RANTON'S SHOPPING CENTER.

We have no idea of interesting careless folks in our advertising—at least it is hopeless to expect much in that direction. It is the man or woman who thinks, who, better still, knows-the one who values money, having much or little of it, that comes here for supplies. And, to thinking folks, "trade sales" stand for something—and are interesting. They are measures of the buying power of the business. We do not mark down prices because it is a certain day or "because it is you," or because we want to celebrate—we buy great lots below value and give you the advantage. As a rule, the things we offer in "trade sales" are made to our order, of full standard quality, but cheaper because of our ability to buy in greater quantities. That is all.

A Nation of Kings. From the Cincinnati Inquirer.

There now remains only one people and one little valley south of the equaclaimed by some European power. It is the valley of Marotse, fifty or sixty miles wide, north of Lialui, in South Africa. And the only reason why the Marotse, who inhabit it, have served their independence is that Eng-therefore the work of "civilization" is at a standstill. It may not be so easy to conquer the Marotse when the time comes, for they are a tall, well-set-up race, very black in skin. In manners they are very courteous and in bearing dignified. THE MARKETS. Wall Street Review.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Jan. 23.—Prices on the Stock exchange at the opening today reflected an improvement in London on the news that General Warren had captured the Boer position at Spion Kop. There was a brief period of active buying by professionals in expectation that the spell would be broken and an outside demand for stocks attracted, but traders quickly detected that there was to competition outside their own ranks in the demand for stocks and they turned to the short side almost immediately. The ranging of prices below the London parity made operations profitable for the foreign ar bitrage houses since prices in London were well sustained at the higher level. Buying for foreign account in the interwere well sustained at the higher level. Buying for fereign account in the international stocks was estimated at from 25,000 to 20,000 shares and even this demand was largely met by sales for short account. The industrial specialities showed gains in sympathy with the internationals, but they were not so well retained in the absence of fereign demand. The absolute incriness of the buymand. The absolute incrtness of the buying demand prompted some selling pressure by the bears against the industrials
