EVENTS OF DAY IN WEST SCRANTON

ATTEMPTED HOLD-UP ON LU-ZERNE STREET.

Shot Fired at John Shea by a Ruffian Named John Coggins, Who Was Afterwards Captured by His Intended Victim-Decrease in Contagious Diseases Apparent-Funeral of Mrs. Frank Hellring. Mrs. Loomis' Birthday Dinner. Other Notes and Personals.

An attempted robbery and possibly murder was eleverly frustrated at an early hour yesterday morning by John Shea, section boss on the Delaware. Lackawanna and Western railroad.and while the would-be highwayman has not yet been arrested, his identity has been clearly established and he is now under surveillance by the company's

Mr. Shea resides at 910 Hampton street, and it is his custom to leave the house at an early hour in order to reach the yard before beginning his day's work. The shortest route for him to take is by way of Luzerne street and the railroad, and when he reached the trestling near Meridian street yesterday morning, he was startled by a shot, fired from some unknown quarter, and which passed within close range of him.

Quickly grasping the situation, and being a man of nerve, he regarded the matter as a hold-up, and as he turned to discover from whence the shot came he noticed two men running towards n nearby court. Together with a section hand who was with him, Shea started in pursuit, and overtook the ruffians a short distance from where they had been in hiling.

One of the men succeeded in making his escape before being identified. but the fellow who was captured proved to be John Coggins, a worthless fellow, who resides in that vicinity. Shea quickly disarmed Coggins and after thoroughly satisfying himself that the man fired the shot, permitted him to depart without moles-

The matter was reported to Special Officer S. B. Stillwell, who now has the case in hand, and will make an investigation. The locality where the shooting occurred, is one of the most dreaded places in the city, and is scarcely frequented after dark. It is the border line of the famous Kelly's patch, and a convenient place for a hold-up.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

The prevalency of contagious diseases among the children of West Scranton seems to be decreasing, at least the death rate during the past few days has not been anywhere near what it was the first half of last week, and not very many new cases have been reported by the physicians.

Inquiry among the medical fraternity yesterday revealed the fact that the cases now under their care show encouraging signs of improvement and in nearly all of them the danger line has been passed. While hundreds of school children are detained at their homes owing to the existnce of contagious diseases in the family, there are many who are permitted to intermingle with other children at play, regardless of the existing conditions at their homes.

This practice should be guarded against as far as possible for the safety of those who have been fortunate enough to escape the dreaded allments. Over two hundred pupils from No. 13 school are detained at their homes and many are absent from No. s2. The buildings now closed have all been fumigated.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS. David Hughes, of 1234 Eynon street, employed as a miner in the Continental mines, was badly injured yesterday about the head and body by a fall of roof. He was removed to his home and Dr. G. B. Reynolds was called and attended him.

John Sheehan, of Bellevue, a laborer in the Pyne shaft, while walking to his work yesterday morning, slipped on the ice and sprained his ankle. He was assisted to his home and medical attention was secured.

A number of boys were coasting on Gammon's hill Monday afternoon and while one of the bobsleds was descending the steep grade with a load of the youngsters, it collided with a wagon, throwing the boys off and injuring several of them.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HELLRING. The funeral of Mrs. Frank Hellring, which occurred yesterday afternoon, attracted many persons to the services who a few months ago attended her Jacksonville, Fla. wedding ceremony. The event was particularly sad.

Rev. Thomas de Gruchy, D. D., pastor of the Jackson Street Baptist church, spoke in an effective manner, and several members of the church choir rendered selected hymns. The pall-bearers were Benjamin Aligood, John Johns, George Barth, Frank Moran, Fred Roth and Edward Searing. William Morgan acted as flowerbearer. The remains were interred in the Washburn street cemetery.

CAN'T KEEP OUT OF TROUBLE. Mrs. Annie Waiters, of Edwards court, added another chapter to her unenviable reputation yesterday by making threats against a woman named Mrs. Walker, of Hampton street, whose identity would not be revealed by Alderman Davies, before whom the warrant was issued.

At the alderman's office last evening Mrs. Walters waived a hearing and entered ball in the sum of $300 for her appearance at court. The woman was released from the county jail but a short time ago, after serving a short time on some trivial charge.

Death Was Caused by a Fall of Roof. The inquest into the death of Thomas Devanney, a driver boy, who on Jan. 2 met with injuries in Storrs' mine, No. 3, which ended fatally, was held last night at the office of Alderman Fidler, on West Market street. The room was Roberts announced the evidence all in clusion. The verdict arrived at fol-

"After due inquiry and examination of the testimony produced at said inquest, we, the undersigned jurors, find that Thomas Devanney, deceased, came to his death as the result of an accident at Storrs' mine, No. 3, said accident being a fall of rock, and accident being unforeseen and unavoidable." The coroner's jury, comprised of Evan L. Morgan, Daniel H. Evans, Edward Fidler, John Fidler, Thomas Melvin and James Lynch were on hand early, and by the time they had seated, many of the witnesses had also arrived. John A. Wilson, attorney for the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company, and Colonel Reese Phillips, district superintendent, were on hand to look after the company's interests, and in the room were also a number of foremen and other officials. Attorney M. F. Conry represented the relatives of young Devanney: John Taylor made stenographic notes for the company and coroner, and Miss Kate Doyle, of Taylor, did like service for the Devanney interests.

Mine Inspector Roderick was also on hand in his official capacity, and in the course of the inquiry had a tilt with Attorney Conry as to his right to explain the differing kinds of roof coal -slabs, bell, etc. The latter entered objections to the mine inspector's statement, but Mr. Rederick said he was there as the mining representative of the state in his official capacity, and as such had the right to facilitate by a proper explanation of the terms used in the mines, so that an intelligible understanding can be had. He then explained as to the nature of the roof coals. The witnesses examined were all men employed in Storrs' No. 3.

SOME FEW CITIZENS ARE DISSATISFIED ANEMIA

He then volunteered some water company history that he thought would throw some light on the question of whether or not the water company could afford to give better rates. In 1867, he said, Carbondale had a big fire and the insurance companies refused to write any policies until fire protection was provided. A number of citizens, including Mr. Flynn's father, started a water company, with a capital of $11,000. The company never issued a bond nor paid in a cent more than the original $11,000, yet it renewed its whole plant and extended its territory to keep pace with the thirty years growth of the city, and last year Joseph Jermyn's company bought out the Carbondale Water company for $220,-000. The stockholders, in addition to receiving dividends right along, got $200 for every $1 they originally in-

For a number of years Mr. Flynn conducted the Harrison house in Carbondale, and, although he used as much water there in his barn as he does now in the entire Valley House property, his yearly rate there was less than his monthly rate here.

Mr. Nolan being called Chairman Chittenden, told that the water rate for the Crystal laundry had been increased from $90 a year to $20 a month, and that in the summer time it will be still higher.

SOME COMPARISONS. Mr. Vetter told that his mother owned a property in New York city on which the rate was $14 a year. In Scranton a similar sized building would pay 100 per cent. more.

Mr. Flynn along this same line, told of a New York property he was interested in. It was occupied by a store and eight families and the rate was $14 a year. Mr. Whyte stated that he owned a property in Jersey City in which were located two stores and ten families and the rate was $600 a year. Jersey City has a municipal water works.

No response coming to a call for further remarks Chairman Chittenden had Clerk Morris read Mr. Scranton's letter, which was as follows:

Scranton Gas and Water Co., Scranton Gas and water Co.,
Scranton, Pa., Jan. 16, 1909.
C. E. Chittenden, Esq., Chairman Committee Select Council.
Dear Sir: I have this afternoon re-selved an intimation by telephone from the city hall to appear, if I desire, in person or by representative before your committee this evening, in regard to an "ordinance limiting the price to be charged for supplying water to the inhabitants of Scranton.

We thank you for the opportunity thus given us, but, as, according to the best legal advice we can obtain in the state, the councils have not the power to fix water rates for us, it seems to us that our presence would be a mere waste of time. and we respectfully protest against any such action by the councils as appears to be proposed, as only likely to involve the city in expensive litigation without

At the same time we take pleasure in saying that we are at all times ready and willing to consider fairly and carefully any just complaints of our customers or of the councils, or of any other respectable public body.

NO COMPLAINTS.

No complaints, however, have been laid before us, nor have we any reason to believe that our customers generally are dissatisfied with our charges. Our family rates, being lower than any in the valley from Forest City to Nanticoke, we do not understand to be in question at all. Neither, outside the everlasting gibber of the board of trade, unsupported by data for which we have repeatedly asked but which the board cannot or will not produce, have we had any evidence that our rates have ever prevented the location of desirable manufactures in the city. We began the use of meters solely to check a waste which was reaching an extraordinary figure, and we have no reason as yet to believe that, after our customers have their plumbing made tight, our receipts from our meter charges will exceed those of our former fixed rates on the same properties, taken all in all. While some are higher, others are lower. This is due to the fact that it is impossible for the most expert man to put a fixed rate on any property, which shall neither underrate nor overrate or be as equitable as a meter.

So far as we have heard of complaints at all, it has invariably been from peo-ple who had previously been manifestly under-rated, like A. B. Warman & Co. who I see, complained to the board of trade that the meter will raise their bill from $194 to about $960 per annum. These gentlemen fail to tell the board that, when they learned they were to be put on meter rates, they promptly sent us word that they would like to accept a fixed rate of $500, showing thereby that they well knew they had not been paying enough for the very large amount of water they had been using.

In conclusion, I may say that while we have never denied that some other places, more favorably situated, may have lower rates than Scranton, we declaim that our rates have always been kept at the lowest figure we could af-ford, and, not only far below the average of other places laboring under similar conditions, but also, we believe, at a point much lower than they could be kept i our plant was owned by the city, unless as in some other places, whose rates are constantly quoted, deficits should in some way be made up by general taxation. Respectfully yours
