THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

Wall Street Review. New York, Jan. 15.-Except where a stock was under the influence of particu-lar causes the market today was almort at a standstill. No outside interest was manifested and operations were entirely in the hands of professional board room traders. Individual causes which affect-ed special stocks were for the most part depressing ones, and the sympathetic effect on the general market was toward lower prices. The most conspicuous movement of the day was in Metropolitan Street railway which was affected by the published discussion of the condition of a prominent trust company. This pub-lication served to explain last week's depublished discussion of the condition of a prominent trust company. This pub-lication served to explain last week's de-pression in Metropolitan and a group of industrials and served also to renew it. Metropolitan and the Tobacco stocks were all affected. Metropolitan fell an extreme 64. The announcement of the bidders for the New York Rapid Tran-sit tunnel contract rallied the stock slightly above last night's level, on the belief that Metropolitan interests were concerned in the bidding. An example of the kind of motives that influenced the trading was that assigned for the buying of Sugar. One of the large orders came from a brokerage house which handled money loans for the American Refining company. The traders argued open sell-ing by sellers indicated a desire to induce selling by others, upon which saptent con-chuston they hounds Sugar. company. The traders argued open sell-ing by sellers indicated a desire to induce, selling by others, upon which sapient con-clusion they bought Sugar. London seemed to take a cheerful view of the military developments in South Africa, but there was very little effect in this market. Reports of a strike in the pressed steel and wire and some other metal stocks by sympathy. The money market continued to work easier under the influence of continued gains from the interior and from the sub-treasury. Time money was readily obtained at 5 per cent. on railroad stocks. Call loans were in small demand at 35a42 per cent. Total sales today, 30,500 shares. There were some heavy individual transactions in bonds and the market was mainly firm but there were sufficient declines to give it an irregular appearance. Total sales, par value, 31,65,600. United States 5s and old 4s registered advanced ½ and do, coupon and 3s coupon ½ in the bid price.
