TRIED TO WORK THE MACHINE.

Two Strangers Cause Trouble in the Columbia Hotel.

Two rough looking men last night entered the Columbia hotel, on Lackawanna avenue and began playing one of the slot machines in the place. All went well until one of the barkeepers noticed that instead of nickles they were using pieces of lead, hammered into round discs, and which are known by the euphonic name of "slugs."

The two visitors were then forcibly ejected from the place, and returned a few moments later, when one of them, a big, strapping fellow, hurled a stone at the barkeeper. Patrolman Loma Day made his appearance on the scene and arrested both of the trouble-makers. They resisted desperately and the police headquarters was notified of the case.

Day, and Patrolman Neuls, who had come up, managed to hold the men until Sergeant Deiter and the patrol wagon arrived when the two men were escorted to the central police station. They will get their hearing this morning.

AT HARTFORD ORPHANS' SCHOOL

Visited by Colonel E. H. Rippe and Other Scrantonians.

Colonel E. H. Rippe and his daughter, Miss Sue, enjoyed a sleigh ride to the Soldiers' Orphan school at Hartford yesterday. That is, they rode from Kingsley station in sleighs over the hills for the miles which intervene. Other guests of honor on this occasion were Robert Bauer and a trio of colored musicians who gave much pleasure to evening north parties last summer. They were Messrs. Jackson, Parrish and Rooney.

At the school a programme of two hours' duration was given, the school band assisting. This organization is composed of boys from seven to twelve years of age. To say that the 232 children enjoyed the day is to express but mildly their delight. If Colonel Rippe does not appear at certain intervals there is a tremendous clamor at the Orphan school, and as he always has some surprise in store for them, and a gentle, friendly word for each member of the big family, it is no wonder that his advent here is a day which brightens a half year's routine.

The health of the school is phenomenal, not a case of sickness, not a trace of epidemics prevailing elsewhere having entered the safe shelter. The health of the school is phenomenal, not a case of sickness, not a trace of epidemics prevailing elsewhere having entered the safe shelter.

ARE NOW UP IN CANADA.

Detectives Are Down in Moosic Hunting Up Identification.

Now the Corcoran murders are located up in Canada.

Two mysterious acting men representing themselves to be Canadian detectives are at Butler's hotel, in Moosic, looking for parties who can identify the suspicious characters who it will be remembered were reported to have been at Butler's hotel on the day previous to the murder offering to seal watches and in other ways laying themselves open to being suspected of dark deeds.

Thomas Jones, who was bartender at the hotel and who had some talk with the suspicious characters in question, has since died, but a number of residents of the village saw the suspects and it is hoped by the Canadian detectives that some of these will be able to identify them.

So positive are the detectives that they have the right parties that they are willing to stand the expense of taking to Canada any number of the residents of Moosic who saw the suspicious characters and think they could recognize them again. Up to nightfall last evening they had discovered seven young men who claim they saw the characters in question, and would be able to positively identify them. James Walsh, a barber at the hotel, his brother, Peter Walsh, and James Ward are among them.

MINE OWNERS DID NOT ATTEND

Mine Workers Refused to Give Out a Statement.

Representatives of the United Mine Workers employed in the collieries between Forest City and Shickshinny met in Guernsey hall yesterday. The mine owners and superintendents were invited to be present, but none of them availed themselves of the opportunity.

The mine workers were in session morning and afternoon. At the close of the afternoon session, T. D. Nichols, of Nanticoke, president of the district organization, presented a memorial.

"The meeting decided that nothing should be given out about what was done here today, and I can therefore make no statement," said Mr. Nichols. "I can say, however, that the mine owners and superintendents ignored the invitations we sent them to meet with us, and that the members of our union feel very resentful about it."

TROLLEY CAR ACCIDENT.

J. A. Waring, of Peckville, Was Slightly Injured.

The 6:30 car on the Peckville line collided with a trip of mine cars at the Lackawanna colliery, at Peckville, yesterday morning. The car was in charge of Motorman Thomas Poy and was descending a slight grade near the crossing. The motorman miscalculated the distance and crashed into the last car of the trip, smashing the front end of the car.

J. A. Waring, of Peckville, employed as a salesman for the "Fashion," in this city, was a passenger on the car and when the crash came was thrown to the floor, rendering him unconscious. Dr. Crans was summoned and attended him. This is Mr. Waring's second mishap on the street cars, having been injured in an accident at Providence last April.

HELD FOR FURTHER HEARING.

Zink Could Not Account for the Possession of Crates of Eggs.

Walter Zink, the huckster, who was arrested Wednesday night by Mounted Officer Joseph Bloch, while he was trying to sell crates of eggs for $2, and who was also drunk, was yesterday morning arraigned in police court before Alderman Myron Kasson, who is hearing the cases in the absence of Mayor James Moir.

Zink could not give any satisfactory explanation for the possession of the eggs, and was held for a further hearing until the matter could be more closely examined.

WATER COMMITTEE DID NOT REPORT

ASKED FOR MORE TIME TO CONSIDER RATE QUESTION.

Mayor Vetted Mr. Roche's Sewer Ordinance and That Gentleman Introduced Another One—Ordinance Introduced Requiring That Mayor Furnish a $10,000 Bond—Action Deferred on Ordinance Increasing Firemen's Pay—Physicians to Place Contagious Disease Signs.

Shortly after select council convened last evening, T. M. Moore, member from the Eighth, asked that the special committee, to which his water ordinance had been referred, make a report on the measure.

Mr. Chittenden, the chairman of the committee, stated that though the committee had obtained five separate and distinct opinions on the question, they did not feel ready to make a report as yet. Mr. Melvin said that they had had six weeks to consider the ordinance and it was about time they reported on it. He then spoke at length on the utility of referring matters to special committees who were, he said, notoriously lax in their duties.

This prompted Mr. O'Boyle to make some remarks along a similar line, incidentally remarking that the special committee of which Mr. Melvin is chairman and to which had been referred the opening of Centre street, had not yet reported. The laugh was on the councilman from the Eleventh, and he rose to the occasion and explained that the plans for the proposed improvement had been mislaid.

The mayor returned without his approval of the ordinance providing for a sewer extension along Washington avenue and the Delaware and Hudson tracks, and between Phelps and Poplar streets. The mayor's objections, contained in a letter accompanying the ordinance, were that the proposal to carry the sewer through private property was not a safe one, inasmuch as should it be necessary to again open the ground for repairs, the property owners could claim damages a second time. He suggested carrying the sewer down Washington avenue, connecting with the main sewer and doing away with all possible claims for damages.

MEASURE REINTRODUCED.

A motion to pass the ordinance over the mayor's veto was lost and later in the evening Mr. Roche introduced a second ordinance in keeping with the mayor's suggestions, and the measure was referred to the proper committee.

The resolution directing that the inspector on the North Scranton sewer be discharged during the winter months was also vetoed by the mayor and the veto was sustained.

A communication from City Solicitor Vosburg was read, and in excess of the city engineer's estimate, had been received for the construction of Schultz court sewer and asking councils what they intended doing, as over 200 lines would have to be laid.

A resolution introduced by Mr. Schroeder caused a deal of discussion. The resolution was that the city physicians in the city with contagious disease signs to be tacked by them on the houses wherein contagious disease exists, "that the regular mounted officers be relieved of this duty, that they may devote more time to police and sanitary work."

Mr. Roche wanted the clerk to read the resolution over again, that he might definitely understand whether it said allowing them more time for "police and sanitary work" or "police and sanitary work."

Mr. McMan said that either the board of health or councils should run the health matters and that, at any rate, the resolution was not logical, as it provided no penalty for a violation of its provisions. Several others spoke along similar lines and the matter was finally referred to its proper committee, in conjunction with the board of health.

Mr. Melvin introduced an ordinance providing that the mayor of the city furnish a bond in the sum of $10,000. It provides that it go into effect after the next mayoralty election.

FOR ALTERNATING WIRES.

The only other new measures introduced, was that proposed by Mr. Williams providing that the electric light companies string alternating wires along the various streets and avenues of the city now occupied by their lines.

When Mr. Schroeder's ordinance providing for an increase in the pay of permanent firemen came up on second reading several of the members expressing their sentiments on the measure. Mr. Sanderson wanted to know if the council were aware of the depressed condition of the city's finances and the fact that there were measures now on the way providing for an increase of $12,000 a year for permanent firemen beyond the fixed charges for running the various departments of the city.

After several other members had spoken in a similar strain, Mr. Schroeder had stoutly championed the ordinance. Mr. McCann moved that action be deferred until the estimates committee formulated their report on next year's budget and the motion was adopted.

The ordinance granting permission to the Nay Aug Railway company to lay lines to Nay Aug park over the various streets of the city was called up for second reading and Mr. Fellows introduced an amendment. It provided for extensive changes in the original route, including the running of tracks along Wyoming avenue.

The amendment was referred to the proper committee and was ordered printed, providing the company footed the bill. The ordinance providing for the laying of sidewalks on Harrison avenue and the paving of McKenna court were passed on third reading.

The fifth street estimate for the construction of the North Main avenue and Philo street sewer was approved in favor of A. H. Cook, for $26,210. A concurrent resolution directing the chief of the fire department to place a fire hydrant on Fourth avenue, between Broadway and Luzerne street, was passed, after which council adjourned.

CRUSHED BETWEEN CARS.

Boy E. Pearce Killed at the Green Ridge Street Crossing of the Delaware and Hudson Road.

Ray E. Pearce, aged nineteen years, and residing on East Market street, was yesterday morning crushed between the bumpers of two freight cars on the Delaware and Hudson track near Green Ridge street, and sustained injuries from which he died several hours afterwards.

The young man was the son of Captain E. W. Pearce, and was employed at the Scranton Forging works. He was on his way to work at about 6:45, and, as was his custom, crossed the tracks near Green Ridge street.

There was a freight train blocking the crossing and young Pearce, noticing a small opening between two of the cars, and not realizing that there was a locomotive attached to one section of the train, endeavored to squeeze through. The locomotive at that moment backed up and the unfortunate boy was crushed between the bumpers of the two cars.

His agonizing shrieks caused a trainman standing nearby to come to his assistance, and the cars were in a few moments separated. The young man was hastily removed to his home with the assistance of his father, who arrived a few moments after the accident happened, also on his way to work.

Dr. Surroth, Berlinghoff and Peck were summoned and did all in their power to relieve the young man, who suffered from internal hemorrhages. He gradually became weaker, however, and passed away at 2:45 in the afternoon.

The bumpers caught him just below the sixth rib, crushing the four lower ribs inward into the lungs; the heart was ruptured, as was also the spleen, yet despite all these injuries there is not a very serious abrasion on the outside of the young man's body.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon, with services at 1 o'clock at the house and at 1:30 at Asbury church. Interment will be made in the Dunmore cemetery.

TO NOMINATE CONTROLLERS.

Democrats Will Assemble in the Court House today.

In response to the call issued by the chairman, H. Eckhart, of the city committee, the Democrats will assemble in the arbitration room in the court house at 2 o'clock this afternoon to place in nomination two candidates for the board of six school controllers.

It is likely the convention will be a very interesting affair. Only two aspirants have declared themselves, and it is probable they will be nominated by acclamation. These two are John Gibbons and Dr. John O'Malley, who have already been nominated for the board of twenty-one from the Tenth and Eighth wards, respectively.

Secretary John J. Murphy said last night that there were no contests at the primaries held Wednesday and in many districts no primaries were held.

AN EXCITING HEARING.

It Was Held in Alderman Miller's Office Last Night.

An exciting hearing took place last night in Alderman W. S. Miller's office, when Mrs. Mary Sweeney and daughter, Mrs. Kate Mulherin, of the flats, were arraigned before the magistrate on the charge of keeping a disorderly and ill-governed house, as preferred by Isaiah Williams.

Isaiah is colored, and a neighbor of the defendants. He claims that he has been much annoyed by the disorder prevailing in their house, and brought along with him a host of witnesses, all of whom backed up his assertions. Alderman Miller held both defendants under bail.

CRUSADE AGAINST THE SPEAKEASIES

MAYOR MOIR ASKS THE SELECT COUNCIL TO ACT.

At His Suggestion a Committee, Consisting of Messrs. Chittenden, Lansing and O'Boyle, Was Appointed—They Will Advise with the Mayor and City Solicitor as to the Best Way of Rooting out the Places Where Liquor Is Sold Illegally.

The first step in the much-talked-of crusade against the "speakeasies" which are said to abound in this city was taken last evening when, not without opposition, a committee was appointed from select council to advise with the mayor on the subject of their abolition, after the following lengthy communication from his honor had been read:

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 18, 1900. To the Honorable, the Select and Common Councils. Under a solemn sense of duty I take this opportunity of calling your attention to and inviting your serious consideration of an evil that is fast becoming a blot on the morals and welfare of our city, to wit, the large number of unlicensed saloons, commonly called "speakeasies" or "holes in the wall."

While it is primarily the duty of the district attorney, through his county detective, to bring to justice violators of the liquor law, the failure of these officers to perform their duty is no excuse for dereliction on our part, and feeling obligated under my oath of office to see all laws affecting the welfare of the citizens enforced, I ask your countenance and hearty support of measures tending to the eradication of this great and deadly evil, and with your co-operation I can see no reason why this cannot be accomplished.

IN DEFIANCE OF LAW.

These places are operated in defiance of law, whether located in some obscure cellar or run openly with all the appearance and pretension of a regularly licensed hotel or restaurant, and so daring have the proprietors of these illicit haunts become that many of them cannot be distinguished from, and in some instances are run openly and without any attempt at concealment, almost next door to regularly licensed places, whose owners have to a large expense complied with the requirements of the law.

An unlawful competition is thus created which the law-abiding landlord should not be compelled to meet. I hold that a hotelkeeper who pays his license fee is entitled to and ought to receive the protection from unlawful competition which the law can throw around him, and it cannot be gainsaid that at present he is not receiving such protection.

How can we expect licensed dealers to comply with all the requirements of the law, and in some cases they are remiss, while under their very noses many violators are flaunting their nefarious avocation with impunity? It is not human nature to allow another to take what we believe we should have if we can prevent it even at the expense of the law. From my own observation I am convinced that a great majority of the licensed dealers are more inclined to observe the law than those whose sworn duty it is to enforce it are to do their part.

RESPONSIBLE FOR CRIME.

It is a notorious fact that these unlicensed haunts are responsible for a large majority of the drunks, disorders and peace-breakers which daily beset our police court. But apart from the moral side, which every law-loving citizen should consider paramount, there is another which we as servants of the people are bound to consider. Under the statute nearly four-fifths of the fee from every license granted in Scranton goes to the city, and for every unlicensed saloon which we knowingly allow to be conducted we connive at a steal from the city of the sum of $80, if from no other motive, the one of pure greediness. Our revenues are derived directly from hotel licenses. The city, as I have said, receives nearly $400 of the fee from every license granted and taken in 1899 of the amount paid into the city treasury from this source was $78,716.77; in 1898, $69,843.06, and in 1897, $67,257.25, showing a steady falling off, and this notwithstanding an increase of population and better times.

Gentlemen, I feel that the time has come when we must act. From a business point of view alone we ought to and must do something to check this growing evil and protect the sources of the city's revenues, for you have shown by figures, the city is really the most interested party. I would therefore most respectfully ask that your honorable bodies appoint a select committee to advise with myself and the city solicitor with a view to taking such steps as will lead to a speedy and rigid enforcement.

Respectfully submitted, James Moir, Mayor.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED.

Messrs. Chittenden and Lansing moved simultaneously that the committee suggested by the mayor be appointed. This called forth a strenuous objection from Mr. Roche, who said the mayor's communication was absurd, inasmuch as he already had all the power necessary to close these places, being commander of the police force.

Mr. McCann spoke along the same lines, saying that other mayors have closed these places and the present one wanted to throw the responsibility for their flourishing upon councilors. Mr. Roche finally moved that the appointment of the committee be indefinitely postponed, but the motion was lost by the following vote:

Yeas—Roche, Shea, McCann, Frable—4.

Nays—Williams, James, Melvin, Chittenden, Wagner, Schroeder, Sanderson, Fellows, Schroeder, Lansing, O'Boyle—11. Mr. Chittenden moved that the committee be appointed and the motion adopted. Chairman Williams appointed Messrs. Chittenden, Lansing and O'Boyle as members of such a committee.

Mr. Fellows introduced a resolution directing the mayor to cause the removal of all the slot machines now in operation in the city. In introducing the resolution, Mr. Fellows stated that his sole purpose in doing so was because a certain mysterious party had told a certain newspaper man that he (Mr. Fellows) had something to do with the said machines.

Some of the members wanted to know what he had to do with the machines; had he been playing them? There was a vigorous response when the yeas were called for and almost as vigorous a one when the nays were called. The resolution was declared adopted.

DISEASE BEING CHECKED.

Number of Cases of Contagious Disease Becoming Smaller.

The number of cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria reported to the board of health are becoming smaller within the past few days, there having been only four on Wednesday and eight yesterday or an average of six a day. This is the lowest percentage of cases for a single day reported for the past four months and is certainly a hopeful sign of the ultimate stamping out of the epidemic of infectious disease.
