KILLED IN A MINE.

William Thomas Under Rock at

Wilson Creek Yesterday. Yesterday morning at 10.30 o'clock. William Thomas, of South Main street, met instant death in Wilson Creek mine, above this city. As he was pulling down a slab of rock he slipped and fell under. His neck and back were broken.

He was sorn in South Wales fortythree years ago and had resided in this city since 1882. He is survived by a wife and five sons, Evan, Arthur, Samuel, William, Ivor, and two daughters, Mary and Lizzie. His mother, Mrs. Mary Thomas and a sister, Mrs. David George, both of South Wales, also survive alm. Deceased was a nephew of Morgan Thomas, of South Church street. The funeral arrange ments have not yet been made.

This family has been very fortunate. Two weeks ago the home on Salem avenue was burned out and about a week ago a son was injured in the mine where the father was

VICTIM OF HIGHWAYMEN.

Hungarian Relieved of His Money and Clothing-Other News from

A Hungarian with an unpronouncable name, and who gave his residence as Jessup, was set upon by five men near Plane E Saturday evening and robbed of $22. The thieves not only relieved the man of his money, but took his hat, coat and shoes. He received rough treatment and presented a pitiable sight when he awoke Mr. Finch at his residence at Plane E and asked for sheleter. Mr. Finch took the unfortunate man in and gave him shelter for the night, and in the morning furnished him with necessary clothing so he could continue his journey homeward. He stated that he had been to the Ridge to a christening and was coming home through the woods near Plane E when he met five men in the readway. They pounced upon him, and after giving him a severe beating, took his money and clothing and told him to go home or they would kill him. As near as could be learned all concerned were Hungarians.

If your sight is perfect you can read the following paragraph 20 inches away.

Most diseases march in step with the advance of civilization, but troubles with and diseases of the eyes are galloping through the length and breadth of our country, leaving us and our chil-dren with sightless eyebalis.

The Reason? Few are taught how to use the eyes, and secondly uric acid in the blood has a strong affinity for the optic nerve. If your eyesight is failing, if you have specks and blurs before your eyes you are the victim of kidney disease, and no time should be lost in securing and using Warner's Safe Cure, which will put overworked and diseased kidneys in good health and the excess of uric acid will be driven from the system instead of passing into and poisoning it. Failing eyesight in eight cases out of ten is a danger signal which should be heeded.

THEATRICAL.

Academy of Music.

Large houses are greeting the "Macauley-Patton" company every afternoon and evening, to witness a firstclass line of plays well produced. This afternoon "East Lynne" will be given and tonight Nat C. Goodwin's great success, "In Alissouri."

Lyceum Theater.

"The Pride of Jennice," which will be presented by James K. Hackett and company at the Lyceum tomorrow evening, is made reasonable and acceptable by the quality of the acting. Even when it comes to stabbing and shooting, as it does in every act after the second, the thing is rather well done, thanks to careful training and the best of stage management. But the play is strongest in those parts where the situations are saved by coolheaded and clean-cut repartee and the hero extricated from his difficulties by that quick wit which is never at a loss. The plot is original and contains an idea that presents a very pretty problem of love and pride.

As the Princess of Dornheim, Miss Bertha Galland brings to a solution of this problem much appreciation, a charming personality and some new ideas in the serious business of coquetry, ideas which are her own and which will surely add to her laurels as an actress. Her performance is delightful from first to last and unharme by the melodrama which occasionally threatens it. Mr. Hackett is as good as ever. Sidney Price, as Baron Von Krappitz, gives another careful study of a striking figure, and there is not indeed, an actor in the company who does not fit in well to make a complete and harmonious picture. Much of the scenery is magnificent.

A Strong Company.

Those who witnessed the opening performance or the Huntley-Jackson Stock company at the Grand were well pleased with the excellent attraction provided by Manager Ceinler. The opening bili was 'The World,' a melodrama with just a sufficient amount of sensationalism interwoven with bright comedy and charming sentiment. It was admirably staked and enacted by a competent cast. specialties introduced between acts were very pleasing, especially is this true of Gus Cohan's monologue act, and the dancing Venita. The calcium and stereopticon effects introduced with Venita's dance were excellent. -Wheeling News. At Academy Music Monday evening next.
