PECKVILLE.

The entire street system of electric lighting is crippled on account of not having any lamps on hand to replace those burned out. For a month past the lights have been dropping off one by one and side streets have been robbed to supply main streets with lamps and now Main street is only about half illuminated. The people living on the darkened streets are up in arms and asking the cause. A $5,000 issue of bonds was made for the extension of the system to unlighted streets and this has not been done yet, and now the present system is crippled for want of lamps. Council should see that a supply should always be available so that the town would not be plunged into darkness every few months. The purchasing agent for the borough is aware that It takes time to get these lamps and not wait until they are absolutely needed before ordering. There is surely a remedy for this oversight and the remedy should be applied.

The severe cold weather is playing havoc with the water pipes about town in many instances the pipes have burst and much damage has resulted. The plumbers are kept busy attending to such cases.

The Wonderful Macheta. From the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "The machete is the most wonderful instrument in the world," said a man from Bluefields. "A native Cuban or Central American can do anything with it, from carving a toothpick to cutting down a tree. It is about the only implement of the common people down there, and the dexterity with which they use it must be hereditary, for they are too lazy to acquire such a high degree of manual skill solely by practice. In other words, 'it comes natural' to them, and I never saw a foreigner, white or black, who could ome anywhere near equaling their performances. I know a native on a plantation near Rama who is especial y clever with the machete, and I have frequently seen him do apparently impossible things with its clumsy blade. Not long ago a boat belonging to the plantation was stove in, and he repaired it very neatly. It was a job that would have worried an ordinary carpenter, with plenty of tools at his disposal, but this fellow used nothing but his machete. I have seen him clean and dress ducks with the same handy implement. He uses it to cut bananas, mow weeds, manicure his nails and fight his neighbors. He lives in the ordinary native hut, made of light tree trunks and bamboo thatea. and he built the whole thing with that same old machete. Of course, it is not much of a house, but it is a wonderful edifice to conjure out of the raw material of the forest with such a piece of steel. The oddest use to which the Central American Indians put the mathete is in cutting their hair. They lie down, spread out their flowing locks on a board, and an obliging friend shops off the surplus growth. I cannot recommend the operation for style, but it answers the purpose."
