EVENTS OF DAY IN WEST SCRANTON HOW T'S

MARRIAGE OF CHARLES E. BONE AND MISS CASSIE JAMES.

Ceremony Was Performed at High Moon by Rev. Thomas de Gruchy at the Home of the Bride's parents-Trolley Accident Narrowly Averted-Death of Howell T. Jones in Gilman, Wash .- Funeral of William Burlingame-Other Notes and Personals.

Charles E., Bone, of Adams avenue, and Miss Cassie James, of South Rebecca avenue, were married at noon yesterday by Rev. Thomas de Gruchy, D. D., pastor of the Jackson Street Baptist church. The ceremony was performed at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. James. in the presence of a number of friends and relatives.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served, followed by a reception, and Mr. and Mrs. Bone left on an af-ternoon train for New York. Upon their return they will reside in a newly furnished home in the central city.

The bride is a popular young lady and her husband is the well-known meat dealer on Adams avenue. Both have a host of friends who join in congratulating them on the happy event.

TROLLEY LINE INCIDENTS. A street car collision was narrowly averted at the corner of Main avenue and Jackson street last evening and but for the presence of mind of the motorman a serious accident would undoubtedly have been the result. A Taylor car had just entered the curve leading onto Jackson street, when another south bound Taylor car jumped the latch in front of Johns' shoe store and ran into the upper curve. The fender of the car struck the other car, but the current was reversed before any damage resulted. The fuse of a Washburn-Drinker car burned out on the West Lackawanna avenue switch about 9 o'clock and caused considerable commotion on the car, but no one was injured.

DIED IN THE WEST.

Howell T. Jones, a former well known resident of this city, died at his home in Gilman, Washington, yesterday. The news of his death was reby his brothers, Llewellyn Jones, of Meridian street, and Morgan

C. Jones, of Wilkes-Barre.

Deceased left here in 1884 and prior to that time was considered one of the greatest choral leaders in Northeastern Pennsylvania, having been the director of the famous Cymrodorion Choral society prior to the advent of Professor Daniel Protheroe. Professor Jones won many trophies in the eis-

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING.

Andrew Hale and Evelena Barnes Are Made Man and Wife.

One of the most beautiful weddings of the season was that which united Andrew Hale, of Yatesville, and Miss Evelena Barnes in the holy bonds of matrimony, on Tuesday evening last, at the First Presbyterian church of Peckville. The auditorium was beautifully and artisticaly decorated for the occasion. Ferns, palms, Georgia pines, smilax, chrysanthemums occupying a prominent place in the decorations. The altar was filled with ferns and palms beautifully intermingled. The ceremony was performed at $:30 o'clock by the Rev. S. H. Moon. D. D., Ph. D.

As the bridal party approached the altar Miss Sands sang sweetly and impressively a selection from "The Rose Maiden."

The groom, accompanied by the officiating clergyman, advanced from C. Moffatt, the left of the church to meet the The fami bridal party which approached altar from the center aisle in the fol-lowing order: Messrs. E. E. Betts. F. P. Benjamin, E. S. Jenes and H. W. What the Record Has to Say About Tuesday Evening - Two Coming A BLOOD Social Events-Michael Kelly Fnr- PURIFIER AND Social Events-Michael Kelly Fur- FLESH BUILDER. of News and Personal Mention.

On Tuesday evening the Junger Maennerchor, fifty-five strong, marched from Germania hall to the Delaware and Hudson depot, where they boarded the 7.45 train for Wilkes-Barre, whence they went to be the guests of the Liedertafel, of that place, at their concert and ball. When Wilkes-Barre was reached the delegation was escorted to the Concordia hall by a com-mittee of the Liedertafel. The Scranton singers were treated loyally, nothing being too good for them, and all enjoyed themselves immensely. A few came home on Tuesday night, but the greater part of the Scranton boys returned yesterday and report a first rate time.

Following is what the Wilkes-Barre Record says of our Junger Maenner-

By this time the Scranton singers had come, thirty in all, and their appearance come, thirty in all, and their appearance on the platform was the signal for an outbreak of applause. Their selection was "Drei Gesellen," by Theo Podbertsky. They sang to plane accompaniment and had the precision of veterans. They were equally at home in the plane and forte presages and the parts were smooth and well balanced. well balanced.

The Screaton party sang a second se-lection, Abt's "Wald-Abendschein." This lection, Abt's "Wald-Abendschein." This time they sang without instrument. The sclection was well adapted to their capacity and they handled it admirably. They gave demonstration of the efficiency of their director, Professor Gustav Schmidt. They acquitted themselves so creditably that the audience clapped and kept clapping until they came back again on the platform. The selection which on the platform. The selection which they gave was a medley made up of the old English faverites, "Then You'll Re-member Me," "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," the two pieces finally blending into one another most pleasingly. The Scranton Junger-Maennerchor can certainly sing well and they will be welome to Wilkes-Barre whenever they

A member of the Scranton choir...Gus-tav Repert—sang a solo, "Au der Wesen," to plane accompaniment. It was the artistic gem of the evening. Mr. Repert possesses a sympathetic tenor or good range and of notable purity. That he had properly hit the bail on the head was shown by the applause, though he did not appear again.

TWO COMING EVENTS. The pupils of Mrs. Adam Gschwindt's musical and elocution class will give a grand concert and entertainment in Athletic hall on Jan. 25. The pupils have been rehearsing their respective parts for the past few weeks and promise a very interesting entertainment. The following will assist the pupils at the entertainment: Miss Kate Reardon, Sidney Hughes, Mrs. Charles Randall, D. W. Davis, of Wilkes-Barre. Music will be furnished by an orchestra of twelve pieces.

The Bachelors' club of this side will conduct a ball at Pharmacy hall on Friday evening. The club is composed of some of our most prominent young men and without a doubt the affair will be a grand social event.
