PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

"The Parish Priest," the play written

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 27, 1889.

by Daniel L. Hart, of Wilkes-Barre, for Dan Sully, the actor, received its first presentation in Middleton, Conn., Tuesday night and made a decided hit. Mr Hart is with the company and will probably remain for the rest of the season is the capacity of treasurer of the company. Austin Walsh, manager of the Galety theater, has written a song, "An Innocen-Victim," which has just been issued. "Princess Chic," Kirk La Shelle's new opera, which received its first production on any stage at Wilkes-Barre last Sat urday night, made a decided hit in Washington, D. C., this week. The book is by La Shelle and the music by Julian Edwards. It is staged and costumed in a sumptuous manner. Mr. La Shelle has departed from the modern method of constructing a comic opera. Instead of making a vehicle for a star he tried to write a comic opera. There are four comedians, none of whom are made unduly prominent.
