NO MORE BOOKS TO BE CIRCULATED

IMPORTANT STEP TAKEN BY LIBRARY DIRECTORS.

Health Officer Allen Ordered the Circulating Department of the Public Library Closed and the Directors Complied with His Wishes, Though They Thought the Measure an Extreme One-Books Now Out to Be Called in and Fumigated-Alarming Spread of Scarlet Fever.

Acting in accordance with the orders of Health Officer Allen, the directors of the Scranton Public library yesterday afternoon decided to close the circulating department of that institution until such time as the health officer may deem safe for its re-opening.

The meeting of the directors was called to order at 10 o'clock by President Alfred Hand, there being nine other members present. Dr. Allen and Dr. Rodham, the latter a member of he board of health, were also present and presented the various phases of he question from a medical point of view, telling how, in their belief, disease germs were in many instances conveyed from infected homes into healthy households through the medlum of library books.

The matter was discussed pro and con at some length, the discussion being quite animated at times. The following resolution was, however finally adopted:

RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

Resolved. That in compliance with the order of the health officer, the library discontinue the issue of books for home use until permit be given by that officer for its re-opening and that all books now out when returned to the library are to be kept separate and not replaced on the shelves for circulation until thoroughly

The above resolution went into effect vesterday afternoon immediately after it had been passed and no more books business done by them be thus made will be issued. The reading room department, however, will remain open. as will also the reference department. The books as they come in will be placed on shelves in an upstairs room and will be fumigated by the formaldehyde gas method, which all agree will kill all the germs, if there are any, which may be found in the volthe closing down of the circulating department is an extreme measure, they nevertheless bowed to the wishes of the health officer, who is empowered by law to close the building, despite what the directors may say. Librarian Carr stated yesterday that after twenty years' experience in library work he never knew of a single case where contagion was distributed by means of books circulated.

BEEN DISCUSSED BEFORE.

He said that the question has been thoroughly discussed a number of times at the meetings of the National Librarians' association. The last time was brought up a resolution was adopted to the effect that in cases of an epidemic of contagious disease the closing of libraries was unnecessary. and all that should be required was a list of the names of those families in whose homes contagious disease existed in oredr that they be refused books, and that such books as they had taken out might be called in and disinfected. Mr. Carr said he was given to understand that this plan would be put in force here until the directors' meeting yesterday.

Dr. Allen, when seen and asked if the closing of the circulating department was a precautionary or a necessary step, said:

"This is by no means a precautionary measure: it is a necessary one if we want to stop this spread of contagious disease. There are people who are contracting contagious disease by this promiseuous distribution of books, or if there are not any there are many who are in constant danger of contracting either scarlet fever or diphtheria, but scarlet fever more partic-

The doctor said he could not state at present how long he would keep the circulation of books discontinued.

WHAT BOARD HAS DONE.

He further remarked that the board of health has done all in its power to prevent the spread of disease, having closed the schools, absolutely prevented public funerals and taken other steps tending toward a ciminution in the number of cases of transmissable disease.

Nevertheless the number of cases is increasing rather than diminishing. There were last week reported to the secretary of the board of health 100 cases, of which thirty-five were diph-theria and seventy-two scarlet fever. This shows that diphtheria is abating to a certain extent and scarlet fever increasing at an alarming rate.

Scarlet fever is considered more dangerous by far than is diphtheria, on account of the serious sequences that follow it. Children are left deaf, or erippled with rheumatism and other diseases. There are three grades of scarlet fever, the mild, medium and malignant types. Dr. Allen says that the type now prevailing in this city is the medium, which is almost as much to be feared as is the malignant.

PAPER ON CHURCH FINANCE Read by Rev. S. F. Mathews at Baptist Conference

Rev. S. F. Mathews, pastor of the First Baptist church, read a paper before the Baptist conference yesterday morning upon "Church Finance." The paper was quite novel in its treatment of the subject, presenting the two extremes of sentiment and principle upon which the matter of finance is based in the church economy. Showing where finance is built wholly upon sentiment alone, all the evils that curse the church at present and disgrace its otherwise pure and beautiful life are traceable to it, and that the possible declension in church life may be the subtle outcome of its influence. On the other hand, the Scripture was appealed to as furnishing the fact that God intends principle, order and system, to be the divine forces both in natural and spiritual life, that God had himself outlined the finance polity that would give strength, power and force to the church as an organization.

The principle of the tithe, the obligatory and the free-will offerings each in its place working as Jehovah had decreed that they should do, was presented as the divine plan in the solution of the vexed problem of "Church Finance." The illustrations drawn from the Scripture and from church life were vivid and forceful in their point and interest and yet very simply given-The subject was very ably discussed by the conference, on the conclusion of the paper, and it was voted by the same that the paper be published in the next issue of the "Church Messenger," edited and published by Rev. Dr. S. G. Reading, of North Main avenue,

KEEPING TAB ON WITNESSES. Clerk Mahon Has Begun the Work of Registering Them. P. Mahon, the clerk recently appointed by the county commissioners to keep tab on the witnesses in quarter sessions court, began that part of his duties yesterday. He established himself in the corridor outside of the court rooms and the witnesses who were subpoensed for yesterday were directed to register with him. Those who do not do so will get no witness

When the witness is summoned, say for Monday, he registers on that day and reports to Clerk Mahon on each subsequent day he is in attendance until the case is disposed of by the court. The new practice will enable the commissioners to tell exactly who are witnesses and how many days they are in attendance, and will greatly cut down the fees of many professional witnesses who never returned less than five or six days for any case in which they were called.

FRESH FROM SEAT OF SOUTH AFRICAN WAR

ROBERT JACKSON IS A VISITOR IN THIS CITY.

Forced to Leave the Transvaal Shortly After Hostilities Were Begun-Tells of the Causes Leading Up to the Present Struggle-Says That the Uitlanders, Who Paid Three-quarters of the Taxes, Had No Voice Whatever in the Government-Expects to Go Back.

Robert Jackson and wife, of Johannesburg, South Africa, who left the Transvaal since hestilitles began, is at present visiting his brother-in-law, Dr. James Stein, of 101 Wyoming ave-

Mr. Jackson was born in South Africa and has lived there all his life. He left Durban on the east coast on October 28, just a little over two weeks after actual hostilities had commenced. At that time the troops were just beginning to arrive and on their was to England the ship on which Mr. and Mrs. Jackson were traveling passed no less than eleven troop ships outward bound.

Mr. Jackson was a commission merchant in Johannesburg and was forced to leave the country when the war broke out. His long residence in the Transvaal and the fact that he speaks Dutch as fluently as he does English makes what he says regarding the country carry much weight, and he talks most interestingly. In the course of a conversation with a Tribune maa yesterday he said in part:.

DISSATISFIED WITH BOER RULE. "You first want to know, I suppose, what the foreigners, or Eitlanders, as they are called, think of Oom Paul's of governing them. These Uitlanders, it must be understood at the outset, are not all Englishmen. All nationalities are represented, but principally the English, American, Irish and German. You may be surprised at the latter, but there are a number of Germans in the Transvaal who don't stand in very well with the Boers, The Uitlander is, however, primarily speaking, an English speaking person.

"Almost all of them have been dissatisfied for years with the Boer ru'e. The fundamental reason for this dissatisfaction lies in the simple fact that they have no voice in the government. It can be proven by statistics that they pay nearly three-quarters of the total taxes and they are more heavily taxed than any others, yet they have absolutely no voice in the distribution of this revenue.

"If this revenue were properly expended there might not perhaps be such a decided opposition to the government. It has been used in late years for constructing immonse fortifications at Preteria and Johannesburg, which the Uitlander population considered extravagant. When asked their reasons for constructing these fortifications the Boers would reply that they needed them to prevent assault from the black tribes, while we knew that they had sufficient means at hand to cope with all the black tribes in South Africa.

"Those forts were built to terrorize the people, though Johannesburg is probably the most law-abiding mining camp on the face of the earth. We can see now, however, that they builded better than we knew, as these fe tifications may now be used to ward

DENT THEM FRANCHISE. "To prove conclusively that the Boers have never desired the Uitlanders to have any voice in their government, the fact might be mentioned that long years ago, when foreigners first began to settle in the country, they could become citizens after a residence of twelve months. This was raised first to two years, then to five years and finally to fourteen years. Even now a Uitlander seldom becomes a citizen after fourteen years, as charges of immoral conduct or something else are generally trumped up against them when they apply for naturalization

"Memorials without number have been presented to the Boer parliament, or Volksmad, requesting that the Uitlanders be allowed more privileges, but they are invariably laughed at, and finally pigeon-holed forever. The last petition of this sort presented contained over 21,000 signatures.

"The most noticeable trait of the Boer character is their suspicion. They are exceedingly suspicious of anyone speaking the English language, and there is always a strained feeling between them and an English-speaking person. Generally speaking, the farmers are ignorant, but there are many Boers who are well educated, cultured and as far advanced in medern thought as many people of continental Europe.

"The incivility of the Boer to all foreigners is another marked trait. Go into a postoffice and ask an attendant for any information, for instance, and you would be nicely snubbed for your Another point, and one that shows the high-handedness with which things are run in that country, is that all burghers, or Boers, may carry arms in the streets, whereas if a Uitlander carries even a revolver he is liable to GET NO PRIVILEGES. "I notice that there has been considerable discussion in this country as to whether the Jews and Roman Catholies are granted any privileges in the country. I desire to state that from my observation I can say that they are not.

"The Boers are probably more embittered against Roman Catholics in particular than any other people on the globe. If there is the slightest suspicion that a man belongs to that faith he cannot attain to even the meanest position under the government."

Mr. Jackson is not very well acquainted with the country now being fought in, having only had a birds-eye view of it. He intends going back as soon as hostilities cease

Other camps are on the way now, and a camp will be organized at Pittston tonight. The Modern Woodmen is a fraternal insurance, and is very popular in the west.

The officers of the new camp are: Venerable counsel, L. F. Hiorns; worthy adviser, J. H. Woell; banker, Dr. Frederici; clerk, H. W. Bennett; escort, F. E. Ferrell; watchman, S. S. Fuhrman; sentry, C. H. Dentzer; physicians, Dr. Capwell, Dr. Winebrake; managers, E. R. Peckens, W. J. Douglass, M. M.

CONDITION OF THE MEN.

Americo Mariangello and August Bonnani Resting Easily at the Lackawanna Hospital.

Americo Mariangello and August Bonnani, the two Italian miners who were shot, a week ago last night at Jessup, by Peter Chipriano, are resting easily at the Lackawanna hospital, where they were taken the day following the shooting. The bullet which had taken effect on Bonnani was discovered by means of the X-rays, and removed, but neither of the cartridges which lodged in Mariangello's body have been taken out. The one struck him in the left shoulder and the other in the right leg. Luckily, no bones were broken, and as the bullets do not seem to incommode or pain the young Italian, it is more than likely that they will be allowed to remain where they are, as they can not be located at present by the Xrays, and the physicians do not wish to probe for them.

As has before been noted in these columns, Mariangello is a magnificent specimen of humanity, having a splendid physique and great strength. He will probably pull through. Both of the men prove very good patients, being quiet, docile and good-humored, When seen at the hospital yesterday, Mariangello chatted with a Tribune man and inquired after the health of hipriano. It is a noteworthy fact that neither of the men seem to cherish any particular malice against the man who tried to kill them. Mariangello says Chipriano was always quarrelsome, and that, in fact, he had left Italy because his ugly disposition had made his native village a trifle warm for him.

The attention of the workingmen o the various large companies in this vicinity has been attracted by large cards, put up about the works and in the offices, to the needs of the Lackawanna hospital, which requires funds to continue in its work.

This institution has done a wonderful amount of service to injured workmen, and that its efforts are appreciated has been manifested by the men of the Pancoast Coal company, who, through C. D. Sanderson, were the first to respond to the call. Their contribution was $143-10, and it is to be hoped that the other contributions will be equally generous, and so enable the institution to continue in its praiseworthy and humane work.

DECIDED TO DRAW UP AN ORDINANCE

MEETING OF SPEAKEASY COM-MITTEE LAST EVENING.

Mayor Wants the Cases Taken Out of Court and City Solicitor Vosburg Recommended the Drawing Up of an Ordinance Providing a Penalty for the Keeping of an Unlicensed Saloon - Recommendation Was Adopted and Measure Will Be Introduced Thursday Night.

The conference committee appointed by councils to advise with the mayor regarding the suppression of the "speak-casies" met last evening in the nayor's office in city hall and directed the city solicitor to draw up an ordinance prohibiting the selling of liquor without a license and affixing a penalty thereto for a violation of its provisions.

The mayor stated that his reason for asking councils for assistance in the premises were that the cases might be tried by himself or any alderman of the city, instead of having them all ome up in court, as at present.

City Solicitor Vosburg, who was proent, stated that while the act of assembly governing third class cities gives cities power to restrain, prohibit and suppress the unlicensed sale of liquor, nevertheless that power is unoperative until taken advantage of by ordinance.

He further stated that the objection had been raised that the city had an right to punish by ordinance any offense already punishable by statutes and offered the following supreme cour lecision as against this argument: "An authority granted by law to city to punish by ordinance offense already indicted by statutes is constitutional; the same offenses may be made punishable under the criminal code and municipal legislation." All the members of the committee present, with the exception of Select

Councilman O'Boyle, thought that the passage of such a measure was necessary for the thorough abolition of these places. Mr. O'Boyle contended that the matter should be taken care of by the county officials, without the city putting its foot in it at all, as he expressed City Solicitor Vosburg was, however, directed to draw up an ordinance and to affix as a penalty a fine of from $10 to $50, at the discretion of the magistrate trying the case. This ordinance will be introduced Thursday evening in select council and an effort will be made to put it through as quickly as possible.
