and action upon such charges have ever been neglected.

STANDARD IS HIGH. We further state our conviction that the standard of propriety, honesty and honor in this county is quite equal to that of any section of the state, and that the bar of this county has been for years particularly noted for the esprit de corps among its members.

While services were being conducted Saturday morning in the Penn Avenue synagogue, a stranger from New York, reclining in the affluent name of Rothschild, abstracted an overcoat and departed from the premises. The garment belonged to Simon Aaronson.

When the latter discovered the loss of his coat he instituted a search for the coat and Rothschild. He met the latter on Penn avenue yesterday and demanded to know where his coat was. Rothschild did not answer, but did his best to break away from Aaronson's grasp.

Patrick Rothchild and Hagerty arrived on the scene, and took Rothchild to the Centre street police station. The overcoat was still missing, however, and Rothchild only could say that he had pawned it in a saloon for seventy-five cents.

Patrolmen Charles Perry and Victor Sartor succeeded in finding Rothchild in the coat in a Lackawanna avenue hotel, whence it was immediately removed. Rothchild will be given a hearing this morning before Mayor Molr.

CLUBS MUST PAY TAX.
Opinion of Judge McPherson in United States District Court. Judge McPherson, of the United States court for the Eastern district of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia Saturday filed an opinion in the test suit of the United States against the Alexis club, holding that the club is liable for the payment of the special tax of $25 per annum to the government as a retailer of liquor.

This important and much disputed question, whether a club which serves liquors to its members should have to pay the government tax, was argued a short time ago. The decision is far-reaching, as it has a bearing to the effect that clubs throughout the country must pay this tax.
