The select council made unsuccessful efforts to meet Saturday and last evenings. Failure was due to lack of a quorum. Several matters of importance await the attention of the body. One of the most urgent-owing to need of funds in certain appropriations-is the following ordinance:

That additional appropriations be made as follows: Special police, $25; sewers and water courses, $500; assistants to city engineer, $55; contingent fund, $170, legal costs for liens and defenses of actions, $200; city assessors, $50. These are for the fiscal year from April 3, 1899, to April 2, 1900."

THEATRICAL.

"Children of the Ghetto."

Scranton last night had an opportunity of seeing the much discussed much abused "Children of the Ghetto," the stage creation of Israel Zangwill, author of a series of sketches of the same name and the special pleader for better, purer and nobler drama. One of Scranton's best audiences saw the play and went home satisfied as to the reason it has been abused, but not quite able to comprehend why it has been so long and loudly discussed. Assuredly it is not a drama, not even a series of skillful wrought out and faithful pictures of the lives of the people of the Jewish quarter of London. Only in a hazy and unsatisfactory way does it present the Hebrew types. In depicting the home life of he Hebrews Zangwill is a trifle more satisfying but he would insist on lugging in the most grotesque characters for the sake of comedy effects, just as an ordinary playwrite who was in the business for money, might have done Mr. Zangwill is here to give the stage a mission, to make it better and higher and all that sort of thing, and we had a right to expect better things from him. Yet there he calmly introduces us to a woman-one of his types, heaven forefend-who constantly reminds those within her hearing that her lower extremities are not mates and explains the whys and wherefores of nature's rather one-sided treatment of her means of locomotion. Intensely funny, isn't it? Delightful humor, Zangwell believes there is humor in legs. Another of his characters-this n male-has legs that wohld around even more terrifyingly than his eyes and his affections. This disgusting imbecile, who never had a counterpart in any quarter of any city,

Poet Pinchas was little better, and was only made tolerable by the splendid work of William Norris, If there is not a little to abhor and much to censure in the "Children of the Ghetto" it also has some strong points. The character of "Reb" Shemuel, the Ghetto rabbi, is magnificent to contemplate and as magnificent in the interpretation it received at the hands of Wilton Lackage. His art and his make up were well nigh perfection. The other redeeming feature of the Zangwill play is the heart interest introduced by David Brandon and Hannah, the daughter of Rabbi Shemuel, who fervently love each other. This incident of the play was most admirably presented by Robert Edeson and Rosabel Morrison. The cast, in its en-tirety, was the best seen in Scranton this season and the play was staged most admirably. You can't make a play with scenery and people, how-ever, and "The Children of the Ghetto" is likely to end its career before the season wanes.

The Gay Masqueraders.

"The Gay Masqueraders" company last evening opened a three days' engagement at the Academy of Music and played to a large and very well satisfied audience. The company is a good one, possessing several actors and actresses above the average in ability, and some specialty artists extremely clever in their line of work.

From the opening burlesque, "Hotel De Cake Walk." until the close of the evening the company had the audience's fullest attention and good will In the opening skit Harry Brown, as Hezekiah Phosphates from Rubeville, made a goodsized hit, but rather overdid the rough and tumble part of his act by falling all over himself on every possible occasion, and making a specialty of dropping down a flight of steps every three minutes.

In the olio excellent specialties were introduced by Swift and Huber, musical entertainers, and their dog "Blootch;" "Jolly" Ida Howell, songstress; Carlos and Wuletti, dancing acrobats, and especially by Edgar W. Palfrey, expert cyclist.

This latter young man is a Londoner and rode his wheel last night in manner little short of marvelous. He gave what is probably the best exhibition of its kind ever seen in this city, and made a big hit. The performance closed with a burlesque entitled. "The Philippines." which introduced Miss Bessie Stanton in a series of beautiful poses. performance will be repeated today and tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Utopian Burlesquers.

The Utopian Burlesquers, who open ed a three days' engagement at the Galety yesterday afternoon, gave one of the brightest and best entertainments that has been witnessed at that house this season. From start to finish the show abounds with popular music and fun, with but little to disgust in the way of vulgarity which the average burlesque actor seems to think is necessary to please a Scranton audience, and cheap local gags were few and far between.

It is true that some of the comedians found it necessary to squirt water from a seltzer bottle into each other faces, but much of the fun was nearly up-to-date, with no reference to shanty hill or any of the saloonkeepers of the city. Some good spec-ialties were presented by Clara Adams, who sings coon songs with proper accent if not expression; the Three Gardners, musical artists; Flynn and Dexter, and Barton Ashley. The performance concludes with a sketch en-titled "Hotel Razzle Dazzle," which is a decidedly lively and amusing finish to an excellent burlesque entertainment. The Utopians will be at the Galety today and tomorrow afternoon and evening.

Representative Allen, of Mississippi, must look to his laurels. There is a humorist in congress, says the Washington Post. The discovery is Cushman, of Washington, whose wit keen, whose sense of the ridiculous is acute, and who tells a good story in delightful fashion. Cushman is ta'l and lank, of the Abe Lincoln style of architecture, with legs so thin that he himself says he has often been arrested for being without visible means of support. Another quaint expression is that he was once so poverty-stricken that he sewed buckshot in his summer coat to make it heavy enough for win-ter wear.
